INITIAL PROPOSAL

(11) In certain specific areas, Community or international instruments relating to judicial cooperation in civil and commercial matters already provide for cooperation mechanisms. The European Judicial Network in civil and commercial matters does not set out to replace these mechanisms, and it must operate in full respect for them. This decision will consequently be without prejudice to Community or international instruments relating to judicial cooperation in civil or commercial matters.

AMENDED PROPOSAL

Unchanged

(12) The European Judicial Network in civil and commercial matters must be established in stages on the basis of the closest cooperation between the Commission and the Member States. It must be able to take advantage of modern communication and information technologies.

(13) To attain its objectives, the Network needs to be supported by contact points designated by the Member States and to be sure of the participation of their authorities with specific responsibilities for judicial cooperation in civil and commercial matters; contacts between them and periodic meetings are essential to the operation of the Network.

(14) It is essential that efforts to establish an area of freedom, security and justice produce tangible benefits for persons engaging in cross-border litigation. It is accordingly necessary for the European Judicial Network in civil and commercial matters to promote access to justice. To this end, using the information supplied and updated by the contact points, the Network should gradually establish an information system that is accessible to the general public.

(15) This Decision does not preclude the provision of information other than that which is provided for therein within the Network and to the general public; the enumeration in Title III is accordingly not to be regarded as exhaustive.

(15) This Decision does not preclude the provision of information other than that which is provided for therein within the Network and to the general public; the enumeration in Title III is accordingly not to be regarded as exhaustive. The Network, as a means of attaining its objectives, will be able to cooperate on the development of specific projects in its area of interest, such as databases to facilitate access to justice in cross-border litigation.

(16) To ensure that the Network remains an effective instrument, incorporates the best practice in judicial cooperation and internal operation and meets the general public's expectations, provision must be made for periodic evaluations and for proposals for such changes as may be found necessary.
