5. Announcements by the President

The President announced a possible strike by drivers from the external service provider and stated that the requisite measures had been taken to ensure the availability of transport to the airport and railway stations.

The President announced that on 12 December 2016 the Bureau had studied the appeal submitted by Jasenko Selimovic against the decision taken by the President on 22 November 2016 to impose on him a penalty for his behaviour, which constituted psychological harassment of his accredited parliamentary assistants (minutes of 22.11.2016, item 13), and that the decision had been upheld unanimously.

The President announced that, following the recommendation of the Consultative Committee on the conduct of Members, the President of Parliament had decided to impose a penalty on Udo Voigt, in accordance with Rule 166, for his failure to comply with the reporting measures set out in the Code of Conduct and its Implementing Measures. The penalty would consist of a reprimand. The Member concerned had been informed of the decision that day.

Thursday 15 December 2016

The following spoke: Udo Bullmann, on behalf of the S&D Group, to speak against what Jeroen Dijsselbloem, President of the Eurogroup, said about Greece, and to request an extraordinary Conference of Presidents with Jeroen Dijsselbloem present. He asked that Commission President Jean-Claude Juncker state the Commission's opinion and that the President of Parliament be informed of this. (The President took note).

The following spoke: Gabriele Zimmer, on behalf of the GUE/NGL Group, in support of the request and to ask for the Conference of Presidents to be held the following week.

The following spoke: Anna Maria Corazza Bildt, on the situation in Syria and to invite Members to stand in support of the Syrian people, which they then did.

The following spoke: Bruno Gollnisch, on the application of Rule 166 and Rule 141(4) (in response, the President stated that his comments would be forwarded to the President of Parliament).

Requests for roll-call votes

Verts/ALE: Amendment 15

Requests for separate votes

ALDE: § 19

Verts/ALE: § 33, Recital AE

Requests for split votes

ALDE:

§ 7

First part: Text as a whole excluding the word: 'immediate'

Second part: this word

PPE:

§ 10

First part: 'Considers that in its role as guardian of the treaties, particularly when it comes to environmental matters, the Commission should go beyond a mere formal examination of procedural compliance and focus more on the actual content of the core issue;'

Second part: 'recalls the precautionary principle and the ultimate spirit of the EU environmental legislation of preventing irreversible damage to ecologically sensitive areas;'

Third part: 'and urges the Commission to adopt an approach that allows it to make use of its powers and prerogatives on an ex-ante basis;'

§ 18

First part: Text as a whole excluding the words: 'urges for a broader interpretation of the scope of application of the Charter, and for the pertinence of this article to be ultimately reassessed in future revisions of the Charter and the treaties;'

Second part: those words

Recital G

First part: 'whereas the European Parliament is the only EU institution directly elected by citizens, and whereas the right to petition offers them the means to draw the attention of their elected representatives to matters that concern them;'

Second part: 'whereas unfortunately the committee on Petitions does not have sufficient inquiry capacity in its own right at present;'

Thursday 15 December 2016

Recital AC

First part: 'whereas the portal was designed to make the petition procedure more transparent and interactive, and makes for more effective administration in the interest of petitioners, Members and the general public; whereas the second phase of the project, intended mainly to enhance the administrative handling of petitions,'

Second part: 'but also enabling real-time follow-up of petitions by the original petitioners and the latter's supporters, made no substantial progress in 2015, whereas according to the initial schedule it should already have been completed by then;'

Recital AD

First part: 'whereas successive delays in the subsequent phases of the project have generated an additional workload in the secretariat of the Committee on Petitions, due to the need to manually upload the relevant files into the various databases; whereas there are still petitions pending for upload, since only open petitions received in 2013, 2014 and 2015 have been included in the portal so far,'

Second part: 'and work is currently under way on uploading petitions received in 2016;'

Recital AE

First part: 'whereas certain deficiencies have been remedied, particularly in the search function and regarding petitioner confidentiality,'

Second part: 'and whereas work has been under way as scheduled from the second half of 2016 to make the service more useful and visible to citizens;'

Recital AK

First part: 'whereas in 2016, once the workload stabilised, three fact-finding visits were carried out with regard to petitions for which an inquiry was ongoing in 2016;'

Second part: 'whereas the visits are a specific prerogative of the Committee and a fundamental part of its work, which entails interacting with petitioners and the authorities of the Member States concerned; whereas members of the Committee delegations take part in all activities, including the drafting of the final report, on an equal footing;'

