6. Demarcated geographical area

The production area for 'Nizza' DOCG (PDO) includes all of the territory of the following municipalities: Agliano Terme, Belveglio, Calamandrana, Castel Boglione, Castelnuovo Belbo, Castelnuovo Calcea, Castel Rocchero, Cortiglione, Incisa Scapaccino, Mombaruzzo, Mombercelli, Nizza Monferrato, Vaglio Serra, Vinchio, Bruno, Rocchetta Palafea, Moasca and San Marzano Oliveto.

7. Main wine grapes variety(ies)

Barbera N.

8. Description of the link(s)

Nizza DOCG (PDO) (Wine category 1)

Natural factors relevant to the link

A) The production area comprises 18 municipalities adjacent to the municipality of Nizza in the Province of Asti; this has traditionally been the area of choice for the cultivation of the Barbera vine variety. It is an area of low hills with an altitude of between 150 and 400 metres, characterised by a temperate climate with little wind and average annual rainfall of around 700 mm. The soil is mainly calcareous, of medium depth and resting on a marly calcareous-arenaceous rock groundmass. The terrain of the Nizza winegrowing area is geologically part of the Pliocene basin in the Asti region; it is mostly sedimentary in origin, with predominantly tertiary arenaceous marl formations. The soils have a high calcium carbonate content, with generally little organic matter, and low but perfectly balanced nutrient levels.

Human factors relevant to the link

The perfect synergy between the environment and man in the Nizza area is summed up by the use of the traditional 'contour' system, the double Guyot and with adequate thinning of the bunches, gives the Nizza vineyard a very low yield, of a maximum of 7 tonnes or less and sometimes spurred cordon pruning systems, the containment of yields and a rational management of foliage which, together with the south-facing exposure, maximise the quality of the Barbera grape. The utmost care is taken in the harvesting of the grapes, which is done entirely by hand so as to preserve the characteristic quality as much as possible. The winemaking technique has been perfected for this excellent raw material. It is followed by an appropriate minimum ageing period of 18 months, up to over 30 months for the Nizza Riserva. The vineyard landscape of the Nizza winegrowing area is the exceptional result of a winemaking tradition which has evolved and been handed down since antiquity; it underpins the local community and economy.

This cultural tradition has produced a well-established heritage of expertise and vine growing, winemaking and ageing techniques based on a thorough knowledge of the Barbera variety historically grown there and its ability to adapt to the particular environmental conditions.

B) Details of the quality or characteristics of the product essentially or exclusively attributable to the geographical environment.

Nizza DOCG (PDO) is the most valuable wine produced in the area. The final product is distinguished by the characteristics of the soils in the production area. In particular, the Nizza wines from areas consisting mainly of clay-sandy marl soils have greater intensity and shades of colour, a medium-high pH and lower acidity, very intense 'earthy' aromas ('tuf' is the name of the marl in the local dialect). They are elegant, highly-structured and long-lived. Those from areas with predominantly sandy soils have a more pronounced acidity, lower colour intensity and a variegation of fine and elegant aromas with scents that are more balsamic, of aromatic grasses, coupled with a harmonious structure.

Optimum sun exposure and soil and climate conditions and the soil types described above make for well-structured wines which are rich in colour and suitable for ageing, and which keep well over time. The vineyards’ exposure, from south to south-west and south-east, also affects the absorption of sun rays and benefits the ripening and quality of grapes, increasing the concentration of sugars and polyphenols.
C) Description of the causal interaction between the aspects referred to under (A) and those referred to under (B).

‘Nizza’ wines owe their specific quality characteristics to the interaction between the natural environment and human factors of tradition and knowledge with regard to cultivation, wine-making and ageing. In particular, producers have made highly qualitative choices for the cultivation of grapes (limited yields, in particular for types carrying the ‘vigna’ indication) and the production of ‘Nizza’ DOCG (PDO) wines by refraining from using the practice of enrichment.

The cultural knowledge dating back to antiquity with the cultivation of the vines in the ‘contour’ system, expertly managed through the traditional double Guyot pruning system. These factors, combined with fairly high daily temperature ranges allow for optimal ripening of the grapes, which gives the ‘Nizza’ its typical organoleptic and analytical characteristics.

The district of Nizza is a historic centre for the production of Barbera wines in Piemonte, with an impressive tradition of processing, ageing and marketing the final product, a precondition for the production and subsequent establishment on the market of structured red wines for medium to long ageing.

9. Essential further conditions

Bottling within the demarcated area

Legal framework:
In EU legislation

Type of further condition:
Bottling in the demarcated geographical area

Description of the condition:
In accordance with Article 8 of Regulation (EC) No 607/2009, bottling or packaging must take place in the demarcated geographical area to safeguard quality, guarantee the origin and ensure the effectiveness of checks.

In fact, the qualities and particular characteristics of the wines ‘Nizza’ DOCG (PDO), related to the geographical area of origin, are better insured with bottling in the demarcated area since the application of all the technical rules concerning transport and bottling and compliance with such rules falls under the responsibility and professional competence of the companies producing in the demarcated area.

This obligation enables to avoid possible risks that the transport outside the DOCG (PDO) wine area could entail, such as: oxidation and thermal stress from high or low temperatures, with deterioration of the product, with consequent negative effects on the chemical-physical characteristics (acidity, polyphenols and colouring substances) and organoleptic (colour, flavour) and stability. In particular, the risk of microbiological contamination (from bacteria, viruses, fungi, moulds and yeasts) is reduced.

