Position of the European Parliament adopted at first reading on 6 September 2005 with a view to the adoption of Regulation (EC) No .../2005 of the European Parliament and of the Council on the implementation of the deployment and commercial operating phases of the European programme of satellite radionavigation

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 156 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee ⁽¹⁾,

After consulting the Committee of the Regions,

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

Whereas:

- (1) European satellite radionavigation policy is presently implemented through the GALILEO and EGNOS programmes.
- (2) GALILEO is a programme aiming at establishing the first worldwide satellite radionavigation and positioning infrastructure specifically for civil purposes.
- (3) EGNOS is a programme aiming at augmenting the American GPS and Russian GLONASS signals to ensure reliability across a broad geographical area. It is independent from and complementary to GALILEO.
- (4) The European Parliament, the Council and the European Economic and Social Committee have consistently given their full support to the GALILEO programme.
- (5) The GALILEO programme consists of a technology aiming at improving the everyday life of European citizens in various domains. In particular, it fits perfectly into the framework of transport policy as described in the Commission's White Paper, entitled "European transport policy for 2010: time to decide", particularly as regards freight management, tarification of infrastructures and road safety.
- (6) This programme has been taken up as a priority project in the Growth Initiative proposed by the Commission and endorsed by the Council. It is also one of the main arms of the future European space programme as set out in the Commission's White Paper, entitled "Space: a new European frontier for an expanding Union — An action plan for implementing the European Space policy".
- (7) The GALILEO programme comprises a definition phase, a development phase, a deployment phase and a commercial operating phase. The deployment phase should start in 2006, and, after two years' overlap with the commercial operating phase, it should finish in 2010. The commercial operating phase should start in 2008, and the system should become fully operational in 2010.
- (8) The definition and development phases constitute the part of the programme dedicated to research and have received significant support from the Community Trans-European Network budget.
- (9) Council Regulation (EC) No 2236/95 of 18 September 1995 laying down general rules for the granting of Community financial aid in the field of trans-European networks⁽¹⁾ established the rules for Community financial support for Community projects such as satellite navigation and positioning systems.
- (10) Council Regulation (EC) No 876/2002 of 21 May 2002⁽²⁾ created the GALILEO Joint Undertaking to ensure the implementation of the development phase of the GALILEO programme.
- (11) Council Regulation (EC) No 1321/2004 of 12 July 2004 on the establishment of structures for the management of the European satellite radionavigation programmes⁽³⁾ set up the European GNSS Supervisory Authority (hereinafter referred to as "the Supervisory Authority").
- (12) In order to ensure the continuation of the programmes, it is necessary to secure the financing of the deployment and commercial operating phases.
- (13) In view of the Council's decision to limit to 1/3 the public contribution to the deployment phase and in light of the contributions already provided for in the current financial perspective, a Community contribution of EUR [500] million should be set aside for the deployment phase in the next financial perspective.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

- (14) Given the special nature of the market for satellite radionavigation services and the marketing of these services as well as the guaranteed provision of these services in the interest of the public sector, it will be necessary to provide some exceptional public financing during the first years of the commercial operating phase. Moreover, in its conclusions of 25-26 March 2002, and at its meeting of 8-9 March 2004, the Council specifically approved the use of Community funds to finance the commercial operating phase. The amount of Community funding required is expected to be in the region of EUR [500] million.
- (15) It is therefore necessary to allocate a sum of EUR 1 000 million from the Community budget to finance the deployment and the commercial operating phases of the programmes for the period 2007 to 2013, with its own budget line in the Community budget, thereby enabling the Budgetary Authority to link the funding to the meeting of deadlines for the various programme phases.
- (16) In cases where financial guarantees in excess of the above mentioned budgetary allocation are to be undertaken by the Community either directly or indirectly, they should be subject to approval by the European Parliament and the Council in accordance with the applicable budgetary rules.
- (17) In cases where liability commitments in excess of the above mentioned budgetary allocation are to be undertaken by the Community either directly or indirectly, they should be subject to approval by the European Parliament and the Council in accordance with the applicable budgetary rules.
- (18) During the deployment and commercial operating phases, the construction and, later, the management of the system will be entrusted to a private concession holder working under the supervision of the Supervisory Authority created by Regulation (EC) No 1321/2004.
- (19) A profit-sharing mechanism should be established in order to ensure the repayment of the Community contribution to the deployment and commercial operating phases.
- (20) The concession holder should be entitled to receive the revenues deriving from the exploitation of licences and intellectual property rights for system components, ownership of which should rest with the Supervisory Authority.
- (21) The tasks of the Supervisory Authority include the management of funds allocated to the European satellite radionavigation programmes and the monitoring of the overall financial management of the programmes so as to optimise the use of the public money. In addition, the Supervisory Authority carries out such budgetary implementation tasks as are entrusted to it by the Commission in accordance with Article 54(2), point (b), of Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002 of 25 June 2002 on the financial regulation applicable to the general budget of the European Communities⁽¹⁾. Taking into account the specific nature of the programmes, the European Parliament, in order to be able to fulfil its budgetary role, should have observer status on the Administrative Board of the Supervisory Authority.
- (22) The Commission proposal for a decision of the European Parliament and of the Council concerning the seventh framework programme of the European Community for research, technological development and demonstration activities (2007 to 2013) provides for support to the European GNSS satellite navigation system.
- (23) The Commission proposal for a decision of the European Parliament and of the Council establishing a Competitiveness and Innovation Framework Programme (2007-2013) also provides for the involvement of small and medium-sized European enterprises in developing innovations with the support of Community funding, which will contribute to the development of the European GNSS satellite navigation system.
- (24) The GALILEO programme has now reached an advanced stage of maturity and goes well beyond the framework of a simple research project. It is thus necessary to provide it with a specific legal basis, better able to satisfy its needs and respond to the requirements of sound financial management.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

- (25) Establishing such a satellite radionavigation infrastructure is a project which clearly exceeds the technical and financial capabilities of any Member State acting alone. The GALILEO and EGNOS programmes thus fully meet the requirements of the subsidiarity principle since the Community level is the most appropriate level for action. This is an example of the added value that Europe can generate when it has clearly defined its objectives and resources.
- (26) This Regulation establishes, for the deployment and commercial operating phases of the programmes, a financial envelope constituting the main reference for the Budgetary Authority, in accordance with point 33 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and the improvement of the budgetary procedure ⁽¹⁾,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS REGULATION:

Article 1

This Regulation lays down the detailed arrangements for the Community's financial contribution to the deployment (2006-2010) and commercial operating (2008 onwards) phases of the European satellite radionavigation GALILEO and EGNOS programmes (hereinafter referred to as "programmes")

Article 2

The Community contribution to the programmes under this Regulation is granted with the aim of co-financing:

- (a) activities related to the deployment phase, covering the construction and launch of satellites as well as the complete setting up of the terrestrial infrastructure;
- (b) if necessary, the first series of activities connected with the launch of the commercial operating phase, covering the management of the infrastructure, made up of satellites and associated ground stations, and the maintenance and updating of the system.

Article 3

The indicative financial framework necessary for the implementation of the actions envisaged in Article 2 of this Regulation is set at [EUR 1 000 million] for the period of 7 years as from 1 January 2007.

The annual appropriations are authorised by the Budgetary Authority within the limits of the relevant financial perspective.

Article 4

In cases where financial guarantees in excess of the budgetary allocation indicated in Article 3 are to be undertaken by the Community either directly or indirectly, including the concession contract, they shall be subject to approval by the European Parliament and the Council in accordance with the applicable budgetary rules.

Article 5

In cases where liability commitments in excess of the budgetary allocation indicated in Article 3 are to be undertaken by the Community either directly or indirectly, including the concession contract, they shall be subject to approval by the European Parliament and the Council in accordance with the applicable budgetary rules.

Article 6

A profit-sharing mechanism shall be established in order to ensure the repayment of the Community contribution to the deployment and commercial operating phases.

Article 7

The concession holder shall be entitled to receive the revenues deriving from the exploitation of licences and intellectual property rights for system components, ownership of which shall rest with the Supervisory Authority.

Article 8

The Supervisory Authority ensures, in accordance with Article 54(2), point (b), of Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002, and the requirements of Regulation (EC) No 1321/2004, the management and control of the use of Community funds allocated to the programmes.

Taking into account the specific nature of the programmes, the European Parliament, in order to be able to fulfil its budgetary role, shall have observer status on the Administrative Board of the Supervisory Authority.

The operational credits necessary for the financing of the Community contribution shall be granted to the Supervisory Authority, through an agreement, in accordance with the requirements of Article 2(1), point (g), of Regulation (EC) No 1321/2004. The Budgetary Authority shall be informed of the draft agreement before it is initialled.

The amount allocated under each annual agreement on financing shall be decided in the framework of the EU budgetary procedure, taking into account the work programme of the Supervisory Authority as approved by its Administrative Board, in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 6 of Regulation (EC) No 1321/2004, and within the limits of the applicable Financial Perspective.

Each agreement shall stipulate in particular the general conditions for the management of the funds granted to the Supervisory Authority.

Article 9

The Commission shall ensure that, when actions financed under this Regulation are implemented by the Supervisory Authority, the financial interests of the Community are protected by the application of preventive measures against fraud, corruption and any other illegal activities, by effective checks and by the recovery of the amounts unduly paid and, if irregularities are detected, by effective, proportional and dissuasive penalties, in accordance with Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 2988/95⁽¹⁾, Council Regulation (Euratom, EC) No 2185/96⁽²⁾ and Regulation (EC) No 1073/1999 of the European Parliament and of the Council⁽³⁾.

For the Community actions financed under this Regulation, the notion of irregularity referred to in Article 1 (2) of Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 2988/95 shall mean any infringement of a provision of Community law or any breach of a contractual obligation resulting from an act or omission by an economic operator, which has, or would have, the effect of prejudicing the general budget of the European Communities or budgets managed by them, by an unjustified item of expenditure.

Contracts and agreements, as well as agreements with participating third countries, resulting from this Regulation shall provide in particular for supervision and financial control by the Supervisory Authority or the Commission, or any authorised representative of those bodies, and audits by the Court of Auditors, including, if necessary, on-the-spot audits.

Article 10

Every year, upon presentation of the preliminary draft budget, the Commission will present a report to the European Parliament and the Council on the implementation of the programmes. In 2007 a mid-term review shall be carried out in order to inform the European Parliament and the Council of the progress reached by that time.

Position of the European Parliament adopted at second reading on 6 September 2005 with a view to the adoption of Directive 2005/.../EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on the management of waste from extractive industries and amending Directive 2004/35/EC

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 175(1) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee ⁽¹⁾,

Having regard to the Opinion of the Committee of the Regions ⁽²⁾,

Acting in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 251 of the Treaty ⁽³⁾,

Whereas:

- (1) The Communication of the Commission entitled "Safe operation of mining activities: a follow-up to recent mining accidents" sets out as one of its priority actions an initiative to regulate the management of waste from the extractive industries. This action is designed to complement initiatives pursuant to Directive 2003/105/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 December 2003 amending Council Directive 96/82/EC on the control of major-accident hazards involving dangerous substances ⁽⁴⁾ as well as the production of a best available technique document covering the management of waste rock and tailings from mining activities under the auspices of Council Directive 96/61/EC of 24 September 1996 concerning integrated pollution prevention and control ⁽⁵⁾.
- (2) In its Resolution of 5 July 2001 ⁽⁶⁾ concerning that Communication, the European Parliament strongly supported the need for a Directive on waste from the extractive industries.
- (3) Decision No 1600/2002/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 22 July 2002 laying down the Sixth Community Environment Action Programme ⁽⁷⁾ sets as the objective for waste that is still generated that the level of its hazardousness should be reduced and that it should present as little risk as possible, that preference should be given to recovery and especially to recycling, that the quantity of waste for disposal should be minimised and should be safely disposed of, and that waste intended for disposal should be treated as closely as possible to the place of its generation to the extent that this does not lead to a decrease in the efficiency of waste treatment operations. Decision No 1600/2002/EC also prescribes as a priority action, with reference to accidents and disasters, the development of measures to help prevent major accident hazards, with special regard to those arising from mining, and the development of measures on mining waste. Decision No 1600/2002/EC also sets as a priority action the promotion of sustainable management of extractive industries with a view to reducing their environmental impact.
- (4) In accordance with the objectives of Community policy on the environment, it is necessary to lay down minimum requirements in order to prevent or reduce as far as possible any adverse effects on the environment or on human health which are brought about as a result of the management of waste from the extractive industries, such as tailings (i.e. the waste solids or slurries that remain after the treatment of minerals by a number of techniques), waste rock and overburden (i.e. the material that extractive operations move during the process of accessing an ore or mineral body, including during the pre-production development stage), and topsoil (i.e. the upper layer of the ground) provided that they constitute waste as defined in Council Directive 75/442/EEC of 15 July 1975 on waste ⁽⁸⁾.

⁽⁸⁾ OJ L 194, 25.7.1975, p. 39. Directive as last amended by Regulation (EC) No 1882/2003.

- (5) In accordance with paragraph 24 of the Johannesburg Plan of Implementation on Sustainable Development adopted within the framework of the United Nations at the 2002 World Summit on Sustainable Development, it is necessary to protect the natural resource base of economic and social development and reverse the current trend in natural resource degradation by managing the natural resource base in a sustainable and integrated manner.
- (6) Accordingly, this Directive should cover the management of waste from land-based extractive industries, that is to say, the waste arising from the prospecting, extraction (including the pre-production development stage), treatment and storage of mineral resources and from the working of quarries. However, such management should reflect the principles and priorities identified in Directive 75/442/EEC, which, in accordance with Article 2(1)(b)(ii) thereof, continues to apply to any aspects of the management of waste from the extractive industries which are not covered by this Directive.
- (7) In order to avoid duplication and disproportionate administrative requirements, the scope of this Directive should be limited to those particular operations considered to be a priority for the purposes of meeting its objectives.
- (8) Accordingly, the provisions of this Directive should not apply to those waste streams which, albeit generated in the course of mineral extraction or treatment operations, are not directly linked to the extraction or treatment process, e.g. food waste, waste oil, end-of-life vehicles, spent batteries and accumulators. The management of such waste should be subject to the provisions of Directive 75/442/EEC or of Council Directive 1999/31/EC of 26 April 1999 on the landfill of waste⁽¹⁾ or any other relevant Community legislation, as is the case for waste generated at a prospecting, extraction or treatment site and transported to a location that is not a waste facility according to this Directive.
- (9) Nor should this Directive apply to waste resulting from the offshore prospecting, extraction and treatment of mineral resources or to the injection of water and re-injection of pumped groundwater, while inert waste, non-hazardous prospecting waste, unpolluted soil and waste resulting from the extraction, treatment and storage of peat should be covered only by a limited set of requirements due to their lower environmental risks. For non-hazardous non-inert waste, Member States may reduce or waive certain requirements. However, these exemptions should not apply to Category A waste facilities.
- (10) Moreover, while covering the management of waste from the extractive industries which may be radioactive, this Directive should not cover such aspects as are specific to radioactivity.
- (11) In order to remain true to the principles and priorities identified in Directive 75/442/EEC and, in particular, in Articles 3 and 4 thereof, Member States should ensure that operators engaged in the extractive industry take all necessary measures to prevent or reduce as far as possible any negative effects, actual or potential, on the environment or on human health which are brought about as a result of the management of waste from the extractive industries.
- (12) These measures should be based, inter alia, on the concept of best available techniques as defined in Directive 96/61/EC and, when such techniques are applied, it is for the Member States to determine how the technical characteristics of the waste facility, its geographical location and local environmental conditions can, where appropriate, be taken into consideration.
- (13) Member States should ensure that operators in the extractive industry draw up appropriate waste management plans for the prevention, treatment, recovery and disposal of extractive waste. Such plans should be structured in such a way as to ensure appropriate planning of waste management options with a view to minimising waste generation and its harmfulness, and encouraging waste recovery. Moreover, waste from the extractive industries should be characterised with respect to its composition in order to ensure that, as far as possible, such waste reacts only in predictable ways.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

- (14) In order to minimise the risk of accidents and to guarantee a high level of protection for the environment and human health, Member States should ensure that each operator of a Category A waste facility adopts and applies a major-accident prevention policy for waste. In terms of preventive measures, this should entail the delivery of a safety management system, emergency plans to be used in the event of accidents and the dissemination of safety information to persons likely to be affected by a major accident. In the event of an accident, operators should be required to provide the competent authorities with all the relevant information necessary to mitigate actual or potential environmental damage. These particular requirements should not apply to those waste facilities from the extractive industries falling within the scope of Directive 96/82/EC.
- (15) A waste facility should not be classified in Category A solely on the basis of risks to the safety and health protection of workers in the extractive industries covered by other Community legislation, in particular Directives 92/91/EEC⁽¹⁾ and 92/104/EEC⁽²⁾.
- (16) Because of the special nature of the management of waste from the extractive industries, it is necessary to introduce specific application and permit procedures in respect of waste facilities used to receive such waste. In addition, Member States should take the necessary measures to ensure that the competent authorities periodically reconsider and, where necessary, update permit conditions.
- (17) Member States should be required to ensure that, in accordance with the UNECE Convention on Access to Information, Public Participation in Decision-making and Access to Justice in Environmental Matters of 25 June 1998 (Aarhus Convention), the public are informed of the application for a waste management permit and the public concerned are consulted prior to the granting of a waste management permit.
- (18) It is necessary to indicate clearly the requirements with which waste facilities servicing the extractive industries should comply as regards location, management, control, closure and preventive and protective measures to be taken against any threat to the environment in the short and long-term perspectives, and more especially against the pollution of groundwater by leachate infiltration into the soil.
- (19) It is necessary to define clearly Category A waste facilities used to service waste from the extractive industries, taking into account the likely effects of any pollution resulting from the operation of such a facility or from an accident in which waste escapes from such a facility.
- (20) Waste placed back into the excavation voids either for their rehabilitation or for construction purposes related to the mineral extraction process, such as the building or maintenance within voids of means of access for machinery, haulage ramps, bulkheads, safety barricades or berms, needs also to be subject to certain requirements in order to protect surface water and/or groundwater, secure the stability of such waste, and ensure appropriate monitoring upon cessation of such activities. Accordingly, such waste should not be subject to the requirements of this Directive which relate exclusively to "waste facilities", except for the requirements mentioned in the specific provision on excavation voids.
- (21) With a view to ensuring the proper construction and maintenance of waste facilities servicing waste from the extractive industries, Member States should take appropriate measures to ensure that the design, location and management of such facilities is carried out by technically competent persons. It is necessary to ensure that the training and knowledge acquired by operators and staff afford them the necessary skills. In addition, competent authorities should satisfy themselves that operators ensure suitable arrangements with respect to the construction and maintenance of a new waste facility or to any extension or modification of an existing waste facility, including in the after-closure phase.

