

dumping duty, of almost all its sales on the Community market, representing approximately one-third of its production, fails to establish the imminence of that danger if it admits that its business has remained profitable and that demand for the products which it sells on the world market is increasing.

2. When it concerns the main proceedings and not the proceedings in an application for interim measures, a measure of inquiry such as the appointment of an expert falls within the jurisdiction of the Court under Article 45 of the Rules of Procedure and not within that of the President ruling on the application for interim measures.
