Council conclusions on the contribution of culture to the implementation of the Europe 2020 strategy
(2011/C 175/01)

THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

HAVING REGARD TO:

— the adoption by the European Council on 17 June 2010 of 'Europe 2020', a strategy for jobs and smart, sustainable and inclusive growth (1);

— the political background as set out in Annex to these conclusions;

RECALLING:

— Council recommendation of 13 July 2010 on broad guidelines for the economic policies of the Member States and of the Union (2), which in its Guideline 4 stresses the high economic potential of the cultural and creative industries (CCIs) and their role in promoting innovation;

— Council conclusions on Cross fertilisation between Europe 2020 flagship initiatives Digital Agenda for Europe and Innovation Union (3), highlighting the importance of cultural and creative content online and stressing the need to reinforce ‘the digitisation and dissemination of European cultural heritage, including through the digital library project “Europeana”’;

— Council conclusions on Europe 2020 flagship initiative Innovation Union: Accelerating the transformation of Europe through a fast changing role (4), which recognise that the cultural and creative sectors represent an important source of technological and non-technological innovation, and that this potential must be fully unlocked;

— the Commission Staff Working Document ‘Analysis of the consultation launched by the Green Paper on “Unlocking the potential of cultural and creative industries”’ (5) underlining that an overwhelming majority of respondents called for an important role for CCIs in the implementation of the Europe 2020 strategy and its flagship initiatives;

WELCOMING:

— the integrated guidelines for implementing the Europe 2020 strategy and its flagship initiatives;

WHEREAS:

— culture can make a significant and multidimensional contribution to the measures proposed by the Europe 2020 integrated guidelines and flagship initiatives aiming at turning the EU into a smart, sustainable and inclusive economy;

— in order to deliver this contribution, six priority areas for reinforced cooperation have been identified in the Council Work Plan for Culture 2011-2014 (6);

— cooperation between all relevant sectors and a targeted approach at all policy levels is urgent and key to harnessing this contribution;

— it is important that the governance structures of the Europe 2020 strategy are able to take into account input from the culture and creative sector;

STRESSING:

1. Culture’s contribution to smart growth

The CCIs are a major source of employment potential. In the last decade overall employment in the CCIs increased three times comparing to the employment growth in the EU economy as a whole (1). They are also a driver for creativity and non-technological innovation throughout the economy, producing high-quality and competitive services and goods. Finally, through relevant links with education, culture can effectively contribute to the training of a skilled and adaptable workforce, thus complementing economic performance.

2. Culture’s contribution to sustainable growth

Culture can contribute to sustainable growth through fostering greener mobility and the use of cutting edge sustainable technologies, including digitisation which assures the online availability of cultural content. Artists and the cultural sector as a whole can play a crucial role in changing people’s attitudes to the environment.

3. Culture’s contribution to inclusive growth

Culture can contribute to inclusive growth through promoting intercultural dialogue in full respect for cultural diversity. Cultural activities and programmes can strengthen social cohesion and community development as well as enable individuals or a community to fully engage in the social, cultural and economic life;

INVITES MEMBER STATES TO:

— encourage, in order to promote sustainable development, sustainable and green technologies in the processes of production and distribution of cultural goods and services and to support artists and the cultural sector in raising awareness of sustainable development issues through inter alia non-formal and informal educational activities;

— explore the role of tangible and intangible cultural heritage in community development and in promoting active citizenship and take it into consideration when drawing up relevant local and regional development strategies;

— respond to the training needs and capacity-building priorities of the specialised institutions and professionals that carry out effective socio-cultural work;

— consider the capacity development needs in public cultural organisations in order to enable them to deliver suitable services, with special regard to their socio-cultural functions;

INVITES THE COMMISSION TO:

— consider, without prejudice to the upcoming negotiations on the new multiannual financial framework, how its proposals for future EU policy and financial instruments can fully take into account the contribution of culture to the targets of the Europe 2020 strategy;

— pursue the cooperation between all relevant Commission services in order to emphasise the role of culture in the implementation of the Europe 2020 strategy and ensure that it is reflected in relevant policies, guidelines and governance arrangements;

INVITES THE MEMBER STATES AND THE COMMISSION, WITHIN THEIR RESPECTIVE COMPETENCES, TO:

— deploy the statistical framework being developed by ESSnet culture with a view to producing reliable, comparable and up-to-date information on the social and economic impact of culture and work on future priorities on the basis of recommendations issued by ESSnet-culture;

— build upon the results contained in the Commission Staff Working Document referred to above and seize the opportunity of the European Creative Industries Alliance in order to strengthen the CCIs, in particular SMEs and micro-enterprises, and explore new ways to further increase their own innovation capacity as well as their capacity to boost innovation in other sectors;

— promote the digitisation of and access to cultural heritage and contemporary cultural content, including audiovisual works, in particular through Europeana, thus also promoting and preserving cultural diversity and multilingualism in full respect of the copyright and related rights;

— promote sustainable cultural tourism as a driver for cohesion and economic development;

— explore how to strengthen strong cultural component in lifelong learning in order to contribute to the development of key competences (1), with a view to feeding into policymaking in this field.

In adopting these conclusions, the Council recalls in particular the following background:

— Resolution of the Council of 16 November 2007 on a European agenda for culture (1);
— Report of the ‘Comité des Sages: ’The New Renaissance’ (2);
— Council conclusions on Culture as a catalyst for creativity and innovation (12 May 2009) (3);
— Council conclusions of 27 November 2009 on promoting a creative generation: developing the creativity and innovative capacity of children and young people through cultural expression and access to culture (4);
— Council conclusions of 10 May 2010 on the contribution of culture to local and regional development (5);
— Council conclusions of 18 November 2010 on the role of culture in combating poverty and social exclusion (6);
— Presidency’s conclusions at the closing of the Informal Meeting of Ministers of Culture, (Barcelona, 31 March 2010) (7);
— Statement issued by the Presidency on the occasion of the Informal Meeting of the Ministers of Culture (Brussels, 7 October 2010) (8);
— Presidency statement from the informal meeting of Ministers responsible for culture (Gödöllő, Hungary, 28 March 2011).
