- Proces-verbal of rectification of the agreement between the European Union and the Republic of Iceland and the Kingdom of Norway on the surrender procedure between the Member States of the European Union and Iceland and Norway.

13. Action taken on Parliament's positions and resolutions

The Commission communication on the action taken on the positions and resolutions adopted by Parliament during the October I and II part-sessions was available.

14. Order of business

The next item was the order of business.

The final draft agenda for the March 2008 sittings (PE 403.203/PDOJ) had been distributed and a number of changes had been proposed (Rule 132):

Sittings of 10.03.2008 to 13.03.2008

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday

- no changes

The following spoke on the agenda for Tuesday: Hannes Swoboda, on behalf of the PSE Group, who said that Charlie McCreevy would not be present at the debate on the oral questions on the follow-up after the review of the 'Lamfalussy process' (final draft agenda, Item 29) and requested that Joaquín Almunia stand in for Commissioner McCreevy. Mr Swoboda also asked for further information on the situation of Franco Frattini, who would cease to be a Commissioner on 14 March (the President replied that Commissioner Almunia would certainly be able to attend on Tuesday, and that the second point raised would be discussed).

Monday 10 March 2008

Thursday

Debate on cases of breaches of human rights, democracy and the rule of law (Rule 115):

- Request by the PPE-DE Group to replace the item entitled 'Afghanistan: the case of the journalist Perwez Kambakhsh' (final draft agenda, Item 59) with an item entitled 'Arrests of demonstrators following the presidential elections in Russia'

The following spoke: Bernd Posselt, on behalf of the PPE-DE Group, who moved the request, and Martin Schulz, on behalf of the PSE Group.

Parliament agreed to the request by electronic vote (87 in favour, 86 against, 2 abstentions).

The following spoke: Francis Wurtz, on behalf of the GUE/NGL Group, who deplored the outcome and the consequences of this vote (the President proposed to send a new letter on the subject to the President of Afghanistan on Parliament's behalf), Martin Schulz, who, on behalf of the PSE Group, associated himself with Francis Wurtz's remarks and requested that the item on Russia be added to the debates rather than replacing a subject, and Bernd Posselt, who expressed his agreement with Martin Schulz's proposal while expressing the wish that there be five subjects rather than three.

The President announced that he had received two further requests to add an item to the debates:

- a request by the ALDE Group and the GUE/NGL Group to add an item entitled 'The case of the Iranian citizen Seyed Mehdi Kazemi';
- a request by the PPE-DE Group to add an item entitled 'The case of Archbishop Paulos Faraj Rahho'.

The following spoke: Bernd Posselt and Graham Watson, on behalf of the ALDE Group.

The President therefore proposed that the subject 'Afghanistan' be retained and merged with the subject 'Iran' (the request concerning the case of Archbishop Paulos Faraj Rahho would fall).

The following spoke: Hannes Swoboda, on behalf of the PSE Group.

Parliament approved the President's proposal.

The debates would appear as follows:

- Armenia
- arrests of demonstrators following the presidential elections in Russia
- the case of the journalist Perwez Kambakhsh and the case of the Iranian citizen Seyed Mehdi Kazemi.

Sitting of 26.03.2008

- no changes

14. Announcement by the President

The President made the following announcement concerning the decisions he had taken relating to penalties following the incidents at the sitting of 12.12.2007 (Minutes of 12.12.2007, Item 4):

Today I would like to inform you about the action I have taken following the serious disruption of the formal sitting held here in Strasbourg on Wednesday, 12 December 2007 to mark the signing of the Charter of Fundamental Rights, incidents which I am sure you all remember.

After the Conference of Presidents had considered the incidents in question, on the basis of Rule 147 of the Rules of Procedure I invited a number of Members for discussions with a view to hearing their version of events before taking any decision on possible disciplinary action. I informed each of the Members concerned of the reason for the invitation.

