Proposal for a

COUNCIL DECISION

concerning the conclusion of the Agreement for scientific and technological cooperation between the European Community and the Republic of Chile

(presented by the Commission)

EXPLANATORY MEMORANDUM

1. The Framework Cooperation Agreement between the European Community and its Member States, on the one part, and the Republic of Chile, of the other part (entered into force on 1st February 1999), identified cooperation on science and technology as an area of particular interest and potential.

In its communication of 19 July 1996 entitled “Promoting RTD cooperation with the world's emerging economies” (COM(96) 344 final) the Commission recommended, inter alia, that the Union should envisage concluding scientific and technological cooperation agreements with selected emerging economies.

In its resolution of 14 March 1997 on the Commission communication entitled “Promoting RTD cooperation with the world's emerging economies” the European Parliament “calls on the Commission to negotiate, with due regard for the circumstances in each country, bilateral agreements establishing a legal framework for the promotion of RTD cooperation”.

2. On 20 March 2000, the Ambassador of Chile to the EU presented Commissioner Busquin with Chile's official request to enter into negotiations with the Community with a view to concluding a specific agreement for scientific and technological cooperation. The various exploratory contacts confirmed that increased cooperation with Chile in science and technology would be in the mutual interest of both parties.
3. On 20 April 2001 the Commission submitted to the Council a proposal for a Council Decision authorising the Commission to negotiate an agreement for scientific and technological cooperation between the European Community and the Republic of Chile. On 10 July 2001, the Council authorised the Commission to negotiate this agreement. The negotiations resulted in the draft Agreement and its annex on intellectual property rights, initialled on 11 December 2001 in Santiago, Chile.

On 19 March 2002, the Commission submitted to the Council a proposal for a Council Decision authorising the signing of the abovementioned Agreement. The Council adopted this decision on 13 May 2002 and the Agreement was signed on 23 September 2002 in Brussels.

4. This Agreement, to be concluded for an initial period of five years, tacitly renewable, was negotiated against the background of renewed and intensified cooperation between Chile and the European Union, considering the importance of science and technology for economic and social development and the mutual wish to extend and strengthen the conduct of cooperative activities in areas of common interest.

The Agreement is based on the principles of mutual benefit, reciprocal opportunities for access to each other's programmes and activities relevant to the purpose of the draft Agreement, non-discrimination, the effective protection of intellectual property and equitable sharing of intellectual property rights.

Cooperation shall be conducted subject to the applicable laws and regulations in force on each side.

Cooperation under this Agreement may cover all the activities of research, technological development and demonstration included in the first activity of the framework programme under Article 164 of the Treaty establishing the European Community and all similar RTD activities in Chile in the corresponding scientific and technological fields. This Agreement does not affect the participation of Chile, as a developing country, in Community activities in the field of research for development.

5. The Agreement provides for:

- participation of Chilean research and technological development entities in RTD projects of the framework programme and reciprocal participation of research and technological development entities established in the Community in Chilean projects in similar sectors of RTD. Projects may also include a Party's scientific and technological organisations and may also be undertaken in cooperation with the agencies and official bodies of the Parties. Such participation is subject to the rules and procedures applicable in each Party;
- pooling of RTD projects already implemented according to the procedures applicable in the RTD programmes of each Party;
- joint RTD projects, especially those relating to scientific and technological foresight;
- visits and exchanges of scientists and technical experts, as well as public, university and private specialists in the field of design and application of scientific and technological policies;
- joint organisation of seminars, conferences, symposia and workshops, as well as participation of experts in those activities;
- scientific networks and the training of researchers;
- concerted action for the dissemination of results/exchanges of experience on joint RTD projects that have been funded or for their coordination;
- exchanges and sharing of equipment and materials including shared use of advanced research facilities;
- exchanges of information on practices, laws, regulations and programmes relevant to cooperation under this Agreement;
- any other type of activity that would be recommended by the Steering Committee and deemed in conformity with the policies and procedures applicable in both Parties;
- cooperation activities to be subject to the availability of funds and to the applicable laws and regulations, policies and programmes of Chile and the Community; no transfer of funds will take place.

