			Defaults and default dates shall be used as recorded under the implementation of the DoD applicable at the time of the event, i.e., an institution shall consider a default to have occurred with respect to the DoD that was applied by the institution at the time the event was recorded. Changes in the DoD shall be considered only prospectively from their date of implementation, while the retrospective application of changes of the DoD after the default event under consideration (backward simulation) shall not be used.
0200	Default rate past 5 years		The weighted average of the default rates observed in the last five years preceding the reference date shall be reported. The default rate definition referred to in column 0190 shall apply. The weights to be used are the non-defaulted exposures used in the calculation of the default rate in accordance with column 0190. Where the institution is not required to calculate a default rate for the past five years preceding the reference date under Article 180(1), point (h), or Article 180(2), point (e), of Regulation (EU) No 575/2013, the institution shall develop a proxy using its longest history up to five years preceding the reference date and provide the documentation detailing the calculation to its competent authority. This information shall be reported for portfolio IDs relating to "non-defaulted" exposures only it shall be expressed as a value between 0 and 1. Defaults and default dates shall be used as recorded under the implementation of the DoD applicable at the time of the event, i.e., an institution shall consider a default to have occurred with respect to the DoD that was applied by the institution at the time the event was recorded. 0210	Loss rate latest year		The loss rate observed in the most recent year shall be reported for portfolio IDs relating to 'non-defaulted' and 'defaulted' exposures only. For non-defaulted portfolios, the loss rate shall be the sum of credit risk adjustments and write-offs applied, within the year preceding the reference date, to exposures that were non-defaulted exactly one year before the reference date and which defaulted during the year preceding the reference date, divided by the sum of the EAD, measured exactly one year before the reference date, of the exposures that were non-defaulted exactly one year before the reference date and which defaulted during the year preceding the reference date. The numerator of the loss rate shall incorporate all the credit risk adjustments and write-offs related to the exposures that defaulted within the year preceding the reference, including the credit risk adjustments applied before the default date.

			New exposures generated during the year preceding the reference date shall not be included. Exposures that defaulted and were cured again during the year preceding the reference date shall be included in the denominator of the loss rate and credit risk adjustments and write-offs on those exposures shall be considered in the numerator of the loss rate. Multiple defaults of the very same obligor shall be considered only once. For defaulted portfolios, the loss rate shall consider exposures that were in default exactly one year before the reference date. It shall be the sum of: (a) credit risk adjustments to these exposures one year before the reference date, and (b) credit risk adjustments and write-offs applied within the year preceding the reference date, divided by the sum of the EAD, measured exactly one year before the reference date of the exposures under consideration. New defaults during the year preceding the reference date shall not be included. Exposures that cured again during the year preceding the reference date shall be included in the denominator of the loss rate and credit risk adjustments and write-offs on those exposures shall be included in the numerator of the loss rate. 0220	Loss rate past 5 years		The EAD-weighted average of the loss rates observed in the last five years preceding the reference date shall be reported for portfolio IDs relating to 'non-defaulted' and 'defaulted' exposures only. The definition of loss rate in column 0210 shall apply. The loss rate past five years shall be based on the annual loss rates of the past five years, where these annual loss rates are defined in analogy to the definition of the loss rate of column 0210; in particular, the annual loss rates shall not include additional changes in credit risk adjustments and write offs that have occurred after the observation horizon (calendar year) of each annual loss rate. Where the institution is not required to use data for the past five years preceding the reference date under Article 181(2), last subparagraph, of Regulation (EU) No 575/2013, the institution shall develop a proxy using its longest history up to five years preceding the reference date and provide the documentation detailing the calculation to its competent authority. The obligor grades as reported in column 0005 of template C 08.02 of Annex I to Implementing Regulation (EU) 2021/451 shall be used (see Annex II to that Regulation, C 08.01 column 0010 and C 08.02, for instructions). For each obligor grade, p^- shall be the smallest positive value satisfying the equation $$p^- + \Phi^{-1}(q) \bullet \sqrt{\frac{p^- \bullet (1-p^-)}{n}} \geq DR_{1y} \text{ where } DR_{1y} > 0,$$ and $p^- = 0$ where $DR_{1y} = 0$.

(g) The explanatory note referred to in point (d) shall be updated with each resubmission of any value, reflecting the changes between submissions. The explanatory note shall contain one section which lists all submission dates and the reasons for resubmissions.

(h) The risks of the positions shall be calculated without taking into account the funding costs. Where applicable, institutions shall use the overnight rate of the instrument currency as the discount rate. Where that is not possible, reasons shall be provided in the explanatory note referred to in point (d).

(i) Counterparty credit risk and credit valuation adjustment ('CVA') risk shall not be taken into account in the valuation of the risks of the portfolios. Where that is not possible, reasons shall be provided in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section. Institutions shall report cases where other typologies of Valuation Adjustments are included in the IMV and explain for each financial instrument the methodology and the impact in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(j) The 10-day 99% VaR shall be calculated on a daily basis. sVaR and the IRC may be calculated on a weekly basis. The sVaR and IRC shall be based on end-of-day prices for each Friday in the time window of the benchmarking exercise.

(k) For transactions that include long positions in CDS, institutions shall assume an immediate up-front fee is paid to enter the position as per the market standards and conventions. The maturity date for all CDS shall correspond to conventional quarterly termination dates.