⁽²⁾ Council Directive 92/104/EEC of 3 December 1992 on the minimum requirements for improving the safety and health protection of workers in surface and underground mineral-extracting industries (twelfth individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC) (OJ L 404, 31.12.1992, p. 10).

- (22) It is necessary to establish monitoring procedures during the operation and after-closure of waste facilities. An after-closure period for monitoring and control of Category A waste facilities should be laid down proportionate to the risk posed by the individual waste facility, in a way similar to that required by Directive 1999/31/EC.
- (23) It is necessary to define when and how a waste facility servicing the extractive industries should be closed and to set out the obligations and responsibilities to be met by the operator during the after-closure period.
- (24) Member States should require operators of the extractive industries to apply monitoring and management controls in order to prevent water and soil pollution and to identify any adverse effect that their waste facilities may have on the environment or on human health. In addition, for the purposes of minimising water pollution, the discharge of waste into any receiving body of water should be prohibited unless it is demonstrated a priori to comply with Directive 2000/60/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 23 October 2000 establishing a framework for Community action in the field of water policy⁽¹⁾. Furthermore, concentrations in tailings ponds of cyanide and cyanide compounds from certain extractive industries should, in view of their harmful and toxic effects, be reduced to the lowest possible levels, using best available techniques. Maximum concentration thresholds should be set accordingly and, in any case, in line with the specific requirements of this Directive to prevent such effects.
- (25) The operator of a waste facility servicing the extractive industries should be required to lodge a financial guarantee or equivalent in accordance with procedures to be decided by the Member States ensuring that all the obligations flowing from the permit will be fulfilled, including those relating to the closure and after-closure of the site. The financial guarantee should be sufficient to cover the cost of rehabilitation of the land affected by a waste facility by a suitably qualified and independent third party. It is also necessary for such a guarantee to be provided prior to the commencement of deposition operations in the waste facility and to be periodically adjusted. In addition, in accordance with the polluter pays principle and with Directive 2004/35/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 21 April 2004 on environmental liability with regard to the prevention and remedying of environmental damage⁽²⁾, it is important to clarify that an operator of a waste facility servicing the extractive industries is subject to appropriate liability in respect of environmental damage caused by its operations or the imminent threat of such damage.
- (26) In the case of the operation of waste facilities servicing the extractive industries that are likely to have significant adverse transboundary effects on the environment and any resultant risks to human health, in the territory of another Member State, there should be a common procedure in place to facilitate consultation among neighbouring countries. This should be done with a view to ensuring that there is an adequate exchange of information between authorities and that the public are duly informed of any such waste facilities that could have adverse effects for the environment of that other Member State.
- (27) It is necessary for Member States to ensure that competent authorities organise an effective system of inspections or equivalent control measures in respect of waste facilities servicing the extractive industries. Without prejudice to the obligations of the operator under the permit, prior to the commencement of deposition operations there should be an inspection to check that the permit conditions have been complied with. In addition, Member States should ensure that operators and their successors maintain up-to-date records relating to such waste facilities and that operators transfer to their successors information concerning the state of the waste facility and its operations.
- (28) Member States should send regular reports to the Commission on the implementation of this Directive, including information on accidents or near-accidents. On the basis of those reports, the Commission should report to the European Parliament and the Council.

- (29) Member States should lay down rules on penalties for infringement of this Directive and ensure that they are implemented. Those penalties should be effective, proportionate and dissuasive.
- (30) It is necessary for Member States to ensure that an inventory of closed sites located on their territory is drawn up, since such sites often pose a very high environmental risk. The Member States and the Community have a responsibility for rehabilitating abandoned sites likely to cause serious negative environmental impacts. It should therefore be possible to use Structural Funds and other relevant Community funding in order to draw up inventories and implement measures to clean up such sites.
- (31) The Commission should ensure an appropriate exchange of scientific and technical information on how to carry out an inventory of closed waste facilities at Member State level and on the development of methodologies to assist Member States in complying with this Directive when rehabilitating such facilities. Moreover, an exchange of information should be ensured within and between Member States on the best available techniques.
- (32) This Directive could be a useful instrument to be taken into account when verifying that projects receiving Community funding in the context of development aid include the necessary measures to prevent or reduce as far as possible negative effects on the environment. Such an approach is consistent with Article 6 of the Treaty, particularly with regard to integrating environmental protection requirements into the Community's policy in the sphere of development cooperation.
- (33) The objective of this Directive, that is to say, improving the management of waste from the extractive industries, cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States acting alone because the mismanagement of such waste may cause pollution of a transboundary nature. Under the polluter pays principle it is necessary, inter alia, to take into account any damage to the environment caused by waste from the extractive industries, and different national applications of that principle may lead to substantial disparities in the financial burden on economic operators. Moreover, the existence of different national policies on the management of waste from the extractive industries hampers the aim of ensuring a minimum level of safe and responsible management of such waste and maximising its recovery throughout the Community. Therefore, since by reason of the scale and effects of this Directive, its objective can be better achieved at Community level, the Community may adopt measures, in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity, as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty. In accordance with the principle of proportionality, as set out in that Article, this Directive does not go beyond what is necessary in order to achieve this objective.
- (34) The measures necessary for the implementation of this Directive should be adopted in accordance with Council Decision 1999/468/EC of 28 June 1999 laying down the procedures for the exercise of implementing powers conferred on the Commission⁽¹⁾.
- (35) The operation of waste facilities existing at the moment of transposition of this Directive should be regulated in order to take the necessary measures, within a specified period of time, for their adaptation to the requirements of this Directive.
- (36) In accordance with paragraph 34 of the Interinstitutional agreement on better law-making⁽²⁾, Member States are encouraged to draw up, for themselves and in the interest of the Community, their own tables which will, as far as possible, illustrate the correlation between this Directive and the transposition measures, and to make them public.
- (37) In view of the significance of this Directive for environmental protection, it is desirable that future Member States should already take it into account during the pre-accession phase and should apply it consistently from the date of their accession,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

Article 1

Subject matter

This Directive provides for measures, procedures and guidance to prevent or reduce as far as possible any adverse effects on the environment, in particular water, air, soil, fauna and flora and landscape, and any resultant risks to human health, brought about as a result of the management of waste from the extractive industries.

With a view to the consistent application of Article 6 of the Treaty, environmental protection requirements must be integrated into the implementation of Community policies and activities with a view to promoting sustainable development.

Article 2

Scope

1. Subject to paragraphs 2 and 3, this Directive covers the management of waste resulting from the prospecting, extraction, treatment and storage of mineral resources and the working of quarries, hereinafter "extractive waste".
2. The following shall be excluded from the scope of this Directive:
 - (a) waste which is generated by the prospecting, extraction and treatment of mineral resources and the working of quarries, but which does not directly result from those operations;
 - (b) waste resulting from the offshore prospecting, extraction and treatment of mineral resources;
 - (c) injection of water and re-injection of pumped groundwater as defined in the first and second indents of Article 11(3)(j) of Directive 2000/60/EC, to the extent authorised by that Article.
3. Inert waste and unpolluted soil resulting from the prospecting, extraction, treatment and storage of mineral resources and the working of quarries and waste resulting from the extraction, treatment and storage of peat shall not be subject to Articles 7, 8, 11(1) and (3), 12, 13(6), 14 and 16, unless deposited in a Category A waste facility.

The competent authority may reduce or waive the requirements for the deposit of non-hazardous waste generated from the prospecting of mineral resources, except oil and evaporites other than gypsum and anhydrite, as well as for the deposit of unpolluted soil and of waste resulting from the extraction, treatment and storage of peat as long as it is satisfied that the requirements of Article 4 are met.

Member States may reduce or waive the requirements of Articles 11(3), 12(5) and (6), 13(6), 14 and 16 for non-hazardous non-inert waste, unless deposited in a Category A waste facility.

Article 4

General requirements

1. Member States shall take the necessary measures to ensure that extractive waste is managed without endangering human health and without using processes or methods which could harm the environment, and in particular without risk to water, air, soil and fauna and flora, without causing a nuisance through noise or odours and without adversely affecting the landscape or places of special interest. Member States shall also take the necessary measures to prohibit the abandonment, dumping or uncontrolled depositing of extractive waste.
2. Member States shall ensure that the operator takes all measures necessary to prevent or reduce as far as possible any adverse effects on the environment and human health brought about as a result of the management of extractive waste. This includes the management of any waste facility, also after its closure, and the prevention of major accidents involving that facility and the limiting of their consequences for the environment and human health.
3. The measures referred to in paragraph 2 shall be based, inter alia, on the best available techniques, without prescribing the use of any technique or specific technology, but taking into account the technical characteristics of the waste facility, its geographical location and the local environmental conditions.

Article 5

Waste management plan

1. Member States shall ensure that the operator draws up a waste management plan for the minimisation, treatment, recovery and disposal of extractive waste, taking account of the principle of sustainable development.
2. The objectives of the waste management plan shall be:
 - (a) to prevent or reduce waste production and its harmfulness, in particular by considering:
 - (i) waste management options in the design phase and in the choice of the method used for mineral extraction and treatment;
 - (ii) the changes that the extractive waste may undergo in relation to an increase in surface area and exposure to conditions above ground;
 - (iii) placing extractive waste back into the excavation void after extraction of the mineral, as far as is technically and economically feasible and environmentally sound in accordance with existing environmental standards at Community level and with the requirements of this Directive where relevant;
 - (iv) putting topsoil back in place after the closure of the waste facility or, if this is not practically feasible, reusing topsoil elsewhere;
 - (v) using less dangerous substances for the treatment of mineral resources;
 - (b) to encourage the recovery of extractive waste by means of recycling, reusing or reclaiming such waste, where this is environmentally sound in accordance with existing environmental standards at Community level and with the requirements of this Directive where relevant;
 - (c) to ensure short and long-term safe disposal of the extractive waste, in particular by considering, during the design phase, management during the operation and after-closure of a waste facility and by choosing a design which prevents or at least minimises any long-term negative effects attributable to migration of airborne or aquatic pollutants from the waste facility, and to ensure the long-term geotechnical stability of any dams or heaps rising above the pre-existing ground surface.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

3. The waste management plan shall contain at least the following elements:
- (a) where applicable, the proposed classification for the waste facility in accordance with the criteria laid down in Annex III:
 - where a Category A waste facility is required, a document demonstrating that a major-accident prevention policy, a safety management system for implementing it and an internal emergency plan will be put into effect in accordance with Article 6(3);
 - when the operator considers that a Category A waste facility is not required, sufficient information justifying this, including an identification of possible accident hazards;
 - (b) waste characterisation in accordance with Annex II and a statement of the estimated total quantities of extractive waste to be produced during the operational phase;
 - (c) a description of the operation generating such waste and of any subsequent treatment to which it is subject;
 - (d) a description of how the environment and human health may be adversely affected by the deposit of such waste and the preventive measures to be taken in order to minimise environmental impact during operation and after closure, including the aspects referred to in Article 11(2) (a), (b), (d) and (e);
 - (e) the proposed control and monitoring procedures pursuant to Articles 10, when applicable, and 11(2)(c);
 - (f) the proposed plan for closure, including rehabilitation, after-closure procedures and monitoring as provided for in Article 12;
 - (g) measures for the prevention of water status deterioration, air and soil pollution pursuant to Article 13;
 - (h) prior to commencement of waste management operations, a quantitative appraisal of the condition of the land which might be affected by a waste facility in order to establish the minimum criteria to provide for "a satisfactory state" when carrying out rehabilitation.

The waste management plan shall provide sufficient information to enable the competent authority to evaluate the operator's ability to meet the objectives of the waste management plan as set out in paragraph 2 and his obligations under this Directive. The plan shall explain, in particular, how the option and method chosen as mentioned in paragraph 2(a)(i) will fulfil the objectives of the waste management plan as laid down in paragraph 2(a).

4. The waste management plan shall be reviewed every five years and/or amended, as appropriate, in the event of substantial changes to the operation of the waste facility or to the waste deposited. Any amendments shall be notified to the competent authority.

5. Plans produced pursuant to other national or Community legislation and containing the information specified in paragraph 3 may be used where this obviates the unnecessary duplication of information and the repetition of work by the operator, on condition that all requirements under paragraphs 1 to 4 are met.

6. The competent authority shall approve the waste management plan on the basis of procedures to be decided by the Member States and shall monitor its implementation.

Article 6

Major-accident prevention and information

1. This Article shall apply to Category A waste facilities, save for those waste facilities falling within the scope of Directive 96/82/EC.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

2. Without prejudice to other Community legislation, and in particular Directives 92/91/EEC and 92/104/EEC, Member States shall ensure that major-accident hazards are identified and that the necessary features are incorporated into the design, construction, operation and maintenance, closure and after-closure of the waste facility in order to prevent such accidents and to limit their adverse consequences for human health, the environment and/or property, including any transboundary impacts.

3. For the purposes of the requirements under paragraph 2, each operator shall, before the start of operations, draw up a major-accident prevention policy for the management of extractive waste and put into effect a safety management system implementing it, in accordance with the elements set out in Section 1 of Annex I, and shall also put into effect an internal emergency plan specifying the measures to be taken on site in the event of an accident.

As part of that policy, the operator shall appoint a safety manager responsible for the implementation and periodic supervision of the major-accident prevention policy.

The competent authority shall draw up an external emergency plan specifying the measures to be taken off-site in the event of an accident. As part of the application for a permit the operator shall provide the competent authority with the information necessary to enable the latter to draw up that plan.

4. The emergency plans referred to in paragraph 3 shall have the following objectives:

- (a) to contain and control major accidents and other incidents so as to minimise their effects, and in particular to limit damage to human health, the environment and/or property;
- (b) to implement the measures necessary to protect human health, the environment and/or property from the effects of major accidents and other incidents;
- (c) to communicate the necessary information to the public and to the relevant services or authorities in the area;
- (d) to provide for the rehabilitation, restoration and clean-up of the environment following a major accident.

Member States shall ensure that, in the event of a major accident, the operator immediately provides the competent authority with all the information required to help minimise its consequences for human health and to assess and minimise the extent, actual or potential, of the environmental damage.

5. Member States shall ensure that the public concerned are given early and effective opportunities to participate in the preparation or review of the external emergency plan to be drawn up in accordance with paragraph 3. To that end, the public concerned shall be informed about any such proposal and relevant information shall be made available, including, inter alia, information about the right to participate in the decision-making process and about the competent authority to which comments and questions may be submitted.

Member States shall ensure that the public concerned is entitled to express comments within reasonable time frames and that, in the decision on the external emergency plan, due account is taken of these comments.

6. Member States shall ensure that information on safety measures and on the action required in the event of an accident, containing at least the elements listed in Section 2 of Annex I, is provided, free of charge and as a matter of course, to the public concerned.

