COMMISSION DELEGATED REGULATION (EU) 2018/212
of 13 December 2017

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN COMMISSION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union,

Whereas:

(1) The Union must ensure an effective protection of the integrity and proper functioning of its financial system and the internal market from money laundering and terrorist financing. Hence Directive (EU) 2015/849 provides that the Commission should identify high-risk third countries which present strategic deficiencies in their regimes on anti-money-laundering and countering terrorist financing that pose significant threats to the financial system of the Union.

(2) The Commission should review the list of high-risk third countries listed in Delegated Regulation (EU) 2016/1675 (2) at appropriate times in light of the progress made by those high-risk third countries in removing the strategic deficiencies in their regime on anti-money-laundering and countering terrorist financing (AML/CFT). The Commission should take account in its assessments of new information from international organisations and standard-setters, such as those issued by the Financial Action Task Force (FATF). In light of this information, the Commission should also identify additional high-risk third countries presenting strategic deficiencies in their AML/CFT regime.

(3) In line with the criteria set out in Directive (EU) 2015/849, the Commission took into account the recent available information, in particular recent FATF Public Statements and the FATF document ‘Improving Global AML/CFT Compliance: ongoing process’, and FATF reports of the International Cooperation Review Group in relation to the risks posed by individual third countries in line with Article 9(4) of Directive (EU) 2015/849.

(4) The FATF identified Sri Lanka, Trinidad and Tobago, and Tunisia as having strategic AML/CFT deficiencies that pose a risk to the international financial system, for which they have developed an action plan with the FATF.

(5) Considering the high level of integration of the international financial system, the close connection of market operators, the high volume of cross-border transactions to or from the Union, as well as the degree of market opening, the Commission hence considers that any AML/CFT threat posed to the international financial system also represents a threat for the Union financial system.

(6) In accordance with the latest relevant information, the Commission’s analysis has concluded that Sri Lanka, Trinidad and Tobago, and Tunisia should be considered third-country jurisdictions which have strategic deficiencies in their AML/CFT regime that pose significant threats to the financial system of the Union in accordance with the criteria set out in Article 9 of Directive (EU) 2015/849. However, these countries have provided a written high-level political commitment to address the identified deficiencies and have developed an action plan with FATF, which would allow the requirements laid down in Directive (EU) 2015/849 to be met. The Commission will reassess these countries’ status in the light of the implementation of the above commitment.

(7) Delegated Regulation (EU) 2016/1675 should therefore be amended accordingly,

(1) OJ L 141, 5.6.2015, p. 73.