The aforesaid risks are avoided with this obligation because the control system by the competent bodies, to which the operators are subjected in all the production phases, in particular during the bottling phase, is more effective in the demarcated area.

Therefore, this condition is introduced to the benefit of the operators responsible for safeguarding the quality of Nizza DOCG (PDO), in order to offer the consumers the guarantee of the origin, quality and compliance with the Product Specification, and to maintain high reputation of the name.

COMMISSION IMPLEMENTING DECISION of 11 February 2019
on the initiation of the procedure for temporary withdrawal of the tariff preferences provided to the Kingdom of Cambodia under Article 19 of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012
(2019/C 55/07)

THE EUROPEAN COMMISSION,

Having regard to the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union, applying a scheme of generalised tariff preferences and repealing Council Regulation (EC) No 732/2008 (1), and in particular Article 19(3) thereof,

After consulting the Generalised Preferences Committee,

Whereas:

(1) Part A of Annex VIII to Regulation (EU) No 978/2012 lists the core human and labour rights Conventions of the United Nations (UN) and of the International Labour Organisation (ILO).

(2) Article 19(1) of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012 provides for the temporary withdrawal of the special incentive arrangement referred to in Article 1(2) of that Regulation in respect of all or of certain products originating in a beneficiary country, for reasons of serious and systematic violation of the principles laid down in the conventions listed in Part A of Annex VIII thereof.

(3) Reports, statements and information of the UN and of the ILO available to the Commission, as well as other publicly available reports and information from other relevant sources (2), point to serious and systematic violations by Cambodia of the principles of, in particular, the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights, the International Covenant on Economic Social and Cultural Rights, the Convention concerning Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise, No 87, and the Convention concerning the Application of the Principles of the Right to Organise and to Bargain Collectively, No 98.

(4) The Commission has examined the information available and found that it constitutes sufficient grounds to justify the initiation of the procedure for temporary withdrawal of the tariff preferences provided under Article 1(2) of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012. The procedure would further allow the Commission to determine whether a temporary withdrawal of the special incentive arrangement is justified,

HAS DECIDED AS FOLLOWS:

Article 1
The procedure set out in Article 19 of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012 for temporary withdrawal of the tariff preferences provided to the Kingdom of Cambodia under Article 1(2) of that Regulation is initiated.

The Notice of initiation of the procedure for temporary withdrawal of the tariff preferences provided to the Kingdom of Cambodia under Regulation (EU) No 978/2012, as set out in the Annex to this Decision, is approved.

(2) See most recently the Report by the United Nations’ Special Rapporteur on the situation of human rights in Cambodia of 15 August
2018 (A/HRC/39/73), the addendum thereto of 7 September 2018 (A/HRC/39/73/Add. 1) and the 2018 ILO Report of the Committee of Experts on the Application of the Conventions and Recommendations (CEACR) p. 60.
Article 2

The Notice of initiation of the procedure for temporary withdrawal of the tariff preferences provided to the Kingdom of Cambodia under Regulation (EU) No 978/2012, as set out in the Annex to this Decision, shall be published in the Official Journal of the European Union.

Done at Brussels, 11 February 2019.

For the Commission

The President

Jean-Claude JUNCKER
1. Introduction

(1) The Kingdom of Cambodia (‘Cambodia’ or ‘the Beneficiary Country’) benefits from tariff preferences provided under the special arrangement for the least-developed countries — Everything But Arms (EBA) — under Article 1(2) of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012 of the European Parliament and of the Council applying a Scheme of Generalised Preferences (1).

(2) In accordance with Article 19(1) of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012, the tariff preferences granted under that Regulation may be temporarily withdrawn in whole or in part for reasons of serious and systematic violations of the principles laid down in the United Nations (UN) and the International Labour Organisation (ILO) conventions listed in Part A of Annex VIII to Regulation (EU) No 978/2012.

(3) Since 2017, the European Commission (‘the Commission’) and the European External Action Service have engaged actively with the Kingdom of Cambodia and involving relevant stakeholders, including non-governmental organisations, civil society organisations, international organisations, social partners, and businesses on several issues affecting human and labour rights (2).

2. Legal basis

(4) Where the Commission considers that there are sufficient grounds justifying temporary withdrawal of those tariff preferences on the basis of the reasons referred to in Article 19(1) of Regulation (EU) No 978/2012, it is to adopt an implementing act to initiate the procedure for temporary withdrawal in accordance with the advisory procedure referred to in Article 39(2) of that Regulation (3).

— Convention concerning Freedom of Association and Protection of the Right to Organise, No 87,

Commission notice on current State aid recovery interest rates and reference/discount rates for 28 Member States applicable as from 1 March 2019

(2019/C 55/08)

Base rates calculated in accordance with the Communication from the Commission on the revision of the method for setting the reference and discount rates (OJ C 14, 19.1.2008, p. 6). Depending on the use of the reference rate, the appropriate margins have still to be added as defined in this communication. For the discount rate this means that a margin of 100 basis points has to be added. The Commission Regulation (EC) No 271/2008 of 30 January 2008 amending Regulation (EC) No 794/2004 foresees that, unless otherwise provided for in a specific decision, the recovery rate will also be calculated by adding 100 basis points to the base rate.

Modified rates are indicated in bold.