That information shall be reviewed every three years and, where necessary, updated.

At a frequency to be determined by the competent authority, and in any event at least once a year, the operator shall report, on the basis of aggregated data, all monitoring results to the competent authorities for the purposes of demonstrating compliance with permit conditions and increasing knowledge of waste and waste facility behaviour. On the basis of this report the competent authority may decide that validation by an independent expert is necessary.

Article 12

Closure and after-closure procedures for waste facilities

1. Member States shall take measures to ensure compliance with paragraphs 2 to 5.
2. A waste facility shall only start the closure procedure if one of the following conditions is satisfied:
 - (a) the relevant conditions stated in the permit are met;
 - (b) authorisation is granted by the competent authority, at the request of the operator;
 - (c) the competent authority issues a reasoned decision to that effect.
3. A waste facility may be considered as finally closed only after the competent authority has, without undue delay, carried out a final on-site inspection, assessed all the reports submitted by the operator, certified that the site has been rehabilitated and communicated to the operator its approval of the closure.

That approval shall not in any way reduce the operator's obligations under the conditions of the permit or otherwise in law.

4. The operator shall be responsible for the maintenance, monitoring and control in the after-closure phase for as long as may be required by the competent authority, taking into account the nature and duration of the hazard, save where the competent authority decides to take over such tasks from the operator, after a waste facility has been finally closed and without prejudice to any national or Community legislation governing the liability of the waste holder.

5. When considered necessary by the competent authority in order to meet Community environmental standards, in particular those in Directives 76/464/EEC, 80/68/EEC and 2000/60/EC, following closure of a waste facility, the operator shall, inter alia, control the physical and chemical stability of the facility and minimise any negative environmental effect, in particular with respect to surface water and groundwater, by ensuring that:

- (a) all the structures pertaining to the facility are monitored and conserved, with control and measuring apparatus always ready for use;
- (b) where applicable, overflow channels and spillways are kept clean and free;
- (c) passive or active water treatment facilities are set up when necessary to prevent the migration of contaminated leachate from the facility to contiguous groundwater or surface water bodies.

6. Following closure of a waste facility, the operator shall, without delay, notify the competent authority of any events or developments likely to affect the stability of the waste facility, and any significant adverse environmental effects revealed by the relevant control and monitoring procedures. The operator shall implement the internal emergency plan, where applicable, and follow any other instruction from the competent authority as to the corrective measures to be taken.

The operator shall bear the costs of the measures to be undertaken.

In cases and at a frequency to be determined by the competent authority, and in any event at least once a year, the operator shall report, on the basis of aggregated data, all monitoring results to the competent authorities for the purposes of demonstrating compliance with permit conditions and increasing knowledge of waste and waste facility behaviour.

- (a) evaluating the leachate generation potential, including contaminant content of the leachate, of the deposited waste during both the operational and after-closure phase of the waste facility and determining the water balance of the waste facility;
- (b) preventing or minimising leachate generation and waste contamination of surface water or groundwater and soil;
- (c) collecting contaminated water and leachate;
- (d) treating contaminated water, leachate and any other effluent collected from the waste facility to the appropriate standard required for their discharge, so that they comply with Community obligations, in particular those in Directives 76/464/EEC, 80/68/EEC and 2000/60/EC.

2. The competent authority shall ensure that the operator has taken adequate measures to prevent or reduce dust and gas emissions.

3. Where, on the basis of an assessment of environmental risks, taking into account, in particular, Directives 76/464/EEC, 80/68/EEC or 2000/60/EC, as applicable, the competent authority has decided that collection and treatment of leachate is not necessary or it has been established that the waste facility poses no potential hazard to soil, groundwater or surface water, the requirements set out in points (b), (c) and (d) of paragraph 1 may be reduced or waived accordingly.

4. Member States shall prohibit the disposal of extractive waste, whether in solid, slurry or liquid form, into any receiving body of water other than one constructed for the purpose of disposing of extractive waste, unless the operator can demonstrate a priori compliance with the relevant requirements of Directives 76/464/EEC, 80/68/EEC and 2000/60/EC.

5. In the case of excavation voids, including underground voids and back-filled surface mine voids, which are allowed to flood after closure, the operator shall take the necessary measures to prevent water status deterioration and soil pollution, and shall provide the competent authority with information on the following at least six months before the cessation of dewatering of the voids:

- (a) the layout of excavated voids, clearly marking those that are to be allowed to flood following cessation of dewatering, and geological details;
- (b) a summary of the quantity and quality of water encountered in the excavated voids during at least the last two years of working;
- (c) predictions of the impact, including location and quantity, of any future polluting discharges from the excavated voids to groundwater and surface water, and plans for the mitigation and remediation of such discharges;

6. In the case of a pond involving the presence of cyanide, the operator shall ensure that the concentration of weak acid dissociable cyanide in the pond is reduced to the lowest possible level using best available techniques and, in any case, at waste facilities which have previously been granted a permit or have already been in operation on ... () that the concentration of weak acid dissociable cyanide at the point of discharge of the tailings from the processing plant into the pond does not exceed 50 ppm as from ... (), 25 ppm as from ... (), 10 ppm as from ... () and 10 ppm at waste facilities which are granted a permit after ... (*).

(*) Date referred to in Article 25(1).

() Five years after the date referred to in Article 25(1).

() Ten years after the date referred to in Article 25(1).

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

If the competent authority so requests, the operator shall demonstrate, through a risk assessment that takes site-specific conditions into account, that those concentration limits need not be further lowered.

Article 14

Financial guarantee

1. The competent authority shall, prior to the commencement of any operations involving the accumulation or deposit of extractive waste in a waste facility, require a financial guarantee (e.g. in the form of a financial deposit, including industry-sponsored mutual guarantee funds) or equivalent, in accordance with procedures to be decided by the Member States and approved by the Commission, so that:

- (a) all obligations under the permit issued pursuant to this Directive, including after-closure provisions, are discharged;
- (b) there are funds readily available at any given time for the rehabilitation of the land within the site as well as land directly affected by the waste facility.

2. The calculation of the guarantee referred to in paragraph 1 shall be made on the basis of:

- (a) the likely environmental impact of the waste facility, taking into account in particular the category of the waste facility, the characteristics of the waste and the future use of the rehabilitated land;
- (b) the assumption that independent and suitably qualified third parties will assess and perform any rehabilitation work needed.

3. The size of the guarantee shall be periodically adjusted in accordance with any rehabilitation work needed to be carried out on the land within the site as well as land directly affected by the waste facility.

4. Where the competent authority approves closure in accordance with Article 12(3), it shall provide the operator with a written statement releasing him from the guarantee obligation referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article with the exception of after-closure obligations as referred to in Article 12(4).

Article 15

Environmental liability

The following point shall be added to Annex III of Directive 2004/35/EC as follows:

(*) OJ L ...”

Transboundary effects

1. Where a Member State in which a waste facility is situated is aware that the operation of a Category A waste facility is likely to have significant adverse effects on the environment of, and any resultant risks to human health in, another Member State, or where a Member State likely to be thus affected so requests, the Member State in whose territory the application for a permit pursuant to Article 7 was submitted shall forward the information provided pursuant to that Article to the other Member State at the same time as it makes it available to its own nationals.

Such information shall serve as a basis for any consultation necessary within the context of bilateral relations between the two Member States on a reciprocal and equivalent basis.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

2. Within the framework of their bilateral relations, Member States shall ensure that in the cases referred to in paragraph 1 the applications are also made available for an appropriate period of time to the public concerned of the Member State likely to be affected so that they will have the right to comment on them before the competent authority reaches its decision.

3. Member States shall ensure that, in the event of an accident involving a waste facility as referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article, information provided by the operator to the competent authority pursuant to Article 6(4) is immediately forwarded to the other Member State in order to help minimise the consequences of the accident for human health and to assess and minimise the extent of the actual or potential environmental damage.

Inspections by the competent authority

1. Prior to the commencement of deposit operations and at regular intervals thereafter, including the after-closure phase, to be decided by the Member State concerned, the competent authority shall inspect any waste facility covered by Article 7 in order to ensure that it complies with the relevant conditions of the permit. An affirmative finding shall in no way reduce the responsibility of the operator under the conditions of the permit.

2. Member States shall require the operator to keep up-to-date records of all waste management operations and make them available for inspection by the competent authority and to ensure that, in the event of a change of operator during the management of a waste facility, there is an appropriate transfer of relevant up-to-date information and records relating to the waste facility.

Article 18

Obligation to report

Article 21

Exchange of information

1. The Commission, assisted by the Committee referred to in Article 23, shall ensure that there is an appropriate exchange of technical and scientific information between Member States, with a view to developing methodologies relating to:

ANNEX II

WASTE CHARACTERISATION

The waste to be deposited in a facility shall be characterised in such a way as to guarantee the long-term physical and chemical stability of the structure of the facility and to prevent major accidents. The waste characterisation shall include, where appropriate and in accordance with the category of the waste facility, the following aspects:

- 1) description of expected physical and chemical characteristics of the waste to be deposited in the short and the long term, with particular reference to its stability under surface atmospheric/meteorological conditions;
- 2) classification of the waste according to the relevant entry in Decision 2000/532/EC ⁽¹⁾, with particular regard to its hazardous characteristics;
- 3) description of the chemical substances to be used during treatment of the mineral resource and their stability;
- 4) description of the method of deposition;
- 5) waste transport system to be employed.

ANNEX III

CRITERIA FOR DETERMINING THE CLASSIFICATION OF WASTE FACILITIES

A waste facility shall be classified under category A if:

- a failure or incorrect operation, e.g. the collapse of a heap or the bursting of a dam, could give rise to a major accident, on the basis of a risk assessment taking into account factors such as the present or future size, the location and the environmental impact of the waste facility; or
 - it contains waste classified as hazardous under Directive 91/689/EEC above a certain threshold; or
 - it contains substances or preparations classified as dangerous under Directives 67/548/EEC or 1999/45/EC above a certain threshold.

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Articles 13(2), 129 and 137(2) (a) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,Having regard to the opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee ⁽¹⁾,

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

Having regard to the opinion of the Committee of the Regions ⁽¹⁾,

Acting in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 251 of the Treaty ⁽²⁾,

Whereas:

- (1) The Lisbon European Council of 23 and 24 March 2000 declared the promotion of employment and social inclusion an integral part of the overall strategy of the Union in pursuing its strategic goal for the next decade of becoming the most competitive and dynamic knowledge-based economy in the world, capable of sustainable economic growth, with more and better jobs and greater social cohesion. It set ambitious objectives and targets for the EU which aimed to recreate the conditions for full employment, improve quality and productivity at work, and promote social cohesion and an inclusive labour market.
- (2) In line with the Commission's express intention of consolidating and rationalising EU funding instruments, this Decision should establish a single and streamlined programme ("the Programme") providing for the continuation and development of the activities launched on the basis of Council Decision 2000/750/EC of 27 November 2000 establishing a Community action programme to combat discrimination (2001 to 2006) ⁽³⁾, Council Decision 2001/51/EC of 20 December 2000 establishing a Programme relating to the Community framework strategy on gender equality (2001-2005) ⁽⁴⁾ and European Parliament and Council Decisions No 50/2002/EC of 7 December 2001 establishing a programme of Community action to encourage cooperation between Member States to combat social exclusion ⁽⁵⁾, No 1145/2002/EC of 10 June 2002 on Community incentive measures in the field of employment ⁽⁶⁾, and No 848/2004/EC of 29 April 2004 establishing a Community action programme to promote organisations active at European level in the field of equality between men and women ⁽⁷⁾, as well as those activities undertaken at Community level in relation to working conditions.
- (3) The Extraordinary European Council on Employment in Luxembourg in 1997 launched the European Employment Strategy (EES) to coordinate Member States' employment policies on the basis of commonly-agreed employment guidelines and recommendations. The European Employment Strategy is now the most important instrument for implementation of the employment and labour market objectives of the Lisbon Strategy.
- (4) The Lisbon European Council concluded that the number of people living below the poverty line and in social exclusion in the Union was unacceptable and therefore deemed it necessary to take steps to make decisive progress in the eradication of poverty by setting adequate objectives. Such objectives were agreed at the Nice European Council of 7, 8 and 9 December 2000. It was further agreed that policies for combating social exclusion should be based on the open method of coordination, combining national action plans and a Commission initiative for cooperation.
- (5) Demographic change represents a major long-term challenge to the ability of social protection systems to deliver reasonable pensions and high-quality health and long-term care which are accessible to all and can be funded in the long term. It is important to promote policies that can achieve both adequate social protection and the sustainability of social protection systems. The Council has decided that cooperation on social protection should be based on the open method of coordination.
- (6) Attention should be drawn to the specific situation of immigrants in this context and to the importance of taking action to transform the undeclared, and often precarious, work carried out by migrants into regular employment, so that they are able to enjoy the same social protection, benefits and working conditions as legal workers.

- (7) Ensuring minimum standards and the constant improvement of working conditions in the EU is a central feature of European social policy and an important overall objective of the European Union. The Community has an important role to play in supporting and complementing the activities of the Member States in the fields of workers' health and safety, working conditions, including the need to reconcile work and family life, protection of workers where their employment contract is terminated, information, participation and consultation of workers, representation and collective defence of the interests of workers and employers.
- (8) Non-discrimination is a fundamental principle of the European Union. Article 13 of the Treaty provides for action to combat discrimination based on sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation. Non-discrimination is also enshrined in Article 21 of the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union. The specific features of the diverse forms of discrimination should be accommodated, and appropriate action developed in parallel to prevent and combat discrimination on one or more grounds. Therefore, when considering the accessibility to, and results of, the Programme, the particular needs of people with disabilities should be taken into account in terms of ensuring their full and equal access to the activities funded by the Programme and the results and evaluation of those activities, including by the compensation of additional costs incurred by them. Experience gained over many years of combating certain forms of discrimination, including discrimination based on sex, may be useful in combating other forms of discrimination.
- (9) On the basis of Article 13 of the Treaty, the Council has adopted the following directives: Directive 2000/43/EC of 29 June 2000 implementing the principle of equal treatment between persons irrespective of racial or ethnic origin⁽¹⁾, which prohibits discrimination based on racial or ethnic origin in, inter alia, employment, vocational training, education, goods and services and social protection; Directive 2000/78/EC of 27 November 2000 establishing a general framework for equal treatment in employment and occupation⁽²⁾, which prohibits discrimination in employment and occupation on the grounds of religion or belief, disability, age and sexual orientation, and Directive 2004/113/EC of 13 December 2004 implementing the principle of equal treatment between men and women in the access to and supply of goods and services⁽³⁾.
- (10) Pursuant to Articles 2 and 3 of the Treaty, equal treatment for women and men is a fundamental principle of Community law, and the directives and other acts adopted on the basis of this principle have played a major part in improving the situation of women in the Community. Experience of action at Community level has shown that promoting gender equality in EU policies and combating discrimination in practice call for a combination of instruments, including legislation, funding tools and mainstreaming, designed to reinforce one another. In line with the principle of gender mainstreaming, equality between women and men should be taken into account in all sections and activities of the Programme.
- (11) The involvement of non-governmental organisations active at regional, national and EU levels is central to the successful implementation of the Programme's general objectives, and they should therefore play a major role, through relevant EU networks, in devising, implementing and monitoring the Programme.
- (12) Since the objectives of the proposed action cannot be sufficiently achieved by the Member States because of the need for exchange of information at EU-level and the Community-wide dissemination of good practice, and since therefore these objectives can, by reason of the multilateral dimension of the Community actions and measures, be better achieved at Community level, the Community may adopt measures in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity as set out in Article 5 of the Treaty. In accordance with the principle of proportionality as set out in that Article, this Decision does not go beyond what is necessary to achieve those objectives.

- (13) This Decision establishes a financial framework for the entire duration of the Programme which is to be the principal point of reference for the budgetary authority, within the meaning of point 33 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure ⁽¹⁾.
- (14) The measures necessary for the implementation of this Decision should be adopted in accordance with Council Decision 1999/468/EC of 28 June 1999 laying down the procedures for the exercise of implementing powers conferred on the Commission ⁽²⁾.

The principle of gender mainstreaming must be taken into account in all Programme sections and activities.

