§ 17

First part: ‘Underlines that horizontal principles, such as gender equality, anti-discrimination based on sex, gender, sexual orientation, age, religion or belief, nationality, or racial or ethnic origin, and freedom of movement, should be integral to the ESF+;’

Second part: ‘stresses the importance of an intersectional approach throughout the entire development, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of the fund;’

First part: ‘Stresses that the ESF+ should invest in projects targeting women’s employment and the social and economic inclusion of women, with special attention to single mothers and female-headed households; insists that the ESF+ supports women who are in vulnerable situations and need extra support to (re)integrate in societies and the labour market, including women who are victims of gender-based violence, including economic violence;’

Second part: ‘calls for a cross-cutting gender approach along the ESF+;’

§ 33

First part: Text as a whole without the words: ‘for a directive on the right to disconnect and teleworking rules, a directive on AI in the workplace and a Directive on psychosocial risks and well-being at work, as well as increased funding’

Second part: those words

§ 41

First part: Text as a whole without the words: ‘calls, further, for more effective social conditionalities in rules on public procurement and concessions;’