(l) Additional specifications needed in order to carry out pricing calculations required for CDS positions shall be consistent with commonly used market standards and conventions and shall be explained in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(m) The maturity date shall ensure that the transaction is closest to the term-to-maturity specified in accordance with market standards and conventions.

(n) With respect to the details of instruments not referred to in Section 2 of this Annex, institutions shall provide the assumptions that have been used, including the day count convention and the choice for a tradable and liquid instrument, where permitted, along with the results in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(o) Institutions that believe that assumptions in addition to those specified in this Section are relevant to the interpretation of the results of its exercise, including close of business timing, coupon rolls, mapping against indices and others, shall submit a description of those assumptions in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(p) The explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section shall include explanations for risks not captured by the model for the instruments referred to in Section 2 of this Annex.

(q) All options shall be treated as if they are traded OTC, unless explicitly specified otherwise.

(r) The standard timing conventions for OTC options shall be followed. The time to maturity for an 'n-month' option shall be in n months. Where options expire on a non-trading day, institutions shall adjust the expiration date per business date, in accordance with market standards and conventions.

(s) All OTC options shall be treated as follows:

  (i) as American for single name equities and commodities;

  (ii) as European for equity indices, foreign exchange and swaptions.

(t) All OTC options shall be considered 'naked' so that the premium shall be excluded from the initial market valuation.

(u) Regarding the CTPs, institutions that have permission to use the APR model for CTPs shall provide details about their most relevant assumptions, market standards and conventions regarding the CTP instruments referred to in Section 2 of this Annex, including the hedge ratios they have calculated to make the CTP instruments CS01 neutral at the booking date.

(v) The IMV for each instrument shall be provided in the base currency specified in Section 2 of this Annex for that instrument.

(w) For positions denominated in a common base currency but composed of one or more instruments denominated in a different currency, the result shall be converted into the reported base currency of the portfolio, using the appropriate foreign exchange spot rate as per standard market practice. The converted result shall be explained in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(x) When booking positions, institutions shall follow appropriate market conventions, unless otherwise specified in these instructions in the Instruments descriptions (Section 2 of this Annex).

(y) Where an instrument, or the underlying instrument for a derivative, is subject to a corporate action that affects the benchmarking exercise, such as a call from the issuer, a default or similar actions, institutions shall exclude such instrument from the exercise together with any related CDS or option.

(z) With regard to an index series, 'on-the-run' shall refer to the most liquid and tradable series of that index available in the market. Institutions shall explain their choice of 'on-the-run' series along with the related results in the accompanying explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section.

(aa) Where not specified otherwise, institutions shall apply the EU Benchmarks Regulation for the interest rate in order to book the instruments specified in Section 2 of this Annex. Institutions shall specify the rate applied, apart from the ones specified in Section 2 of this Annex, in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of these instructions.

(bb) Risk measures for the portfolios referred to in Section 3 and Section 4 of this Annex, together with the Present Value, shall be computed from the 'RM initial reference date' to the 'RM final reference date'. 'SBM' shall be computed for the 'RM final reference date'. Institutions shall submit the results of those calculations to their competent authority by RM remittance date.

(cc) IMV and SBM shall be reported for each instrument. Risk measures, SBM and Present Value, where applicable, shall be reported for each portfolio, both individual and aggregated. All results shall be reported with respect to the base currency.

(dd) Only institutions which have been granted permission to model specific risk shall report credit spread portfolios. For interest rate portfolios which include risk as part of certain instruments, individual and aggregated portfolios shall be modelled by institutions which have been granted the permission to model the general interest risk as well as institutions which have been granted the permission to model the general and the specific interest risk.

(ee) The results for both individual and the aggregated portfolios shall be submitted only where the results of the instruments that are part of them are also being submitted.

(ff) In Section 2 of this Annex (Instruments) 'Year T' shall mean '2023' and Year T + X shall mean 2023 + X, with X as specified in Section 2.

(gg) In Section 2 of this Annex (Instruments), institutions shall determine the day of expiry/maturity in accordance with the following instructions:

(i) Where the date is specified, that specific date shall be used;

(ii) Where no date is specified, market convention, where available, shall be used. If for example there is a market convention that the day of expiry/maturity is the 3rd Friday of the month, then 'June Year T' shall mean the 3rd Friday of the month of the year T;

(iii) At the end of the month, where it is specified 'End of', it shall mean the last calendar day in the month;

(iv) For a fix period of time following the 'booking date', if the period is defined as a number of days, it is the last day of the period. If the period is defined in weeks, months or years, it is the same day of the following week, month or year with respect to the booking date, or, if the last month or year of the period is shorter, the last day of that month or year; if the 'booking date + x period' is a holiday day, then select the following working day;

(v) In case it is not specified otherwise the following assumptions shall be used: Day count convention: Act/360, Holiday calendar: Target2.

(hh) In Section 2 of this Annex (Instruments), for all CDS, unless explicitly specified otherwise, the following requirements shall apply:

(ii) The IMV of bond instruments shall include accrued interest.

(jj) Institutions shall provide the information related to the time of valuation of the PV mentioning the time in the explanatory note referred to in point (d) of this Section. Where possible, valuation of the PV shall be computed at close of business day.