The results achieved in the Programme sections and activities shall be disseminated to those involved and to the public as appropriate. Textiles and clothing after 2005European Parliament resolution on textiles and clothing after 2005 (2004/2265(INI))

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Commission communication of 13 October 2004 entitled “Textiles and clothing after 2005 — Recommendations of the High Level Group for textiles and clothing” (COM(2004)0668),
- having regard to the Commission Notice on the application of Article 10a of Council Regulation (EEC) No 3030/93 concerning a textiles-specific safeguard clause⁽¹⁾,
- having regard to the Commission communication of 29 October 2003 on “The future of the textiles and clothing sector in the enlarged European Union” (COM(2003)0649),
- having regard to the Commission communication of 11 December 2002 entitled “Industrial Policy in an Enlarged Europe” (COM(2002)0714),
- having regard to the Commission communication on a “Plan of action to increase the competitiveness of the European textile and clothing industry” (COM(1997)0454 — C4-0626/1997),
- having regard to the Commission report entitled “The impact of the internal market on the employment of women in the textile and clothing industries”⁽²⁾,

⁽²⁾ Social Europe, Supplement 2/91.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

- having regard to the Commission's "Guidelines for Member States" Employment Policies (COM(1997) 0497),
 - having regard to its resolution of 14 November 1996 on the impact of international developments on the Community's textile and clothing sector ⁽¹⁾,
 - having regard to its resolution of 10 April 1992 on a Community initiative to assist areas highly dependent on the textiles and clothing industry — RETEX ⁽²⁾,
 - having regard to its resolution of 11 October 1990 on the possible renewal of the Multifibre Arrangement or the subsequent regime after 1991 ⁽³⁾,
 - having regard to Rule 45 of its Rules of Procedure,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on International Trade and the opinions of the Committee on Employment and Social Affairs, the Committee on Industry, Research and Energy, the Committee on Regional Development and the Committee on Legal Affairs (A6-0193/2005),
- A. whereas the Union's textile and clothing industry, which mostly consists of small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), and which is highly labour-intensive, is a key sector that can look forward to a promising future if social and environmental rules, and guarantees of compliance with them, are brought in at the same time as markets are opened up, and if innovation takes place,
- B. whereas because import quotas have been definitively abolished, the industry has had to contend since 1 January 2005 with soaring imports, not least from China, which have entailed unprecedented job losses both within the EU and in developing countries which traditionally supply the EU such as Sri Lanka, Morocco, etc.,
- C. notes that the abolition of quotas in the textile and clothing sector could have harmful consequences in the least-favoured regions, possibly contributing to a reduction in regional per capita GDP, a situation which justifies an adequate response;
- D. whereas the central problem concerning trade with China is that China is by no means a free market and that most textile firms are still State-owned, receive interest-free loans via State banks, as well as systematic export subsidies, covert State aid and free electricity, which does not amount to a smooth functioning of the market,
- E. pointing out that simultaneous massive reductions in the prices of particular product groups can indeed benefit European consumers, but that the combination of record imports and low prices may confront the indigenous clothing industry with an almost impossible task,
- F. whereas it is up to firms to tackle the challenges related to liberalisation but it is the task of public authorities to establish the conditions whereby firms can be competitive and markets genuinely opened up across the board, on a basis of reciprocity,
- G. recognising that China is well able to compete in many textile and clothing industry product groups and in many ways has developed its strengths (mass production, low wages) in close cooperation with the European industry,
- H. whereas there is a need to prevent the least developed countries (LDCs) from being the big losers in the ongoing liberalisation and to ensure that the working conditions and standard of living for their labour forces do not worsen, and whereas in poorer countries between 70 and 80 percent of the workers in the clothing sector are women,

⁽³⁾ OJ C 284, 12.11.1990, p. 147.

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

- I. whereas when China joined, the members of the World Trade Organization (WTO) were authorised to lay down special safeguard provisions, to apply until the end of 2008, enabling quantitative restrictions to be imposed on Chinese exports if, for example, the market were to be disrupted or the "orderly development of trade" impeded,
 - J. whereas 70 % of all counterfeit goods dumped on the European market come from China, and half of all European customs procedures against counterfeiting relate to textiles and clothing, with nearly 5 million counterfeit articles and accessories of clothing being confiscated by customs annually,
 - K. having regard to the social and economic cost of piracy and counterfeiting and their harmful effects on creativity and innovation, particularly for European textile firms which have in recent years concentrated increasingly on products with a higher added value, and which are thus seeing inroads made into their creativity and innovation, one of the last areas in which the European textile sector had a clear advantage,
 - L. whereas, as the Barcelona Process approaches its tenth anniversary, the time has come to act to build a close relationship between the two shores of the Mediterranean and widen the range of winning strategies for sustainable development and to boost national and regional markets in this region, and ensure effective solidarity in the spirit of joint development,
 - M. whereas Member States may not adopt measures independently because they have delegated trade policy to the exclusive competence of the EU,
 - N. seeing in bilateral agreements between the EU and China an opportunity to overcome the enormous challenges in a fair, transparent and future-facing way,
 - O. having regard to the serious social and human difficulties created by the many business closures and job losses in the textile sector, particularly in recent years and even more since the beginning of 2005, and the very disturbing forecasts by the European Apparel and Textile Association (Euratex),
 - P. taking the view that the EU's policy to date of supporting structural change has been generally successful,
 - Q. having regard to the need for State action to continue modernising and redeveloping the textile industry as well as for innovation, research, training workers and social measures to assist with changes,
 - R. whereas the regions of the EU most affected by job losses in the textile sector are often already very disadvantaged in terms of unemployment or wealth, and whereas destabilising this economic sector will only increase inequalities among different areas in the EU,
1. Expresses its concern at the abnormally high growth in the amount of non-EU textile products, especially from China, imported into the EU since the WTO Agreement on Textiles and Clothing expired on 1 January 2005 and quotas were abolished, a fact which, combined with the prospect of still greater increases, will have far-reaching implications for employment in the European textile and clothing industry, a strategic sector with great potential for the future and marked by a high level of regional concentration, and one which consists primarily of small- and micro-scale enterprises and a predominantly female workforce;
 2. Calls on the Commission to encourage all the WTO countries, apart from the most vulnerable developing countries, to use the Doha Development Agenda negotiations to secure reciprocal, fair and comparable market access conditions for large-scale textile and clothing producers and recognition of ethical, social and environmental clauses;
 3. Calls on the Commission to carry out a study on the way in which the gradual liberalisation of the sector within the framework of the WTO is affecting economic, social and territorial cohesion, particularly in the less-favoured regions which are heavily dependent on the sector;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

4. Calls on the Commission to step up economic and political pressure on third countries with the objective of achieving the progressive implementation of social and ecological standards in those countries;
5. Calls on the WTO to do away more quickly with non-tariff barriers to trade and harmonise the technical rules, for example by applying the principle of mutual recognition;
6. Calls on the Commission to draw up its future mandate for trade negotiations in such a way that trade can be organised to allow improvement of working conditions, protection and improvement of social rights and effective environmental protection;
7. Calls on the Commission to exert political and economic pressure to bring about the relaxation of the artificially undervalued Chinese currency, which is at odds with the gradual liberalisation of world trade;
8. Calls on the Commission to simplify the procedures designed to make anti-dumping arrangements easier for SMEs to use and calls for the anti-dumping procedure to be made more transparent;
9. Insists that the Commission enforce the Regulation on barriers to trade when unfair practices are detected, and provide itself with an effective monitoring instrument enabling it systematically to identify such practices and to activate the necessary retaliatory measures very rapidly;
10. Stresses that world trade, including trade with China, can only be regarded as a "challenge" rather than as a "threat" by the European textile sector if there is a level playing field and both sides play according to the rules of trade, which has hitherto certainly not been the case;
11. Takes note of the "Memorandum of Understanding" concluded between the Commission and China on 10 June 2005, with regard to the limitation of certain Chinese textile exports; however, calls on the Commission and the Council to extend the coverage of that agreement to other categories of textiles where necessary and to ensure transparency as to the basis for the calculation of the export limitations; insists that the safeguard clauses be applied in the event of an inappropriate application of the agreement;
12. Urges the Commission to remain vigilant in the face of the implications of the safeguard measures taken by the United States on textiles and clothing, and particularly on China's distortion of trade in textiles and clothing;
13. Calls on the Commission and the Member States actively to support research, innovation and lifelong vocational training through specific measures within the framework of the EU Funds, with the aim of strengthening competition in the EU textile and clothing sector and more particularly in SMEs affected by the abolition of quotas since 1 January 2005, and providing assistance to SMEs in order to alleviate the consequences of production transfers;
14. Stresses that, as well as the interests of European manufacturing industry, the long-term interests of European importers must also be taken into account;
15. Urges the Commission at the same time to protect intellectual property rights more securely in accordance with the WTO TRIPS Agreement so as to enable effective steps to be taken to combat counterfeiting and piracy; calls also on the Commission to take a forceful attitude so as to ensure compliance with the TRIPS Agreement (in particular Article 25(2) thereof) as regards textile designs and models on markets outside the Community, and to provide for strict retaliatory measures in the event of non-compliance; considers that appropriate measures should also be taken against those who are complicit in counterfeiting and piracy;
16. In this regard, considers that there is a need to go further than measures to raise awareness and inform enterprises within the China-Europe working group, and for the Commission to be able to ensure that China imposes more severe penalties on counterfeiters and pirates;
17. Points to the importance of consolidating the principle of corporate social responsibility, strict respect for International Labour Organization rules and conventions and international conventions on the environment and human rights, ensuring sustainable development by incorporating these principles into EU bilateral and multilateral trade agreements;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

18. Urges the Commission to promote increased transparency about all production sites of textile and clothing products which involve European companies, and the labour standards applied at these sites;
19. Calls on the Commission to upgrade the institutional framework of the WTO and bilateral trade agreements with a view to combating effectively all modern forms of slavery, child labour and exploitation and above all exploitation women working in the textile and clothing sector in third countries, to ensure compliance with the fundamental rights of workers and prevent social dumping;
20. Calls on China as a member of the ILO to comply with the agreed labour directives and basic environmental imperatives, and to punish infringements;
21. Calls on the Commission to launch an ambitious initiative at international level to achieve a better balance in the competences, power and strength of the various international organisations and calls for effective implementation of the treaties on social rights, human rights and environmental protection;
22. Maintains that support for the adaptation of the sector must be regarded as an objective of EU policy, including EU structural policy;
23. Is aware of the fact that the safeguard provisions, the immediate application of which is being called for as provided for under the WTO rules, apply only temporarily; calls on the Commission to develop a transitional practical plan to assist restructuring and retraining for the entire textile and clothing sector, with a view to safeguarding its future and its competitiveness on international markets;
24. Stresses the need to consider a transitional approach for the sector at Community level and urges the Commission to take this into account, given the exceptional nature and the urgency of the challenges facing the sector; also points out that social dialogue has a key role to play in matters related to modernisation and to finding ways to accommodate the changes needed to make the sector competitive;
25. Calls on the Commission to propose that any enterprise wishing to export to the EU must declare its respect for international social and environmental rights, and that any imports into the EU of products that infringe such rights, particularly products made by prisoners, children or forced labour by workers without trade union rights will be prohibited;
26. Stresses the importance of introducing mandatory origin and producer-name labelling for products in this sector to enable consumers to be aware of the origin of products;
27. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to take stronger measures to combat the phenomenon of counterfeiting textile and clothing products and to protect European consumers;
28. Calls, therefore, on the Commission to propose an amendment to Council Regulation (EEC) No 2913/92 of 12 October 1992 establishing the Community Customs Code⁽¹⁾ with a view to introducing customs checks to identify products accompanied by false declarations of origin;
29. Calls for the EU to maintain, after 2006, the European Structural Funds in all European textile-producing regions, intended to provide aid for research, innovation, vocational training and SMEs;
30. Calls on the Commission to use any reserve in the Structural Funds for resolving unexpected local and sectoral crises and for facilitating business start-ups and supporting SMEs in the affected regions, in order to encourage job creation in other sectors;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

31. Repeats its view that EU support for companies under the numerous opportunities offered by the Structural Funds should depend on specific commitments regarding employment and local and regional development which accord with the thinking behind the Lisbon strategy;
32. Calls on the Commission to conduct a new study to determine what measures might be taken to support the textile industry in developing countries and LDCs, for which textile exports are vital, to increase their production and boost their national and regional markets;
33. Urges that the requisite facilities be set up in LDCs to improve their capacity to compete on international textile markets and to promote regional cooperation;
34. Recognises that liberalisation affects men and women differently, and that the risk of collapse of the clothing industry in many poor countries after the abolition of the quotas risks severely weakening the position of women in those countries;
35. Points out, as regards the GSP, that, to preserve the production and export capacity of the most vulnerable countries, preferences must continue to operate in their favour, in line with Parliament's above-mentioned resolution, which envisages graduation mechanisms to withdraw tariff advantages from products originating in a beneficiary country which has reached a high level of competitiveness in a given section, precisely with the aim of helping the most vulnerable countries in the world textile and clothing trade;
36. Advocates a Euro-Mediterranean partnership to boost cooperation in, and the competitiveness of, the sector by means of a pro-active policy in support of training, R & D, technological innovation, the dissemination of good practice, and the exchange of market intelligence; recommends that a Euro-Mediterranean network of schools, training institutes, and technical centres with expertise in the textile and clothing sector be set up to promote technical partnership, training, and joint research programmes;
37. Calls on the Commission, in line with the criteria set out in its Communication of 16 March 2005 entitled "The rules of origin in preferential trade arrangements — Orientations for the future (COM(2005) 0100), to consider carefully how the rules might be simplified and made more flexible and the need for more effective monitoring of their application to prevent preferences being misused; and hopes that the new regulations will guarantee compliance with these rules and fulfilment of the commitments made to the Euro-Mediterranean area; urges that an impact study be conducted of the simplified preferential rules of origin for the textile and clothing industry sector in the EU and the LDCs;"
38. Urges the Commission to take rapid action and make an immediate commitment with a view to the setting-up of a consolidated market under the Euro-Mediterranean association agreements and to the rapid conclusion and effective implementation of bilateral agreements between Mediterranean countries so as to facilitate the free movement of goods within the Euro-Mediterranean area as a whole; advocates the establishment of a common customs framework for the area;
39. Points out that lack of access to funding and the unsuitability of some financial instruments continue to be a major barrier to SMEs in the sector, as well as in many other sectors of the European economy; calls on the Commission to examine relevant measures and incentives to keep part of the production chain in the countries of the Euro-Mediterranean area, the enlargement countries, and the countries covered by the European Neighbourhood and Partnership policies;
40. Calls for the outcome of discussions among the Member States to be such as to enable cumulation of origin to be applied sooner to all vulnerable countries and the countries of the southern Mediterranean;
41. Calls for a Euro-Mediterranean production area to be established, since this is the only way to ensure that countries on the southern as well as the northern shore of the Mediterranean will be able to stand firm against the American and Asian regional blocs and protect industrial manufacturing and jobs; considers that specific European appropriations are needed to support programmes for research, innovation or cooperation in this connection;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

42. Calls on the Commission to study carefully the effects of the new policy on chemical substances (REACH) on the sector, particularly its impact on competitiveness, focusing more specifically on SMEs, and to adapt the proposals in such a way that imported goods do not have an advantage over those produced in the EU;
43. Urges the Commission to study all the parameters related to REACH, particularly the implications in terms of increased costs, capacity for innovation and impact on competition between products manufactured in the EU and products imported from third countries, which must be subject to a detailed impact study taking account of the effects on SMEs;
44. Calls on the Commission to explore instruments for the support of the Mediterranean clothing industry and its integration in measures designed to strengthen a Euro-Mediterranean production area in the sector of textiles and clothing;
45. Calls for a European textile plan to be established defining a specific budget for research, innovation, training and support for SMEs and also for renovating sites and retraining workers, considers it essential to promote European social dialogue and consultation with both sides of industry to establish and follow up this plan;
46. Considers it essential to take measures in support of technological innovation and welcomes the launch of the European Technology Platform for textiles and clothing, which will draw up a long-term and innovative strategy for increasing the global competitiveness of the sector and encourage and coordinate research and development efforts;
47. Greatly welcomes the report of the EU "Textiles and Clothing" High-Level Group entitled "The Challenge of 2005 — European Textiles and Clothing in a quota free environment" of 30 June 2004⁽¹⁾ in view both of the substance of its recommendations and of its realistic reading of the situation in the sector and its strategy proposal;
48. Calls on the Commission to ensure that the 7th Framework Programme of Research and Development focuses more closely on SMEs and helps to overcome the problems of transferring R & D to companies; calls in addition for favourable conditions to be established so that research and innovation can become a constant of business operations, whatever the size of company concerned;
49. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to adopt incentives and specific aid programmes to encourage SMEs in the textile and clothing sector to invest in their own R & D and non-technological innovation activities; points to the importance of investment in non-technological research and calls on the Commission to revise the legislation on State aid so as to enable investment in this category to be treated in the same way as R & D investment;
50. Urges regional and national authorities, working in close collaboration with economic and social players, to draw up local strategy plans for areas which are centres of the textile industry;
51. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council and Commission.

