6. Interpretation of the Rules of Procedure

The President informed the House, under Rule 211(3), of the following interpretation of Rule 117(3), provided by the Committee on Constitutional Affairs, which had been consulted on the application of that provision:

> ‘Since the Chair of a committee is empowered by Rule 193(1) to convene a meeting of that committee, it is up to him, in the interest of the proper organisation of proceedings, to determine the draft agenda of the meeting he has convened. This prerogative is without prejudice to his obligation under Rule 117(3) to place a question, at the request of its author, on the agenda for the next meeting of the committee. However, the Chair has the discretionary power to propose, in the light of political priorities, the agenda and procedural arrangements for the meeting (e.g. a procedure without debate, possibly with the adoption of a decision on action to be taken, or, where appropriate, a recommendation to carry over the item to a subsequent meeting).’

If this interpretation was not contested by a political group or at least 40 Members (Rule 211(4)) before the opening of the following day’s sitting, Thursday 10 May 2012, it would be deemed adopted. If it was contested, it would be put to the vote in Parliament.

7. Corrigendum (Rule 216)

The committee responsible had forwarded the following corrigendum to a text adopted by Parliament:

Pursuant to Rule 216(4) of the Rules of Procedure, this corrigendum would be deemed approved unless, not later than 48 hours after its announcement, a request was made by a political group or at least 40 Members that it be put to the vote.