Recital AM

First part: Text as a whole excluding the words: 'for 2014 to Martin Schulz, President of the European Parliament; whereas on 23 June 2015 the Ombudsman presented her report'

Second part: those words

Verts/ALE:

§ 4

First part: 'Recalls that the equal and proportionate representation of petitioners' nationalities in the committee's public debates should be respected;'

Second part: 'in order to strengthen the European dimension of the committee, proper and fair representation of all Member States in its public debates should be encouraged;'

Amendment 4

First part: The deletion of: 'having elected Eleonora Eva as its chair'

Second part: 'stresses that any working group should have a clear mandate in order to deliver tangible results'

Third part: 'and prevent any unjustified delay in the treatment of petitions;'

Amendment 6

First part: 'emphasises that the Committee on Petitions must treat all admissible petitions with equal importance and objectivity;'

Thursday 15 December 2016

Second part: 'underlines that petitions which are related to an election campaign in a Member State should not be treated under the urgent procedure'

Third part: 'and should not be added to the committee agenda;'

Amendment 7

First part: The deletion of: 'and more staff in order to guarantee diligent examination and a further reduction in the time taken to process petitions, while ensuring the quality of their treatment;'

Second part: 'calls for digitalisation of the processing of petitions, notably by introducing new information and communication technologies to guarantee efficient and timely treatment and optimal use of existing human resources, while preserving the right of citizens to submit petitions by traditional post;'

Amendment 17

First part: 'Welcomes the fact that the Commission is involved with, and committed to, the petition process and that it responds as quickly as possible to new petitions forwarded to it by Parliament; points out that Commission replies are usually detailed and pertain to the petitions for which it has jurisdiction; recalls, however, that on many occasions the Commission does not provide any new information in its replies to petitions for which a review has been requested owing to a change in their status and context; regrets the occasions when the Commission focuses essentially on procedural aspects and does not enter into the substance of the issue; reminds the Commission that petitions that raise a potential breach of EU law can only be closed after their proper analysis has been concluded; welcomes the Commission's commitment to sending generally competent officials to meetings of the Committee on Petitions, as the quality of the overall treatment of petitions improves when the highest-ranking officials available represent the Commission in the debates; regrets that during the committee meetings the Commission's answers are generally limited to the content of the official reply sent to the committee and do not provide any new or relevant information that might enable a solution to the issues raised;'

Second part: 'welcomes the fact that the written responses are taken seriously into account, as are explanations given during the oral debates held by the Committee on Petitions;'

ALDE, PPE:
§ 9

First part: 'Notes that the Commission is involved with, and committed to, the petition process and that it responds as quickly as possible to new petitions forwarded to it by Parliament; points out that Commission replies are usually detailed and pertain to the petitions for which it has jurisdiction;'

Second part: 'recalls, however, that on many occasions the Commission does not provide any new information in its replies to petitions for which a review has been requested'

Third part: 'owing to a change in their status and context;'

Fourth part: 'regrets the occasions when the Commission focuses essentially on procedural aspects and does not enter into the substance of the issue;'

Fifth part: 'reminds the Commission that petitions that raise a potential breach of EU law can only be closed after their proper analysis has been concluded; notes the Commission's commitment to sending generally competent officials to meetings of the Committee on Petitions, as the quality of the overall treatment of petitions improves when the highest-ranking officials available represent the Commission in the debates; regrets that during the committee meetings the Commission's answers are generally limited to the content of the official reply sent to the committee and do not provide any new or relevant information that might enable a solution to the issues raised; notes that the written responses are taken seriously into account, as are explanations given during the oral debates held by the Committee on Petitions; without the words: 'as the quality of the overall treatment of petitions improves when the highest-ranking officials available represent the Commission in the debates; regrets that during the committee meetings the Commission's answers are generally limited to the content of the official reply sent to the committee and do not provide any new or relevant information that might enable a solution to the issues raised;'

Thursday 15 December 2016

Sixth part: 'as the quality of the overall treatment of petitions improves when the highest-ranking officials available represent the Commission in the debates; regrets that during the committee meetings the Commission's answers are generally limited to the content of the official reply sent to the committee'

Seventh part: 'and do not provide any new or relevant information that might enable a solution to the issues raised;'