- A. whereas the Lisbon strategy seeks to reinforce the innovative capacity of European industry and to make the EU the most competitive and dynamic knowledge-based economy in the world,
- B. whereas the audiovisual sector is characterised both by technological innovation and by its social, economic and cultural impact,
- C. whereas one of the EU's priorities is to defend the specific nature of cultural goods, including those in the audiovisual sector, within the World Trade Organization (WTO); whereas the Commission regrettably failed observe that principle by proposing to bring the audiovisual sector within the scope of the proposal for a directive on services in the internal market,
- D. whereas the movement of European works and the works of independent producers is essential in order to promote cultural diversity, freedom of expression and pluralism,
- E. whereas the Directive, which was enacted in the context of the single market, must take greater account of aspirations relating to a Community area of law, citizenship and political union,
- F. whereas the Directive is also obsolete in the light of the rapid development of new technology, which will soon result in unlimited supply in the context of the European audiovisual landscape, making it necessary to adapt the rules which it lays down to technological developments,
- G. whereas it is the responsibility of the Member States and their national competent authorities to apply the Directive, although the Commission plays an essential evaluating and supervisory role, with which Parliament, national parliaments, national regulatory authorities and public opinion must all be associated,
- H. whereas the Directive, forming a flexible framework which has permitted the application of rules by the Member States and self-regulation by the audiovisual industry, plays an important role in establishing a minimum framework,
- I. concerned to note that certain provisions in the Directive (on quotas, advertising, etc.) are inadequately applied and observed in certain Member States due to a lack of appropriate monitoring,
- J. whereas the growth in the number and diversity of the services on offer must go hand in hand with access for all,

Application of Articles 4 and 5 of the Directive

1. Notes that the above-mentioned Commission communication on the future of European regulatory audiovisual policy highlights positive results and that the indicators, in all but a few cases, show an increase in the scheduling of European works; notes that the quotas for the broadcasting of European works and works of independent producers have broadly been met; notes that the Commission considers that the objectives of the Directive have been achieved; encourages Member States, however, to strengthen their efforts with regard to broadcasting of European and independently-produced programmes;
2. Regrets the fact that over the reference period analysed in the Commission's 6th report on the application of Articles 4 and 5 (COM(2004)0524), the proportion of independent productions has declined by 3.48 % in four years (page 7 of the report);
3. Notes that major discrepancies among the methods of applying and interpreting the provisions of the Directive make it impossible accurately to reflect the situation, as the findings of the independent audits have shown; recommends that the Commission establish and forward to the Member States a standard grid making it possible to obtain comparable results; stresses the urgency of analysing the results from the new Member States; proposes that this standard grid also include data on services to assist the disabled;
4. Stresses that a more consistent indicator to measure compliance with Article 5 would be to base the 10 % quota on value (rather than on qualifying hours), thus removing the inconsistencies observed among the Member States as to what counts as qualifying hours;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

5. Regrets that some Member States have still not provided all the relevant information, particularly as regards satellite and/or cable TV channels, which are often omitted from national reports; considers that the Commission has a responsibility to ensure that the Member States comply with their obligations and that it should do more than merely stress that the notification requirement applies to all television programmes under the jurisdiction of a Member State; and calls on the Commission and the competent national authorities to impose clear sanctions in the event of persistent failure to comply with the relevant provisions or with the obligation to supply information;
6. Regrets that in certain Member States the application of quotas is calculated by broadcaster and not by channel, which is in breach of the principles of the Directive, such breach being particularly serious in Member States where there is a high concentration of broadcasters;
7. Calls for the discretion which the Member States are allowed in applying Article 4 to be at least compensated for by the communication of public, accurate and transparent indicators;
8. Believes that the differing interpretations among Member States of the concepts of "European work" and "independent producer" could be avoided if the Commission, in the context of the revision of the Directive, gave a more precise definition of the concepts of "independent producer", "European work" and "thematic channel"; considers also that this would offer greater legal certainty in the application of the Directive;
9. Notes that the quotas for "European works" are mainly filled by national works and supports voluntary initiatives for further quotas for non-national European works;
10. Stresses the importance of strengthening the MEDIA programme, pointing out that the objective behind its inception and its renewal is, and should continue to be, to support independent producers and small and medium-sized enterprises;
11. Stresses the importance of strengthening this programme as an essential tool of European audiovisual policy for professional training and support for the distribution, broadcasting and movement of cinematographic works; encourages the Member States to open up their educational systems to a knowledge of the European film heritage, the languages, cultures, tastes, histories and experiences of the peoples of Europe;
12. Recalls the importance, for the movement of European works, of European co-productions and common marketing strategies; notes that the European audiovisual space is better exploited by United States producers than by Europeans themselves — even though Europeans produce more documentaries and fiction — owing to the lack of an integrated and globalised European industry; considers that the imbalance in the movement of audiovisual works could jeopardise cultural diversity;
13. Considers that, to enable the European audiovisual industry to compete with the United States industry, European efforts should be geared much more towards promotion;
14. Draws the Commission's attention to the fact that, in the face of the onslaught by production groups on European markets, it seems essential to encourage aid for uniquely European content and to develop such content by establishing a link with sources of finance;
15. Recalls the importance of giving the greatest possible number of European citizens access in as many languages as possible to pan-European channels such as Arte and Euronews or other similar initiatives; calls on the Commission and the Member States to support Europe-wide information about, and the broadcasting of, European cultural events, by also providing formats accessible to the disabled (i.e. with audio-description, subtitling and sign language);
16. Stresses that methods of qualitative analysis must be established as a matter of priority covering the cultural content of European audiovisual production and recalls the importance of the RTD Framework Programme;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

Revision of the Directive

17. Stresses that the audiovisual sector contributes to technological innovation, economic growth and job creation; considers it also to be an important instrument for the functioning of the single market; believes that it is also of critical importance to the functioning of democracy, provided there is diversity of input and opinion, pluralism and cultural diversity; considers that, precisely in order to maintain such democratic values and freedom of expression and opinion, measures are needed to regulate the protection of the right to one's own image;

18. Asserts that the European audiovisual model must be founded on a balance between a strong, independent and pluralistic public service sector and a dynamic and equally pluralistic commercial sector, both of which are directly and indirectly creators of jobs; considers that the continued existence of this model is essential to the vitality and quality of creative work and requires a legislative framework to ensure respect for the rights of Europeans;

19. Stresses that universal public access to high-quality and diverse content is becoming ever more crucial against a background of technological change and increased concentration in an ever more competitive and globalised environment; considers that public broadcasting services are essential in forming opinion in a democratic manner and allowing people to experience and familiarise themselves with cultural diversity, and that such services must have equal opportunities of priority access to the market, including in new media services;

20. Considers that the Directive needs to be revised in order to tackle structural changes; considers that such a revision must not call into question the fundamental principles of the Directive — free movement of European broadcasts, free access to major events, promotion of European works and recent independent productions, protection of minors and public policy, consumer protection, right of reply — but rather must adapt them to the new challenges without losing sight of the need for quality and economic vitality in the sector;

21. Recommends that a safeguard clause be included expressly to establish respect for Member States competence in the fields of culture and the media;

22. Considers that the revision of the Directive should ensure the development of new technologies and new services, in order to secure the growth of the European economy in accordance with the Lisbon strategy;

23. Notes that the Commission has for some years been conducting a public consultation around a new directive which it intends to present at the end of 2005; notes that the British Presidency of the Council will be holding a conference in Liverpool on the revision of the Directive; calls for Parliament to be fully involved in all stages of the proceedings;

24. Fears that, on such an important subject, the debate and consultation will give preference to economic considerations and inter-governmental relations; is aware that the market alone will not resolve the problems and that the institutions must respond to the concerns of Europeans about the cultural content of television;

25. Calls on the Commission to ensure that independent producers are in a position to retain the rights in their productions and make it easier for them to uphold their intellectual property rights so as to improve their ability to attract private investment;

26. Is concerned about the pressure to reduce regulation in this sector and recalls that the Directive establishes minimum standards which have not succeeded in preventing a deterioration in the quality of programmes;

27. Notes the role of advertising in the funding of certain general-interest TV channels and its effect on scheduling; notes however that in some countries there remain such serious shortcomings in the application of the articles restricting the duration of advertisements that it has become difficult to maintain strict separation between advertising and editorial content, to the detriment of the cultural integrity of the works;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

28. Underlines the need to define clearly the content and regulation of advertising, in particular that relating to alcohol, which has a particularly harmful effect on children and vulnerable people; recalls that the protection of minors must remain a priority objective of audiovisual policy and a fundamental principle which ought to be extended to all audiovisual services made available to the public;
29. Emphasises, therefore, the need to preserve the rules limiting the opportunities for advertisement breaks during audiovisual works;
30. Stresses that the revision of the Directive must make it possible to lay down legal obligations and set out a firm political will to ensure strict separation between editorial and artistic content on the one hand and commercial promotion on the other;
31. Calls for the revised Directive to impose on Member States and their competent authorities more effective mechanisms to ensure the observance and monitoring of the legislation and the imposition of the sanctions provided for, particularly as regards quotas and advertising;
32. Notes that digitisation and interactivity represent opportunities both for the industry and for consumers, but that more choice does not necessarily equate with better quality or a greater proportion of European works; notes the risk of a two-speed audiovisual sector emerging;
33. Observes that new forms of television have been introduced, for example television via ADSL networks, via the Internet and via mobile phone; considers that, in order to avoid any distortion of competition between the different forms of television available today, the application of the Directive to these new forms of television should be clarified as part of the revision process;
34. Notes that extending the scope of the Directive should not prevent the strengthening of the European model founded on freedom of movement, high quality, public service, the general interest and respect for European values;
35. Stresses the need for European legislation to be so far as possible independent of audiovisual technology; calls for such legislation to state clearly that public service providers may make use of all new technologies and new media, such as the Internet and WAP services, without thereby infringing the rules of the internal market;
36. Welcomes, in the light of technological developments (such as growing convergence and digitisation), the Commission's announcement, in connection with the revision of the Directive, of a proposal to broaden its scope to cover all services based on the principle of a graduated form of regulation;
37. Considers that, if the scope of the Directive is extended to cover new services, the Directive should ensure that these services, too, abide by the principles of promoting European works and independent European productions; is aware that the mechanisms provided for under Articles 4 and 5 relating to traditional services are not suited to the new services and calls on the Commission to lay down obligations relating to investment (production or purchase), to offering European content and to providing access to this content;
38. Considers that, in order to ensure cultural diversity, measures should be laid down to promote European works for new services, such as video on demand;
39. Stresses the urgent need, in the light of digital technology, to make radical changes to the approach taken until now in Community legislation, based on a distinction between content and "infrastructure";
40. Stresses the need both to reinforce the monitoring of non-EU channels under the jurisdiction of a Member State in accordance with Article 2 of the Directive which broadcast programmes inciting to racial and religious hatred, and to improve coordination between Member States in this area;

It-Tlieta, 6 ta' Settembru 2005

41. Calls for particular attention to be paid to access to programmes for persons with visual or hearing impairments; proposes that Member States submit data to the Commission each year on the percentage of their total programme output carrying services to assist the disabled (i.e. subtitling, audio-description and sign language) on both their public service and commercial channels and draw up national action plans to increase the availability of such services and make them easier to access on TV equipment;
42. Asks the Council and the Commission, within the framework of the information society, to develop and to implement media literacy programmes to promote active and aware citizenship in Europe;
43. Stresses the importance of the working party of national regulators and calls for Parliament to be involved in it as an observer;
44. Proposes the holding of a European Audiovisual and Media Year, involving the institutions, political parties, civil society and the audiovisual sector, with a view to drawing up a "European Innovation Pact" guaranteeing a balance between competitiveness, high quality, culture and pluralism;

Pluralism and concentration

45. Is alarmed at the tendency towards (vertical and horizontal) concentration of the media in certain Member States, which poses a threat to democracy and a risk to cultural diversity and could accentuate tendencies towards the extreme commercialisation of the audiovisual sector and the hegemony of certain national products over those with narrower linguistic areas and smaller production;
46. Stresses that particular care should be paid, in order to ensure pluralism of opinion and diversity in programme distribution, to preventing, when drafting Community or national regulations on digital switch-over, the majority of new digital distribution services from falling under the control or decisive influence of large, capital-rich, multinational media groups — particularly those with interests outside the EU;
47. Stresses that competition and competition law are not enough to ensure media pluralism; considers that pluralism is based on respect for and promotion of diversity of points of view across all media, through the recognition of editorial independence, both in the public and the commercial sectors, and through the authority and independence of the regulatory authorities;
48. Is concerned about patterns of concentration of advertising in some Member States;
49. Stresses that the fragmentation of the European audiovisual markets into national markets does not reduce the risks of media concentration at European level, and that a violation of freedom of expression and respect for pluralism and diversity as a result of media concentration in a Member State also constitutes a risk factor for the Community institutional and democratic order;
50. Calls on those Member States, both old and new, which are experiencing rapid development in the sector, to examine and strengthen, if necessary, national rules or measures to restrict concentration of media ownership and to respect the independence of the regulatory authorities; considers that the Commission's role in supervising, exchanging information and comparing legislation should be strengthened; reminds the Commission of its request to draw up a Green Paper on the degree of media concentration in Europe, which would allow a broad debate to be launched on the subject, and of its wish to include in the revised Directive an agreement on the diversification of media ownership and control;
51. Observes that, since cultural diversity and the freedom and pluralism of the media remain the most important elements of the European audiovisual model, these three values are essential prerequisites for cultural exchange and democracy; considers that the revised Directive should accordingly include provisions to uphold and protect freedom of expression and media pluralism;

TESTI ADOTTATI (1)P6_TA(2005)0323*Mobilisation of the flexibility instrument (Tsunami)

European Parliament resolution on the proposal for a decision of the European Parliament and of the Council on the mobilisation of the flexibility instrument in favour of the rehabilitation and reconstruction assistance to Tsunami affected countries according to point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 (SEC(2005)0548 — C6-0127/2005 — 2005/2083(ACI))

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Commission proposal (SEC(2005)0548 — C6-0127/2005),
 - having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure⁽²⁾,
 - having regard to the outcome of the trilogue of 11 July 2005,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Budgets (A6-0254/2005),
- A. whereas the possibility of an EU contribution to the reconstruction of the Tsunami-affected countries was absolutely unforeseeable when the financial perspectives were adopted on 6 May 1999,
- B. whereas the pledge of EUR 350 million made by the Commission on behalf of the European Union at the Jakarta Tsunami Aid Conference of 6 January 2005 to set up the Community's contribution to the Tsunami-affected countries' rehabilitation and reconstruction was preceded by prior consultation of the budgetary authority,
- C. whereas the Parliament entered an amount of EUR 123 million as emergency aid in the 2005 budget for the Tsunami-affected countries without reducing the funding for existing policies,
- D. recalling that, according to point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999, the portion of the annual amount which is not used may be carried over up to the year n+2 and that, if the instrument is mobilised, any carryovers will be drawn on in order of age; taking the view, therefore, that the mobilised amount of EUR 15 million is coming from the amount carried over from the year 2004; noting also that, after this mobilisation, the amount remaining available for 2005 under the flexibility instrument will be EUR 293 million,
- E. recalling that, on 7 January 2005, the Council committed to ensuring that any resources released in this context are additional to commitments already made,
1. Stresses that the mobilisation of the flexibility instrument provided for in point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 was decided in December 2004 for 2005, as the necessary funding to face international crises since 2000 could not be provided within the initial ceilings of heading 4 of the financial perspective;
2. Is willing to provide the European Union with the means appropriate to assuming its new responsibilities in the world, without affecting its traditional priorities;
3. Approves, therefore, the decision, annexed to this resolution, to further mobilise the flexibility instrument provided for in point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement;

(2) OJ C 172 of 18.6.1999, p. 1. Agreement amended by Decision 2003/429/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council (OJ L 147, 14.6.2003, p. 25).

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

4. Nevertheless criticises the Council's unwillingness to mobilise the flexibility instrument in the amount of EUR 98 million, as proposed by the Commission, which delayed adoption of the decision to mobilise the flexibility instrument;
5. Instructs its President to forward this resolution, including the Annex, to the Council and to the Commission for information.

ANNEXDECISION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL*of 7 September 2005

on the mobilisation of the flexibility instrument in favour of the rehabilitation and reconstruction assistance to Tsunami affected countries
according to point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure⁽¹⁾, and in particular point 24 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Whereas:

The Budget Authority has agreed to support the rehabilitation and reconstruction needs in the earthquake/Tsunami affected countries (mainly Indonesia, Sri Lanka and the Maldives,) for a total amount of EUR 350 million, of which EUR 170 million in 2005, part of the required response will be delivered by redefining indicative and not yet committed programmes for the region in agreement with the governments concerned (EUR 60 million), by recourse to the Rapid Reaction Mechanism (EUR 12 million) and by the mobilisation of the emergency reserve (EUR 70 million). Since the ceiling for Heading 4: "External actions" is already exceeded by EUR 100 million in 2005, and all possibilities for re-allocating appropriations under this heading have been examined, EUR 15 million will be financed by an additional deployment of the flexibility instrument.