6. As regards dissemination and use of information, and the management, allocation and exercise of intellectual property rights resulting from joint research under the Agreement, they shall be subject to the provisions of the annex to this Agreement entitled “Intellectual Property Rights” which forms an integral part of this Agreement.

The principle of non-discrimination agreed under Point II.3 of the above-mentioned annex should protect Community participants in Chilean programmes and activities against any discriminatory treatment, also in respect of the dissemination and use of results, including intellectual property rights. The Steering Committee shall, inter alia, review the efficient and effective functioning of the Agreement, including the non-discriminatory treatment of participants.

7. In the light of the above-mentioned considerations, the Commission proposes that the Council:
- approve on behalf of the Community, and after consultation of the European Parliament, the Agreement for scientific and technological cooperation between the European Community and the Republic of Chile;
 - notify the Chilean authorities that the procedures necessary for the entry into force of the Agreement have been completed on the part of the European Community.

Rights to intellectual property created or furnished under the Agreement shall be allocated as provided in this Annex.

I. APPLICATION

This Annex is applicable to joint research undertaken pursuant to the Agreement, except as otherwise agreed by the Parties.

II. OWNERSHIP, ALLOCATION AND EXERCISE OF RIGHTS

1. For the purpose of this Annex, "intellectual property" is defined in Article 2(c) of the Agreement.
2. This Annex addresses the allocation of rights and interests of the Parties and their participants. Each Party and its participants shall ensure that the other Party and its participants may obtain the rights to intellectual property allocated to it in accordance with this Annex. This Annex does not otherwise alter or prejudice the allocation of rights, interests and intellectual property between a Party and its nationals or participants, and the rules of diffusion and use of information, which will be determined by the laws and practices of each Party.
3. The Parties will also be guided by, and contractual arrangements should provide for, the following principles:

The Parties and their participants shall ensure that they notify one another within a reasonable time of the creation of any intellectual property arising under the Agreement or implementation arrangements and to seek protection for such intellectual property in a timely fashion;
 - b) effective exploitation of results, taking into account the contributions of the Parties and their participants;
 - c) non-discriminatory treatment of participants from the other Party as compared with the treatment given to its own participants;
 - d) protection of confidential business information.
4. The participants shall jointly develop a Technology Management Plan (TMP) concerning the ownership and use, including publication, of information and intellectual property to be created in the course of joint research. The TMP will be approved by the responsible funding agency of the Party involved in financing the research, before the conclusion of the corresponding specific research and development cooperation contracts. The TMP shall be developed within the rules and regulations in force in each Party taking into account the aims of the joint research, the relative financial or other contributions of the Parties and participants, the advantages and disadvantages of licensing by territory or for fields of use, transfers of data, goods or services submitted to export controls, requirements imposed by applicable laws, and other factors deemed appropriate by the participants. The rights and obligations concerning the research and information generated by invited researchers (i.e. researchers not coming from a Party or a participant) in respect of IP shall also be addressed in the joint technology management plans.

The TMP is a specific agreement to be concluded between participants in joint research defining their respective rights and obligations.

With respect to IP, the TMP will normally address, among other things, ownership, protection, user rights for research and development purposes, exploitation and dissemination, including arrangements for joint publication, the rights and obligations of visiting researchers and dispute settlement procedures. The TMP shall also address foreground and background information, licensing and deliverables.

