

2. If deduction is possible: does it also apply to the costs of alternative transportation to a destination other than the final destination of the flight if the passenger turns down alternative transport offered by the air carrier to the final destination of the flight?
3. In so far as deduction is possible: may the air carrier make the deduction in all cases or is it dependent on the extent to which it is permitted by national law or the court considers it equitable?
4. In so far as national law is applicable or the court is required to take a discretionary decision: is the compensation under Article 7 of the regulation intended to redress only the inconvenience and the loss of time suffered by passengers as a result of the cancellation, or is it also intended to address material damage?

Question referred

Is Article 7(4) of Directive 2002/65/EC ⁽¹⁾ to be interpreted as precluding legislation of a Member State which provides that, after withdrawal from a distance consumer loan contract has been declared, the supplier must also pay to the consumer, beyond the sum he has received from the consumer in accordance with the distance contract, compensation for the benefit of use in respect of this sum?