HAVE DECIDED AS FOLLOWS:

Article 1

For the amending budget No 4/2005 to the general budget of the European Union for the financial year 2005, the flexibility instrument shall be used to provide the sum of EUR 15 000 000 in commitment appropriations.

This amount shall be used for the financing of the aid for rehabilitation and reconstruction of the earthquake/Tsunami affected countries in Asia, covered by Heading 4 "External actions" of the financial perspective, under the article 19 10 04 "Rehabilitation and reconstruction operations in developing countries in Asia" of the 2005 budget.

Having regard to Council Regulation (EC) No 2012/2002 of 11 November 2002 establishing the European Union Solidarity Fund⁽²⁾,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Whereas:

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Commission proposal to the European Parliament and the Council (COM(2004) 0666 — C6-0219/2004),
 - having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure⁽¹⁾,
 - having regard to the outcome of the conciliation meeting of 15 July 2005 with the Council,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Budgets (A6-0252/2005),
- A. whereas Council Regulation (EC) No 1782/2003 of 29 September 2003 establishing common rules for direct support schemes under the common agricultural policy and establishing certain support schemes for farmers and amending Regulations (EEC) No 2019/93, (EC) No 1452/2001, (EC) No 1453/2001, (EC) No 1454/2001, (EC) 1868/94, (EC) No 1251/1999, (EC) No 1254/1999, (EC) No 1673/2000, (EEC) No 2358/71 and (EC) No 2529/2001⁽²⁾ provides for a reduction in direct payments (“modulation”) to finance rural development policy,
- B. whereas as a result, part of the commitment appropriations currently foreseen for direct payments under subheading 1a “Common Agricultural Policy” of the financial perspective will be transferred to subheading 1b “Rural development”,
- C. whereas this transfer will have no effect on the overall ceiling of heading 1 “Agriculture” since modulation simply implies a zero-sum shift between its two subheadings,
- D. whereas the Commission proposal had to be modified to reflect the outcome of the conciliation meetings of 25 November 2004 and 15 July 2005,
1. Stresses its willingness to allow the transfer of funds from subheading 1a to subheading 1b, in line with the adopted reform of the Common Agricultural Policy, through a formal revision of the subceilings according to the procedures set out in the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999;
 2. Approves the decision annexed to this resolution, including the tables of the financial perspective as revised;

DECISION OF THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND OF THE COUNCIL of 7 September 2005

on the revision of the financial perspective 2000-2006

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community,

Having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure⁽¹⁾, and in particular to points 19, 20 and 21 thereof,

Having regard to Decision 2003/430/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 19 May 2003 on the revision of the financial perspective⁽²⁾,

Having regard to the proposals from the Commission,

Acting in accordance with the procedure laid down in the fifth subparagraph of Article 272(9) of the Treaty⁽³⁾,

Whereas:

The reform of the common agricultural policy adopted by the Council in September 2003⁽⁴⁾ provides for a reduction in direct payments ("modulation") to finance rural development policy to achieve a better balance between policy tools designed to promote sustainable agriculture and those designed to promote rural development and to finance additional rural development measures. The financial perspective set out in Annex I to the Interinstitutional Agreement on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure as revised by Decision 2003/430/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council⁽²⁾ hereinafter referred to as the "financial perspective", should therefore be modified to take into account the effect of "modulation" for the year 2006. As a consequence, commitment appropriations from subheading 1a "Common Agricultural Policy" can be used to finance additional measures under subheading 1b "Rural development", with no change in the ceiling of heading 1 "Agriculture".

HAVE DECIDED AS FOLLOWS:

Article 1

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 272(4), penultimate subparagraph, thereof,
 - having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Atomic Energy Community, and in particular Article 177 thereof,
 - having regard to Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002 of 25 June 2002 on the Financial Regulation applicable to the general budget of the European Communities⁽¹⁾, and in particular Articles 37 and 38 thereof,
 - having regard to the general budget of the European Union for the financial year 2005, as finally adopted on 16 December 2004⁽²⁾,
 - having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure⁽³⁾,
 - having regard to the decision of the European Parliament and of the Council of 7 September 2005 on the mobilisation of the flexibility instrument in favour of the rehabilitation and reconstruction assistance to Tsunami affected countries according to point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999,
 - having regard to Preliminary draft amending budget No 3/2005 for the financial year 2005, which the Commission presented on 27 April 2005 (SEC(2005)0548),
 - having regard to Draft amending budget No 4/2005, which the Council established on 15 July 2005 (11220/2005 — C6-0239/2005),
 - having regard to Rule 69 of and Annex IV to its Rules of Procedure,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Budgets (A6-0255/2005),
- A. whereas the European Union should fulfil its pledge of EUR 350 million for rehabilitation and reconstruction measures following the tsunami disaster, out of which EUR 170 million should be budgeted in 2005,
- B. whereas on 7 January 2005, the Council committed to ensuring that any resources released in this context are additional to commitments already made,
- C. whereas the Parliament, in addition to the abovementioned pledge, already entered EUR 123 million as emergency aid into the 2005 budget for the countries affected by the tsunami without reducing the existing policies,
- D. whereas a supplementary contribution of EUR 70 million will be provided by the mobilisation of the emergency reserve and the corresponding proposal for a transfer,
- E. whereas the purpose of the Draft amending budget No 4/2005 is to enter into the budget the EUR 15 million mobilised through the decision of the European Parliament and the Council on the mobilisation of the flexibility instrument,
- F. whereas, in addition, supplementary resources to an amount of EUR 60 million will be made available through a limited redeployment which shall not prejudice the existing Asia programmes,

L-Erbgħa, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

- G. whereas an amount of EUR 12 million will be financed through the rapid reaction mechanism,
- H. whereas Draft amending budget No 4/2005 also covers a modification of the remarks against budget line 19 10 04 by adding a reference to Council Regulation (EEC) No 443/92 of 25 February 1992 on financial and technical assistance to, and economic cooperation with, the developing countries in Asia and Latin America⁽¹⁾ (the ALA regulation) to allow the implementation of the proposed amount through Trust Funds and budget support,
- I. whereas Draft amending budget No 4/2005 covers as well a modification of budget line 05 08 03, to make possible the disbursement of a subsidy to the OECD for the analysis and collection of data of several third countries and New Member States,
1. Reaffirms its commitment urgently to respond to rehabilitation and reconstruction needs following the devastating tsunami of 26 December 2004;
 2. Is willing to provide the European Union with the appropriate means to face new challenges while safeguarding ongoing development programmes and without jeopardising its traditional priorities;
 3. Stresses that an initial mobilisation of the flexibility instrument in accordance with point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 was decided on in December 2004 for the year 2005 for the financing of reconstruction and rehabilitation of Iraq⁽²⁾, as the needs of facing international crises since 2000 could not be financed within the initial ceilings of heading 4 of the Financial Perspective;
 4. Agrees on a further mobilisation of the flexibility instrument for the year 2005 for an amount of EUR 15 million for the financing of the reconstruction and rehabilitation measures in the countries affected by the tsunami;
 5. Nevertheless criticises the Council's unwillingness to mobilise the flexibility instrument in the amount of EUR 98 million, as proposed by the Commission, which delayed adoption of the amending budget;
 6. Recalls that according to point 24 of the Interinstitutional Agreement the portion of the annual amount which is not used may be carried over up to the year n+2 and that if the instrument is mobilised, any carryovers will be drawn on in order of age; takes the view, therefore, that the mobilised amount of EUR 15 million comes from the amount carried over from the year 2004; notes also that after this mobilisation the amount remaining available for 2005 under the flexibility instrument will be EUR 293 million;
 7. Recalls that the re-deployments agreed for 2005 must be re-programmed by means of an equivalent additional amount (that is, EUR 60 million) in the 2007 budget, so as to respect the commitment that resources released are additional to commitments already made;
 8. Approves Draft amending budget No 4/2005 unamended;
 9. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council and Commission.

Draft amending budget No 3/2005

European Parliament resolution on Draft amending budget No 3/2005 of the European Union for the financial year 2005 — Section III — Commission (9760/2005 — C6-0214/2005 — 2005/2102(BUD))

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 272(4), penultimate subparagraph, thereof,
 - having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Atomic Energy Community, and in particular Article 177 thereof,
 - having regard to Council Regulation (EC, Euratom) No 1605/2002 of 25 June 2002 on the Financial Regulation applicable to the general budget of the European Communities ⁽¹⁾, and in particular Articles 37 and 38 thereof,
 - having regard to the general budget of the European Union for the financial year 2005, as finally adopted on 16 December 2004 ⁽²⁾,
 - having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure ⁽³⁾,
 - having regard to the Interinstitutional Agreement of 7 November 2002 between the European Parliament, the Council and the Commission on the financing of the European Union Solidarity Fund supplementing the Interinstitutional Agreement of 6 May 1999 on budgetary discipline and improvement of the budgetary procedure ⁽⁴⁾,
 - having regard to Preliminary draft amending budget No 4/2005 of the European Union for the financial year 2005, which the Commission presented on 13 May 2005 (SEC(2005)0650),
 - having regard to Draft amending budget No 3/2005, which the Council established on 24 June 2005 (9760/2005 — C6-0214/2005),
 - having regard to Rule 69 of and Annex IV to its Rules of Procedure,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Budgets (A6-0248/2005),
- A. whereas the aim of Draft amending budget No 3/2005 is to enter in the 2005 budget the surplus of the 2004 financial year, amounting to EUR 2,7 billion,
- B. whereas this surplus consists of various elements, the most important being the over- registration in revenue of EUR 1 596 million,
- C. whereas the highest difference between result and initial budget in 2004 occurred in Agriculture with the balance of expenditure amounting to EUR 330,8 million, although this represents an improvement compared with last year of around EUR 107 million, accounting for 27,8 % of the amount underspent,
- D. whereas there have been considerable improvements in the uptake of funds in the fields of structural funds, internal policies and external actions,

1. Welcomes the positive development compared to last year, when the real surplus of the 2003 budget due to underspending amounted to nearly EUR 10 500 million taking into account the reduction of EUR 5 000 million resulting from Amending budget No 6/2003 following a large overestimation of payments in the Structural Funds;

P6_TC2-COD(1992)0449B

Position of the European Parliament adopted at second reading on 7 September 2005 with a view to the adoption of Directive 2005/.../EC of the European Parliament and of the Council on the minimum health and safety requirements regarding the exposure of workers to the risks arising from physical agents (optical radiation) (19th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 137(2) thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission⁽¹⁾, presented after consultation with the Advisory Committee on Safety and Health at Work,

Having regard to the Opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee⁽²⁾,

After consulting the Committee of the Regions,

Acting in accordance with the procedure laid down in Article 251 of the Treaty⁽³⁾,

Whereas:

- (1) Under the Treaty the Council may, by means of directives, adopt minimum requirements for encouraging improvements, especially in the working environment, to guarantee a better level of protection of the health and safety of workers. Such directives are to avoid imposing administrative, financial and legal constraints in a way which would hold back the creation and development of small and medium-sized undertakings.
- (2) The communication from the Commission concerning its action programme relating to the implementation of the Community Charter of the Fundamental Social Rights of Workers provides for the introduction of minimum health and safety requirements regarding the exposure of workers to the risks caused by physical agents. In September 1990 the European Parliament adopted a Resolution concerning this action programme⁽⁴⁾, inviting the Commission in particular to draw up a specific directive on the risks caused by noise, vibration and any other physical agents at the workplace.
- (3) As a first step, the European Parliament and the Council adopted Directive 2002/44/EC of 25 June 2002 on the minimum health and safety requirements regarding the exposure of workers to the risks arising from physical agents (vibration) (16th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC)⁽⁵⁾. Next, on 6 February 2003, the European Parliament and the Council adopted Directive 2003/10/EC on the minimum health and safety requirements regarding the exposure of workers to the risks arising from physical agents (noise) (17th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC)⁽⁶⁾. Thereafter, on 29 April 2004, the European Parliament and the Council adopted Directive 2004/40/EC on the minimum health and safety requirements regarding the exposure of workers to the risks arising from physical agents (electromagnetic fields) (18th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC)⁽⁷⁾.
- (4) It is now considered necessary to introduce measures protecting workers from the risks associated with optical radiation, owing to its effects on the health and safety of workers, in particular damage to the eyes and to the skin. These measures are intended not only to ensure the health and safety of each worker on an individual basis, but also to create a minimum basis of protection for all Community workers, in order to avoid possible distortions of competition.

- (5) The aims of this Directive include the prevention and early diagnosis of any adverse health effects, as well as the prevention of any long-term health risks and any risk of chronic diseases, resulting from exposure to optical radiation.
- (6) This Directive lays down minimum requirements, thus giving Member States the option of maintaining or adopting more stringent provisions for the protection of workers, in particular the fixing of lower exposure limit values. The implementation of this Directive must not serve to justify any deterioration in the situation which already prevails in each Member State.
- (7) A system of protection against the hazards of optical radiation should limit itself to a definition, free of excessive detail, of the objectives to be attained, the principles to be observed and the basic values to be applied, in order to enable Member States to apply the minimum requirements in an equivalent manner.
- (8) The level of exposure to optical radiation can be more effectively reduced by incorporating preventive measures into the design of workstations and by selecting work equipment, procedures and methods so as to give priority to reducing the risks at source. Provisions relating to work equipment and methods thus contribute to the protection of the workers involved. In accordance with the general principles of prevention as laid down in Article 6(2) of Council Directive 89/391/EEC of 12 June 1989 on the introduction of measures to encourage improvements in the safety and health of workers at work ⁽¹⁾, collective protection measures have priority over individual protection measures.
- (9) Employers should make adjustments in the light of technical progress and scientific knowledge regarding risks related to exposure to optical radiation, with a view to improving the safety and health protection of workers.
- (10) Since this Directive is an individual directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC, that Directive applies to the exposure of workers to optical radiation, without prejudice to more stringent and/or specific provisions contained in this Directive.
- (11) This Directive constitutes a practical step towards creating the social dimension of the internal market.
- (12) A complementary approach that both promotes the principle of better regulation and ensures a high level of protection can be achieved where the products made by the manufacturers of optical radiation sources and associated equipment comply with harmonised standards devised to protect the health and safety of users from the hazards inherent in such products; accordingly, it is not necessary for employers to repeat the measurements or calculations already undertaken by the manufacturer to determine compliance with the essential safety requirements of such equipment as specified in the applicable Community Directives, provided that the equipment has been properly and regularly maintained.
- (13) The measures necessary for the implementation of this Directive should be adopted in accordance with Council Decision 1999/468/EC of 28 June 1999 laying down the procedures for the exercise of implementing powers conferred on the Commission ⁽²⁾.
- (14) Adherence to the exposure limit values should provide a high level of protection as regards the health effects that may result from exposure to optical radiation. However, since the application of exposure limit values and engineering controls are not deemed appropriate in the case of exposure to natural sources of optical radiation, preventive measures, including information and training for workers, are critical to the assessment of risk and the reduction of solar exposure risks.

- (15) The Commission should draw up a practical guide to help employers, in particular managers of small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), better to understand the technical provisions of this Directive. The Commission should strive to complete this guide as quickly as possible so as to facilitate adoption by the Member States of the measures necessary to implement this Directive.
- (16) In accordance with paragraph 34 of the Interinstitutional Agreement on better law-making⁽¹⁾, Member States are encouraged to draw up, for themselves and in the interests of the Community, their own tables which will, as far as possible, illustrate the correlation between this Directive and the transposition measures, and to make them public,

HAVE ADOPTED THIS DIRECTIVE:

SECTION I
GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1
Aim and scope

1. This Directive, which is the 19th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(l) of Directive 89/391/EEC, lays down minimum requirements for the protection of workers from risks to their health and safety arising or likely to arise from exposure to optical radiation during their work.
2. This Directive concerns the risk to the health and safety of workers from exposure of the eyes and skin to optical radiation.
3. Directive 89/391/EEC shall apply fully to the whole area referred to in paragraph 1, without prejudice to more stringent and/or more specific provisions contained in this Directive.

