

HOW CELEX NUMBERS ARE COMPOSED

This document aims at providing a comprehensive overview of the logic that has been used to allocate CELEX numbers since the setting-up of the EUR-Lex database (formerly known as CELEX). Methodological changes that have occurred over time have been listed accordingly.

All CELEX sectors have been thoroughly analysed and the study results can be found in a table which explains the allocation of numbers by sector.

The table indicates the descriptors used for each type of act and contains examples and special cases. In addition to this information, an introductory note in each section of the table indicates the general rules used to allocate CELEX numbers by sector.

Three sectors (7, C and O) are not listed in the table but, for completeness, specific remarks about them have been included in Section I of this document.

I. GENERAL REMARKS ABOUT CELEX NUMBERS

CELEX numbers are generally allocated on the basis of a document number or a date, and completed by descriptors related to the relevant document type.

The table in Section III of this document describes how CELEX numbers are allocated for different types of acts. The table is structured so that, for each CELEX sector, document types and descriptors are analysed and special cases mentioned when relevant.

(a) About corrigenda

Corrigenda are published in both the L and C series of the Official Journal. The CELEX number of a corrigendum is based on the same number as that of the document being corrected followed by the letter R and a sequential number between brackets.

The CELEX number for the first corrigendum of a given act would thus receive the suffix R(01), the second R(02), and so on according to chronological order.

Please note that a given document may not necessarily have been corrected in all official languages of the European Union and, consequently, a corrigendum may not be available in all languages.

II. SPECIFIC REMARKS ABOUT CELEX SECTORS NOT LISTED IN THE TABLE

(a) Sector 7: National implementing measures

The CELEX number is based on the references of the implemented directive. The descriptor L is used for classification.

Example: 72009L0144: national provisions communicated by the Member States concerning: Directive 2009/144/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 November 2009 on certain components and characteristics of wheeled agricultural or forestry tractors

(b) Sector C: documents published in the C series of the Official Journal

All the communications of the Court of Justice published as of 1 January 2008 have been analysed. Communications of the Court of Justice published before 1 January 2008 have been analysed in so far as they refer to pending cases.

The CELEX number of non-analysed communications is based on a C + year + OJ number + page number structure. The descriptor C is used for classification.

Example: C2009/323/11: Prior notification of a concentration (Case COMP/M.5718 — Bregal Capital/Englefield Capital) — Candidate case for simplified procedure

(c) Sector 0: Consolidated versions

Consolidated texts are non-official documents usually integrating acts of Sector 3 with their amendments and corrections.

Their CELEX numbers are composed of 0 (indicating the current sector) + the CELEX number of the consolidated act (without the number 3 which indicates its initial sector) + the date of entry into force of the last amending act. So each consolidated version has a different CELEX number.

Example: 01999L0094-20031120: Directive 1999/94/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 13 December 1999 relating to the availability of consumer information on fuel economy and CO₂ emissions in respect of the marketing of new passenger cars.

III. CELEX NUMBERS BY SECTOR

Sector 1: Treaties

The treaties are available in EUR-Lex and are divided into separate articles. Each article has its own CELEX number, as do protocols, annexes and conventions. These separate documentary items have a three-digit number. Annexes, declarations, protocols, etc. are given ad hoc references that are, in fact, abbreviations divided by slashes.

- Annexes: N01 (12002EN01)
- Protocols: PRO (12002E/PRO/06)
- Complete text: TXT (12002E/TXT)
- Preamble: 000 (12002E000)
- Declarations: DCL (12001/DCL/08)
- Final acts: AFI (12005S/AFI)
- Table of contents: 11957E

The year represents the date of signature of the treaty and, for consolidated texts, the year of publication.