The basis of parliamentarianism is freedom of speech. In a democratic parliament, no speaker may be prevented from expressing his or her views by means of systematic heckling by colleagues who hold differing views. Naturally enough, this applies all the more to speakers who address the plenary as guests and representatives of other institutions. I made clear that I had invited the Members concerned for discussions because, despite my calls for order in plenary, they continued, by means of their heckling, their attempts to prevent speakers from addressing Parliament. Disciplinary action is not being taken because they held up posters and banners. The issue at stake here is the attempt to restrict freedom of speech.

Following the discussions I referred to above, I decided, pursuant to Rule 147(3) of the Rules of Procedure, to take the following measures:

- In nine cases forfeiture of the entitlement to the subsistence allowance for periods of between two and five days, in one case five days, in six cases three days and in two cases two days, and in a further case the issuing of a reprimand.

With a view to explaining why I imposed these penalties, I should like to read to you what I wrote to the Members concerned when I informed them about the disciplinary action taken against them. I quote: 'I fully accept your right, and the right of any Member, to be opposed to the adoption of the Charter of Fundamental Rights or the Treaty of Lisbon and to express that view in accordance with the provisions of the Rules of Procedure. I also have a degree of understanding for the very emotional responses which such matters sometimes elicit. However, I consider that a distinction has to be made between conduct which is legitimate in the light of the Rules of Procedure and disruption of the kind which occurred on 12 December. We cannot permit any actions which have the result of preventing other Members or official guests — in this case the Presidents of other European Union Institutions — from speaking in a dignified manner and without deliberate interruption, after they have been given the floor pursuant to Rule 9(2) of the Rules of Procedure, and moreover in accordance with the agenda adopted by Parliament itself. It is a core principle of parliamentarianism and democracy that, in exercising freedom of opinion, the freedom of others must also be respected — in this case the freedom of those who have been given the floor to speak in plenary.'

Wednesday 12 March 2008

Pursuant to Rule 147 of the Rules of Procedure, the 10 Members concerned were informed of the decision relating to them. The following have forfeited their entitlement to the subsistence allowance: Jim Allister for three days, Godfrey Bloom for two days, Sylwester Chruszcz for two days, Paul Marie Coûteaux for five days, Maciej Marian Giertych for three days, Roger Helmer for three days, Roger Knapman for three days, Hans-Peter Martin for three days and Philippe de Villiers for three days. Vladimír Železný is reprimanded.

In addition, the chairmen of the bodies, delegations and committees to which the Members belong have been informed.

In three cases I have refrained from applying Rule 147, because, after having discussed the matter with the Members concerned, I arrived at the conclusion that these colleagues did not take part in the action.

Colleagues, this is my decision. I felt obliged to announce it to you officially and publicly here, so that Parliament would be informed about what I had to do. I hope that we shall not witness any further incidents similar to that which occurred here in the European Parliament on 12 December 2007.

Miscellaneous

Csaba Sándor Tabajdi (rapporteur) moved an oral amendment to paragraph 41, to read as follows:

41. Proposes that the promotion of biogas be fully included in the framework of the proposed directive on the promotion of the use of energy from renewable sources (COM(2008)0019), with special emphasis on the following:

- (a) (deletion)
- (b) annual statistics and reports on agricultural biogas production in order to be able to follow up on the targets,
- (c) measures for the construction and promotion of biogas installations based on a national or regional impact assessment, promoting those installations that, nationally and/or regionally, are most beneficial to the environment and which are economically sustainable; measures for the dissemination and promotion of results gained from prior experiences or demonstration projects need to be included in all plans; if regional and rural development regulations do not allow funding of such measures, they must be amended,
- (d) provisions encouraging or requiring Member States to engage in national and regional planning in order to limit legal and administrative impediments, for instance natural gas or other fossil fuels should not be preferred in areas in which it is feasible to sell heat generated from biogas to local heating providers;

He underlined the importance of dialogue between the European Union and China and expressed the hope that the Beijing Olympic Games would be a success, while emphasising that certain conditions had to be fulfilled, particularly as regards respect for the cultural and religious identity of the Tibetan people and freedom of the press.

If this interpretation was not contested by a political group or by at least 40 Members (Rule 201(4)) before the Minutes of the current sitting were adopted it would be deemed to have been adopted. Otherwise, the matter would be put to the vote in Parliament.