Article 2
Definitions

For the purposes of this Directive, the following definitions shall apply:

- (a) optical radiation: any electromagnetic radiation in the wavelength range between 100 nm and 1 mm. The spectrum of optical radiation is divided into ultraviolet radiation, visible radiation and infrared radiation:
 - (i) ultraviolet radiation: optical radiation of wavelength range between 100 nm and 400 nm. The ultraviolet region is divided into UVA (315-400 nm), UVB (280-315 nm) and UVC (100-280 nm);
 - (ii) visible radiation: optical radiation of wavelength range between 380 nm and 780 nm;
 - (iii) infrared radiation: optical radiation of wavelength range between 780 nm and 1 mm. The infrared region is divided into IRA (780-1 400 nm), IRB (1 400-3 000 nm) and IRC (3 000 nm⁻¹ mm);
- (b) laser (light amplification by stimulated emission of radiation): any device which can be made to produce or amplify electromagnetic radiation in the optical radiation wavelength range primarily by the process of controlled stimulated emission;

- (d) non-coherent radiation: any optical radiation other than laser radiation;
- (e) exposure limit values: limits on exposure to optical radiation which are based directly on established health effects and biological considerations. Compliance with these limits will ensure that workers exposed to artificial sources of optical radiation are protected against all known adverse health effects;

L-Erbgħa, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

- (f) irradiance (E) or power density: the radiant power incident per unit area upon a surface expressed in watts per square metre ($W m^{-2}$);
- (g) radiant exposure (H): the time integral of the irradiance, expressed in joules per square metre ($J m^{-2}$);
- (h) radiance (L): the radiant flux or power output per unit solid angle per unit area, expressed in watts per square metre per steradian ($W m^{-2} sr^{-1}$);
- (i) level: the combination of irradiance, radiant exposure and radiance to which a worker is exposed.

Article 3

Exposure limit values

1. The exposure limit values for non-coherent radiation, other than that emitted by natural sources of optical radiation, are as set out in Annex I.
2. The exposure limit values for laser radiation are as set out in Annex II.

SECTION II

OBLIGATIONS OF EMPLOYERS

Article 4

Determination of exposure and assessment of risks

1. In carrying out the obligations laid down in Articles 6(3) and 9(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC, the employer, in the case of workers exposed to artificial sources of optical radiation, shall assess and, if necessary, measure and/or calculate the levels of optical radiation to which workers are likely to be exposed so that the measures needed to prevent exposure from exceeding the applicable limits can be identified and put into effect. The methodology applied in assessment, measurement and/or calculations shall follow the standards of the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) in respect of laser radiation and the recommendations of the International Commission on Illumination (CIE) and the European Committee for Standardisation (CEN) in respect of non-coherent radiation. In exposure situations which are not covered by these standards and recommendations, and until appropriate EU standards or recommendations become available, assessment, measurement and/or calculations shall be carried out using available national or international science-based guidelines. In both types of exposure situation, the assessment may take account of data provided by the manufacturers of the equipment when it is covered by relevant Community Directives.
2. In the case of workers exposed to natural sources of optical radiation, the definition of any obligations imposed on the employer to assess risks to health and safety shall come within the regulatory competence of the Member States.
3. The assessment, measurement and/or calculations referred to in paragraph 1 shall be planned and carried out by competent services or persons at suitable intervals, taking particular account of the provisions of Articles 7 and 11 of Directive 89/391/EEC concerning the necessary competent services or persons and the consultation and participation of workers. The data obtained from the assessment, including those obtained from the measurement and/or calculations of the level of exposure referred to in paragraph 1 shall be preserved in a suitable form so as to permit their consultation at a later stage.
4. Pursuant to Article 6(3) of Directive 89/391/EEC, the employer shall give particular attention, when carrying out the risk assessment, to the following:
 - (a) the level, wavelength range and duration of exposure to artificial sources of optical radiation;
 - (b) the exposure limit values referred to in Article 3 of this Directive;

L-Erbgħa, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

- (c) any effects concerning the health and safety of workers belonging to particularly sensitive risk groups;
- (d) any possible effects on workers' health and safety resulting from workplace interactions between optical radiation and photosensitising chemical substances;
- (e) any indirect effects such as temporary blinding, explosion or fire;
- (f) the existence of replacement equipment designed to reduce the levels of exposure to artificial optical radiation;
- (g) appropriate information obtained from health surveillance, including published information, as far as possible;
- (h) multiple sources of exposure to artificial optical radiation;
- (i) a classification applied to a laser as defined in accordance with the relevant IEC standard and, in relation to any artificial source likely to cause damage similar to that of a laser of class 3B or 4, any similar classification;
- (j) information provided by the manufacturers of optical radiation sources and associated work equipment in accordance with the relevant Community Directives.

5. The employer shall be in possession of an assessment of the risk in accordance with Article 9(1)(a) of Directive 89/391/EEC and shall identify which measures must be taken in accordance with Articles 5 and 6 of this Directive. The risk assessment shall be recorded on a suitable medium, according to national law and practice; it may include a justification by the employer that the nature and extent of the risks related to optical radiation make a further, detailed risk assessment unnecessary. The risk assessment shall be updated on a regular basis, particularly if there have been significant changes which could render it out of date, or if the results of health surveillance show it to be necessary.

Article 5

Provisions aimed at eliminating or reducing risks

1. Taking account of technical progress and of the availability of measures to control the risk at source, the risks arising from exposure to artificial optical radiation shall be eliminated or reduced to a minimum.

The reduction of risks arising from exposure to artificial optical radiation shall be based on the general principles of prevention set out in Directive 89/391/EEC.

2. Where the risk assessment carried out in accordance with Article 4(1) for workers exposed to artificial sources of optical radiation indicates any possibility that the exposure limit values may be exceeded, the employer shall devise and implement an action plan comprising technical and/or organisational measures designed to prevent the exposure exceeding the limit values, taking into account in particular:

- (a) other working methods that reduce the risk from optical radiation;
- (b) the choice of equipment emitting less optical radiation, taking account of the work to be done;
- (c) technical measures to reduce the emission of optical radiation including, where necessary, the use of interlocks, shielding or similar health protection mechanisms;
- (d) appropriate maintenance programmes for work equipment, workplaces and workstation systems;
- (e) the design and layout of workplaces and workstations;

L-Erbgħa, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

- (f) limitation of the duration and level of the exposure;
- (g) the availability of appropriate personal protective equipment;
- (h) the instructions of the manufacturer of the equipment where it is covered by relevant Community Directives.

3. On the basis of the risk assessment carried out in accordance with Article 4, workplaces where workers could be exposed to levels of optical radiation from artificial sources exceeding the exposure limit values shall be indicated by appropriate signs in accordance with Council Directive 92/58/EEC of 24 June 1992 on the minimum requirements for the provision of safety and/or health signs at work (9th individual Directive within the meaning of Article 16(1) of Directive 89/391/EEC) ⁽¹⁾. The areas in question shall be identified, and access to them limited where this is technically possible and where there is a risk that the exposure limit values could be exceeded.

4. Workers shall not be exposed above the exposure limit values. However, if, despite the measures taken by the employer to comply with this Directive in respect of artificial sources of optical radiation, the exposure limit values are exceeded, the employer shall take immediate action to reduce exposure below the exposure limit values. The employer shall identify the reasons why the exposure limit values have been exceeded and shall adapt the protection and prevention measures accordingly in order to prevent them being exceeded again.

5. Pursuant to Article 15 of Directive 89/391/EEC, the employer shall adapt the measures referred to in this Article to the requirements of workers belonging to particularly sensitive risk groups.

Article 6

Worker information and training

Without prejudice to Articles 10 and 12 of Directive 89/391/EEC, the employer shall ensure that workers who are exposed to risks from artificial optical radiation at work and/or their representatives receive any necessary information and training relating to the outcome of the risk assessment provided for in Article 4 of this Directive, concerning in particular:

- (a) measures taken to implement this Directive;
- (b) the exposure limit values and the associated potential risks;
- (c) the results of the assessment, measurement and/or calculations of the levels of exposure to artificial optical radiation carried out in accordance with Article 4 of this Directive together with an explanation of their significance and potential risks;
- (d) how to detect adverse health effects of exposure and how to report them;
- (e) the circumstances in which workers are entitled to health surveillance;
- (f) safe working practices to minimise risks from exposure;
- (g) proper use of appropriate personal protective equipment.

Article 7

Consultation and participation of workers

Consultation and participation of workers and/or of their representatives shall take place in accordance with Article 11 of Directive 89/391/EEC on the matters covered by this Directive.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Article 8

Health surveillance

1. With the objectives of prevention and early diagnosis of any adverse health effects, as well as the prevention of any long-term health risks and any risk of chronic diseases, resulting from exposure to optical radiation, Member States shall adopt provisions to ensure appropriate health surveillance of workers pursuant to Article 14 of Directive 89/391/EEC.

2. Member States shall ensure that health surveillance is carried out by a doctor, an occupational health professional or a medical authority responsible for health surveillance in accordance with national law and practice.

3. Member States shall establish arrangements to ensure that, for each worker who undergoes health surveillance in accordance with paragraph 1, individual health records are made and kept up to date. Health records shall contain a summary of the results of the health surveillance carried out. They shall be kept in a suitable form so as to permit consultation at a later date, taking into account any confidentiality. Copies of the appropriate records shall be supplied to the competent authority on request, taking into account any confidentiality. The employer shall take appropriate measures to ensure that the doctor, the occupational health professional or the medical authority responsible for the health surveillance, as determined by Member States as appropriate, has access to the results of the risk assessment referred to in Article 4 where such results may be relevant to the health surveillance. Individual workers shall, at their request, have access to their own personal health records.

4. In any event, where exposure above the limit values is detected, a medical examination shall be made available to the worker(s) concerned in accordance with national law and practice. This medical examination shall also be carried out where, as a result of health surveillance, a worker is found to have an identifiable disease or adverse health effect which is considered by a doctor or occupational health professional to be the result of exposure to artificial optical radiation at work. In both cases:

- (a) the worker shall be informed by the doctor or other suitably qualified person of the result which relates to him personally. He shall, in particular, receive information and advice regarding any health surveillance which he should undergo following the end of exposure;
- (b) the employer shall be informed of any significant findings of the health surveillance, taking into account any medical confidentiality;
- (c) the employer shall:
 - review the risk assessment carried out pursuant to Article 4,
 - review the measures provided for to eliminate or reduce risks pursuant to Article 5,
 - take into account the advice of the occupational health professional or other suitably qualified person or the competent authority in implementing any measure required to eliminate or reduce risk in accordance with Article 5, and
 - arrange continued health surveillance and provide for a review of the health status of any other worker who has been similarly exposed. In such cases, the competent doctor or occupational health professional or the competent authority may propose that the exposed persons undergo a medical examination.

ANNEX INON-COHERENT OPTICAL RADIATION

The biophysically relevant exposure values to optical radiation can be determined with the formulae below. (1) The range of 300 to 700 nm covers parts of UVB, all UVA and most of visible radiation; however, the associated hazard is commonly referred to as "blue light" hazard. Blue light strictly speaking covers only the range of approximately 400 to 490 nm.

(2) For steady fixation of very small sources with an angular subtense < 11 mrad, L_B can be converted to E_B . This normally applies only for ophthalmic instruments or a stabilized eye during anaesthesia. The maximum "stare time" is found by: $t_{\text{max}} = 100 / E_B$ with E_B expressed in W m⁻². Due to eye movements during normal visual tasks this does not exceed 100s.

LASER OPTICAL RADIATION

The biophysically relevant exposure values to optical radiation can be determined with the formulae below. The formulae to be used depend on the wavelength and duration of radiation emitted by the source and the results should be compared with the corresponding exposure limit values indicated in the Tables 2.2-2.4. More than one exposure value and corresponding exposure limit can be relevant for a given source of laser optical radiation.

Coefficients used as calculation tools within the Tables 2.2, 2.3 and 2.4 are listed in Table 2.5 and corrections for repetitive exposure are listed in Table 2.6.

$$E = \frac{dP}{dA} \text{ [W m}^{-2}\text{]}$$

$$H = \int_0^t E(t) \cdot dt \text{ [J m}^{-2}\text{]}$$

Notes:

dP power expressed in watt [W];

E(t),E irradiance or power density: the radiant power incident per unit area upon a surface, generally expressed in watts per square metre [W m⁻²]. Values of E(t), E come from measurements or may be provided by the manufacturer of the equipment;

H radiant exposure, the time integral of the irradiance, expressed in joules per square metre [J m⁻²];

t time, duration of the exposure, expressed in seconds [s];

λ wavelength, expressed in nanometres [nm];

γ limiting cone angle of measurement field-of-view expressed in milliradians [mrad];

γ_m measurement field of view expressed in milliradians [mrad];

α angular subtense of a source expressed in milliradians [mrad];

G integrated radiance: the integral of the radiance over a given exposure time expressed as radiant energy per unit area of a radiating surface per unit solid angle of emission, in joules per square metre per steradian [J m⁻² sr⁻¹].

(c) If the wavelength of the laser is covered by two limits, then the more restrictive applies.

(d) For small sources subtending an angle of 1,5 mrad or less, the visible dual limits E from 400 nm to 600 nm reduce to the thermal limits for 10s $\leq t \leq T_1$ and to photochemical limits for longer times. For T_1 and T_2 , see Table 2.5. The photochemical retinal hazard limit may also be expressed as a time integrated radiance $G = 10^6 C_b$ [J m⁻² sr⁻¹] for $t > 10$ s up to $t = 10000$ s, and $L = 100 C_b$ [W m⁻² sr⁻¹] for $t > 10000$ s. For the measurement of G and L , γ_m must be used as averaging field of view. The official border between visible and infrared is 780 nm as defined by the CIE. The column with wavelength band names is only meant to provide better overview for the user. (The notation G is used by CEN; the notation L_v is used by IEC and CENELEC).(e) For wavelength 1400-10⁶ nm: aperture diameter = 3,5 mm; for wavelength 10⁵-10⁶ nm: aperture diameter = 11 mm.
(f) For measurement of the exposure value the consideration of γ is defined as follows: if α (angular subtense of a source) $> \gamma$ (limiting cone angle, indicated in brackets in the corresponding column) then the measurement field of view γ_m should be the given value of γ . (If a larger measurement field of view is used, then the hazard would be overestimated).
If $\alpha < \gamma$ then the measurement field of view γ_m must be large enough to fully enclose the source but is otherwise not limited and may be larger than γ .

Table 2.6: Correction for repetitive exposure

Each of the following three general rules should be applied to all repetitive exposures as occur from repetitively pulsed or scanning laser systems:

1. The exposure from any single pulse in a train of pulses shall not exceed the exposure limit value for a single pulse of that pulse duration.
2. The exposure from any group of pulses (or sub-group of pulses in a train) delivered in time t shall not exceed the exposure limit value for time t .
3. The exposure from any single pulse within a group of pulses shall not exceed the single-pulse exposure limit value multiplied by a cumulative-thermal correction factor $C_p = N^{-0.25}$, where N is the number of pulses. This rule applies only to exposure limits to protect against thermal injury, where all pulses delivered in less than T_{min} are treated as a single pulse.

Position of the European Parliament adopted at first reading on 7 September 2005 with a view to the adoption of European Parliament and Council Recommendation 2005/.../EC on the protection of minors and human dignity and the right of reply in relation to the competitiveness of the European audiovisual and on-line information services industry

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 157 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission ⁽¹⁾,

Having regard to the Opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee ⁽¹⁾,

Having regard to the Opinion of the Committee of the Regions ⁽¹⁾,

Acting in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 251 of the Treaty ⁽²⁾,

Whereas:

- (1) Article I-2 of the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe, signed on 29 October 2004, provides that one of the values on which the European Union is founded is respect for human dignity; in the Charter of Fundamental Rights of the European Union ("the Charter"), incorporated in Part II of the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe, the inviolability of human dignity is recognised under Article 1 (Article II-61 of the Treaty), which provides that it must be respected and protected.
- (2) Human dignity is inalienable; it does not admit any exclusion or limitation and it constitutes the foundation and origin of all legal instruments drawn up at national and international level to protect human rights; The European Union should gear its political action to preventing any form of violation of the principle of respect for human dignity.
- (3) Article I-3 of the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe provides that one of the European Union's objectives is to protect the rights of the child; Article 24 of the Charter (Article II-84 of the Treaty) establishes that children shall have the right to such protection and care as is necessary for their well-being and that in all actions relating to children, whether taken by public authorities or private institutions, the child's best interests must be a primary consideration.
- (4) Legislative measures need to be enacted at European Union level for the protection of the physical, mental and moral development of minors in relation to the content of all audiovisual and information services, the adoption of measures preventing the circulation of illegal content and the protection of minors from access to adult programmes or services.
- (5) The inevitable development of new information and communication technologies makes it urgent for the European Community to ensure full and adequate protection for consumers' interests in this field, by adopting a directive which will, throughout its territory, on the one hand guarantee the free delivery and free provision of information services and on the other ensure that their content is legal, respects the principle of human dignity and does not impair the overall development of minors.