5. Information or intellectual property created in the course of joint research and not regulated in the TMP will be allocated, with the agreement of the Parties, according to the principles set out in the TMP. In case of disagreement, such information or IP shall be owned jointly by all the participants involved in the joint research from which the information or IP results. 6. Each Party will ensure that the other Party and its participants may have the rights to IP allocated to them in accordance with the present principles.
7. While maintaining the conditions of competition in areas affected by the Agreement, each Party shall endeavour to ensure that rights acquired pursuant to the Agreement, are exercised in such a way as to encourage, in particular:

III. COPYRIGHT WORKS AND SCIENTIFIC LITERARY WORKS

Copyright belonging to the Parties or to their participants shall be accorded treatment consistent with the Berne Convention (Paris Act 1971) and the TRIPS Agreement. The IP rights will protect the expression but not the ideas, procedures, methods or mathematical concepts as such. Only limitations or exceptions may be introduced to exclusive rights in specific special cases that do not obstruct the normal exploitation of results nor unduly endanger the legitimate interests of the right holder.

Without prejudice to Section IV and V, and unless otherwise agreed in the TMP, publication of results of research shall be made jointly by the Parties or participants. Subject to the foregoing general rule, the following procedures shall apply:

1. In the case of publication by a Party or public bodies of that Party of journals, articles, reports, books, including video and software arising from joint research pursuant to the Agreement, the other Party will be entitled to a worldwide, non-exclusive, irrevocable, royalty-free license to translate, reproduce, adapt, transmit and publicly distribute such works.
2. The Parties shall ensure that literary works of a scientific character arising from joint research pursuant to the Agreement and published by independent publishers are disseminated as widely as possible.
3. All copies of a copyright work to be publicly distributed and prepared under this provision shall indicate the names of the author(s) of the work unless an author explicitly declines to be named. Copies shall also bear a clearly visible acknowledgement of the cooperative support of the Parties.

1. Each Party, its agencies or its participants, as appropriate, shall identify at the earliest possible moment and preferably in the TMP the information that they wish to remain undisclosed in relation to the Agreement, taking into account inter alia the following criteria:
 - a) secrecy of the information in the sense that it is not, as a body or in the precise configuration or assembly of its components, generally known among or readily accessible by lawful means to experts in the fields;
 - b) the actual or potential commercial value of the information by virtue of its secrecy;
 - c) previous protection of the information in the sense that it has been subject to steps that were reasonable under the circumstances by the person lawfully in control, to maintain its secrecy.

The Parties and their participants may in certain cases agree that, unless otherwise indicated, parts or all of the information provided, exchanged or created in the course of joint research pursuant to the Agreement may not be disclosed.

2. Each Party shall ensure that it and its participants clearly identify undisclosed information, for example by means of an appropriate marking or restrictive legend. This also applies to any reproduction of the said information, in whole or in part.

A Party receiving undisclosed information pursuant to the Agreement will respect the privileged nature thereof. These limitations shall automatically terminate when this information is disclosed by the owner into the public domain.

3. Undisclosed information communicated under this Agreement may be disseminated by the receiving Party to persons within or employed by the receiving Party and other governmental departments or concerned agencies of the receiving Party authorised for the specific purposes of the joint research under way, provided that any undisclosed information so disseminated shall be pursuant to a written agreement of confidentiality and shall be readily recognisable as such, as set out above.
4. With the prior written consent of the Party providing undisclosed information, the receiving Party may disseminate such undisclosed information more widely than otherwise permitted in paragraph 3 above. The Parties shall cooperate in developing procedures for requesting and obtaining prior written consent for such wider dissemination, and each Party will grant such approval to the extent permitted by its domestic policies, regulations and laws.

B. Non-documentary undisclosed information

Non-documentary undisclosed or other confidential or privileged information provided in seminars and other meetings arranged under this Agreement, or information arising from the attachment of staff, use of facilities, or joint projects, shall be treated by the Parties or their participants according to the principles specified for documentary information in the Agreement, provided, however, that the recipient of such undisclosed or other confidential or privileged information has been made aware in advance and in written form of the confidential character of the information at the moment of its communication.

C. Protection

Each Party shall endeavour to ensure that undisclosed information received by it under this Agreement shall be controlled as provided herein. If one of the Parties becomes aware that it will be, or may be reasonably expected to become, unable to meet the non-dissemination provisions of sections A and B, it shall immediately inform the other Party. The Parties will thereafter consult to define the most appropriate course of action.