- (6) Council Recommendation 98/560/EC of 24 September 1998 on the development of the competitiveness of the European audiovisual and information services industry by promoting national frameworks aimed at achieving a comparable and effective level of protection of minors and human dignity⁽¹⁾ is the first legal instrument at Community level which concerns questions involving the protection of minors and human dignity in relation to the content of all audiovisual and information services available to the public regardless of the form of delivery, from broadcasting to the Internet. Article 22 of Council Directive 89/552/EEC of 3 October 1989 on the coordination of certain provisions laid down by Law, Regulation or Administrative Action in Member States concerning the pursuit of television broadcasting activities⁽²⁾ has already specifically addressed the question of the protection of minors and human dignity in television broadcasting activities.
- (7) The European Community has already intervened in the field of audiovisual and information services in order to create the necessary conditions to ensure the free movement of television broadcasts and other information services, in compliance with the principles of free competition and freedom of expression and information, but it should act with greater determination in this area with the aim of setting up a legal framework and adopting measures to protect consumers from incitement to discrimination based on sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation and combating any such discrimination.
- (8) By Decision No 276/1999/EC⁽³⁾, the European Parliament and the Council adopted a multi-annual Community Action plan on promoting safer use of the Internet by combating illegal and harmful content on global networks (the "Safer Internet Action Plan").
- (9) The Commission should pay special attention to this Recommendation when revising or concluding new partnership agreements or new cooperation programmes with third countries, bearing in mind the global character of producers, distributors or providers of audiovisual content and Internet access.
- (10) Decision No 1151/2003/EC of the European Parliament and the Council⁽⁴⁾ extended the Safer Internet Action Plan for two years and amended its scope to include measures to encourage exchange of information and coordination with the relevant actors at national level as well as special provisions for the accession countries.
- (11) Directive 2000/31/EC of the European Parliament and the Council of 8 June 2000 on certain legal aspects of information society services, in particular electronic commerce, in the Internal Market⁽⁵⁾ clarifies some legal concepts and harmonises certain aspects in order to enable information society services to fully benefit from the internal market principles. A number of the provisions of Directive 2000/31/EC are also relevant to the protection of minors and human dignity, in particular Article 16 (1)(e), according to which Member States and the Commission are to encourage the drawing up of codes of conduct regarding the protection of minors and human dignity.
- (12) The changing media landscape, resulting from new technologies and media innovation, makes it necessary to teach children, parents, educators and teachers to use the media effectively, since prevention and greater parental control will always be the best form of protection against the dangers of the Internet.
- (13) On the whole, self-regulation of the audiovisual sector is proving an effective additional measure, but it is not sufficient to protect minors from messages with harmful content. The development of a European audiovisual area based on freedom of expression and respect for citizens' rights, as laid down in the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe, should be based on a continuous dialogue between national and European legislators, regulatory authorities, industries, associations, consumers and civil society.

⁽³⁾ OJ L 33, 6.2.1999, p. 1. Decision as last amended by Decision No 787/2004/EC (OJ L 138, 30.4.2004, p. 12).

- (14) Since the advent of digital terrestrial television will allow for parental control, which is essential if children are to be prevented from gaining access to televised content against their parents' wishes, the European Union should guide the process of transition to digital terrestrial television with the aim of achieving the earliest possible "analogue switchoff".
- (15) In the public consultation concerning Directive 97/36/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 30 June 1997 it was suggested that the need to adopt educational measures in relation to the media be included among the subjects covered by Recommendation 98/560/EC.
- (16) The Commission encourages cooperation and the sharing of experience and good practices between self- and co-regulatory bodies, which deal with the rating or classification of audiovisual content, regardless of the means by which it is delivered, with a view to enabling all users, but especially parents, educators and teachers, to report illegal content and assess the content of audiovisual and on-line information services, as well as any legal content which could harm the physical or mental development of minors.
- (17) As suggested during the public consultation concerning Directive 97/36/EC, it is appropriate for the right of reply to apply to all on-line media, and to take into account the specific features of the medium and service concerned.
- (18) Council resolution of 5 October 1995 on the image of women and men portrayed in advertising and the media ⁽¹⁾ invites the Member States and the Commission to take adequate measures to promote a diversified and realistic picture of the skills and potential of women and men in society.
- (19) When tabling its proposal for a Council Directive implementing the principle of equal treatment between women and men in the access to and supply of goods and services ⁽²⁾, the Commission noted that the portrayal of the sexes in the media and in advertising raises important questions about the protection of the dignity of men and women, but concluded that, in the light of other fundamental rights, including the freedom and pluralism of the media, it should take stock of these questions and, if necessary, take appropriate measures.
- (20) Even though regulation is not an option, the media are nevertheless able to ban discrimination under codes of practice promoting voluntary self-regulation, or to enforce such a ban independently of their codes. The audiovisual and on-line information services industry should therefore be encouraged at Member State level to avoid and to combat any type of discrimination based on sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation in such media and all advertising, including new advertising techniques, without infringing freedom of expression or of the press.
- (21) This Recommendation covers new technological developments and complements Recommendation 98/560/EC. Its scope, on account of technological advances, includes audiovisual and on-line information services, such as newspapers, magazines and, particularly, video games, made available to the public via fixed or mobile electronic networks.
- (22) Nothing in this Recommendation prevents Member States from applying their constitutional provisions and other legislation and legal practices regarding free speech.

I. RECOMMEND that the Member States, in the interests of promoting the development of the audiovisual and on-line information services industry, take the necessary measures in their domestic law or practice to ensure better protection of minors and human dignity in all audiovisual and on-line information services, by:

- 1) safeguarding the exercise of a right of reply (or equivalent remedy), with due regard for their domestic and constitutional legislative provisions, and for the characteristics of each audiovisual and on-line information service,
- 2) in close cooperation with the industry and all relevant parties, ensuring better protection of minors, by:
 - continuing education of educators and teachers, in liaison with child protection associations, on how to use the Internet in the context of school education and on teaching methods for safe (secure) use which children must be taught,
 - introduction of specific Internet training aimed at children from a very early age, including sessions open to parents, so as to explain to children and parents how to use the Internet and how to avoid the pitfalls and dangers,
 - an integrated educational approach forming a permanent part of school curricula, and media literacy programmes, so as to maintain awareness of the dangers of the Internet, with particular regard to chat rooms and forums,
 - organisation of national information campaigns aimed at citizens, involving all communications media, to alert public opinion to the dangers of the Internet and the risk of criminal penalties (information about the possibility of bringing complaints or activating parental control). Specific campaigns could be aimed at target groups such as schools, parents' associations, users, etc.,
 - distribution of information packs on the dangers of the Internet ("How to surf the Internet safely", "how to filter unwanted messages") and on the use of hotlines to which reports or complaints concerning harmful or illegal sites can be made,
 - adequate measures to establish or improve the performance of telephone hotlines, so as to make it easier to lodge complaints about harmful sites and make it possible to report their existence,
 - action to allow one of the most serious offences against children's dignity, child pornography on the Internet, to be combated effectively,
 - publicity campaigns designed to condemn violence against minors and to help victims by offering psychological, moral and practical support,
- 3) promoting a responsible attitude on the part of professionals, intermediaries and users of new communication media such as the Internet by:
 - encouraging vigilance and the reporting of pages considered illegal, without prejudice to Directive 2000/31/EC,
 - drawing up a code of conduct in cooperation with professionals and regulatory authorities at national and European level,
 - encouraging the audiovisual and on-line information services industry, without infringing freedom of opinion or of the press, to avoid discrimination based on sex, racial or ethnic origin, religion or belief, disability, age or sexual orientation in all audiovisual and on-line information services, and to combat such discrimination,
- 4) promoting measures to combat all illegal activity on the Internet and make the web a much more secure medium; consideration could be given inter alia to the following measures:
 - adopting a quality label for service providers, so that users can easily check whether or not a given provider subscribes to a code of conduct or not,
 - considering the inclusion in their legal systems of a system of joint or cascading liability for Internet crimes,
 - establishing a single telephone line for the reporting of illegal and/or suspicious activities on the web,

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

- 5) developing, by means of cooperation at European level and in close collaboration with consumer organisations, regulations to reduce food advertising specifically aimed at children and teenagers, especially for junk food and confectionery.

II. RECOMMEND that the audiovisual services and on-line information services industry and all the parties concerned:

- 1) develop positive measures for the benefit of minors, including initiatives to facilitate better access by minors to audiovisual and on-line information services, by improving their media literacy and providing for closer cooperation between self-regulatory and co-regulatory bodies in the Member States through the exchange of best practices by means of:
 - the systematic provision of an effective and easy-to-use filtering system for users at the time of subscription to an access provider and developing effective filtering solutions, taking into account technological progress allowing Internet access via mobile telephones,
 - offering access services intended specifically for children and equipped with an automatic filtering system operated by access providers and by mobile telephone operators,
 - introducing incentives to provide a regularly updated description of the available sites, making it easier to classify sites using abbreviations common to all Member States in order to alert users to the possible harmful content of sites visited,
 - posting warning banners on all search engines drawing attention to possible dangers and to the availability of telephone hotlines,
- 2) examine the possibility of creating filters which would prevent information concerning child pornography or offending against human dignity from passing through the Internet,
- 3) develop measures to increase the use of content labelling systems for material distributed over the web, using protocols such as PICS (Platform for Internet Content Selection) and systems to filter information exchanged among users,
- 4) develop effective measures to avoid discrimination as defined in Article II-81 of the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe and to combat all such forms of discrimination created by false and stereotyped images of human beings, the commercial exploitation of the human body, and the trivialisation of violence and war.

III. INVITE the Commission to:

- 1) organise, in connection with the 2005-2008 multiannual Community programme on promoting safer use of the Internet and new online technologies, a European information campaign aimed at citizens, using all communications media, to alert public opinion to the dangers of the Internet and the risk of criminal penalties being incurred (information about the possibility of bringing complaints or activating parental control). Specific campaigns could be aimed at target groups such as schools, parents' associations and users,
- 2) introduce a European freephone number providing information on existing filtering methods and intended to offset the absence in some Member States of telephone hotlines for lodging complaints with the competent authorities and report harmful sites,
- 3) consider the introduction of a generic top level domain name reserved for continuously monitored sites committed to respecting minors and their rights, failing which they would incur criminal penalties (.KID for example),
- 4) maintain a constructive and ongoing dialogue with content providers' organisations, consumer organisations and all parties concerned,
- 5) facilitate and support the formation of networks by self-regulatory bodies and the exchanging of experience among them, so as to assess the effectiveness of codes of conduct and approaches based on self-regulation in order to ensure the highest possible standards of protection for minors.

IV. RECOMMEND that the industry, all parties concerned and the national and European authorities consider more actively the technical and legal feasibility of developing a uniform content labelling system to encourage better filtering and classification at source, regardless of the communications media used (Internet, mobile telephones) in order to improve protection for minors.

V. RECOMMEND that the Member States submit a report to the Commission on measures taken in application of this Recommendation two years after its adoption.

VI. INVITE the Commission to submit to the European Parliament by 31 December 2008, on the basis of the reports submitted by the Member States, a report on the implementation and effectiveness of the measures laid down in this Recommendation, identifying any additional measures which may be necessary, including binding legislation at European level.

ANNEX

MINIMUM PRINCIPLES FOR THE IMPLEMENTATION, AT NATIONAL LEVEL, OF MEASURES IN DOMESTIC LAW OR PRACTICE SO AS TO ENSURE THE RIGHT OF REPLY AS REGARDS ALL AUDIOVISUAL AND ON-LINE INFORMATION SERVICES

Objective: Adapting the right of reply to the current state of technological development, particularly in audiovisual and on-line information services in Europe, taking into account the relevant constitutional and other legislation and legal practice regarding free speech.

- The right of reply should protect any legal or natural person from any assertion of incorrect facts concerning that person and affecting his or her rights, and consequently the dissemination of opinions and ideas must remain outside the scope of this Recommendation;
- The right of reply is a particularly appropriate remedy in the on-line environment because it allows for the instant correction of contested information and it is technically easy to attach the replies from the persons affected;
- It is necessary to ensure that the author of or person responsible for the dissemination of the information continues to be under the obligation to allow a right of reply, in accordance with national laws;
- The right of reply can be ensured not only through legislation, but also through co-regulatory or self-regulatory measures;
- The right of reply is without prejudice to other remedies available to persons whose right to dignity, honour, reputation or privacy have been breached by the media.
- Member States should examine and, if necessary, introduce in their domestic law or practice, a right of reply or other equivalent remedy, which allows a rapid correction of incorrect facts in audiovisual and on-line information services in accordance with the minimum principles set out below, without prejudice to the possibility of adapting the exercise of this right (or any other equivalent remedy) to the specific nature of each type of medium.

Scope of the right of reply

- Any natural or legal person, irrespective of nationality or residence, should be granted a right of reply or an equivalent remedy so that they may respond to any assertion of inaccurate facts about them in audiovisual and on-line information services which affects their personal rights.
 - The reply should be given the same prominence as was given to the contested assertion in order for it to reach the same public and with the same impact.
 - Member States shall ensure that the effective exercise of the right of reply (or equivalent remedy) and the right of freedom of expression is not unjustifiably constrained. The reply must be transmitted within a reasonable time after the justification of the request and at a time and in a manner appropriate to the publication or programme to which the request refers.
 - Provision should be made for procedures whereby disputes as to the exercise of the right of reply or the equivalent remedies may be subject to judicial review.

(Text with EEA relevance)

THE EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT AND THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION,

Having regard to the Treaty establishing the European Community, and in particular Article 95 thereof,

Having regard to the proposal from the Commission,

Having regard to the Opinion of the European Economic and Social Committee⁽¹⁾,

In accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 251 of the Treaty⁽²⁾,

Whereas:

- (1) Before a medicinal product for human use is placed on the market of one or more Member States, it generally has to have undergone extensive studies, including pre-clinical tests and clinical trials, to ensure that it is safe, of high quality and effective for use in the target population.
- (2) Such studies may not have been done for use in children and many of the medicines currently used to treat children have not been studied or authorised for such use. Market forces alone have proven insufficient to stimulate adequate research, development and authorisation of medicines for children.
- (3) Problems resulting from the absence of suitably adapted medicines for children include inadequate dosing information leading to increased risks of adverse reactions including death, ineffective treatment through under-dosing, non-availability to children of therapeutic advances, problems resulting from the pharmaceutical form and the route of administration as well as the use of extemporaneous formulations to treat children which may be of poor quality.
- (4) The aim of this Regulation is to facilitate the development and accessibility of medicines for use in children, to ensure that medicines used to treat children are where necessary subject to high quality, ethical research and are appropriately authorised for use in children, and to improve the information available on the use of medicines in the various paediatric populations. These objectives should be achieved without subjecting children to unnecessary clinical trials and without delaying the authorisation of medicinal products for other age populations.
- (5) A specific inventory of paediatric medicinal product needs should be adopted by the Paediatric Committee set up under this Regulation after consultation with the Commission, the Member States and interested parties, and regularly updated. The inventory should identify the existing medicines used by children and highlight the therapeutic needs of children and the priorities for research and development. In this way, companies should be able to identify easily opportunities for business development; the Paediatric Committee should be able to better judge the need for medicines and studies when assessing draft paediatric investigation plans, waivers and deferrals; and healthcare professionals and patients should have a reliable information source available to support their decisions as to which medicines to choose.

- (6) While taking into account the fact that any regulations on medicinal products must be fundamentally aimed at safeguarding public health, this aim must be achieved by means that do not impede the free movement of safe medicinal products within the Community. The differences between the national legislative, regulatory and administrative provisions on medicinal products tend to hinder intra-Community trade and therefore directly affect the operation of the internal market. Any action to promote the development and authorisation of medicinal products for paediatric use is therefore justified with a view to preventing or eliminating these obstacles. Article 95 of the Treaty is therefore the proper legal basis.
- (7) The establishment of a system of both obligations and rewards and incentives has proved necessary to achieve these objectives. The precise nature of the obligations and rewards and incentives should take account of the status of the particular medicinal product concerned. This Regulation should apply to all the medicines required by children and therefore its scope should cover products in development and yet to be authorised, authorised products still covered by intellectual property rights and authorised products no longer covered by intellectual property rights.
- (8) Any concerns about conducting trials in the paediatric population should be balanced by the ethical concerns about giving medicines to a population in which they have not been appropriately tested. The public health threat from the use of untested medicines in children can be safely addressed through the study of medicines for children, which should be carefully controlled and monitored through the specific requirements for the protection of children who take part in clinical trials in the Community laid down in Directive 2001/20/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 4 April 2001 on the approximation of the laws, regulations and administrative provisions of the Member States relating to the implementation of good clinical practice in the conduct of clinical trials on medicinal products for human use⁽¹⁾.
- (9) It is appropriate to create a scientific committee, the Paediatric Committee, within the European Medicines Agency set up under Regulation (EC) No 726/2004⁽²⁾, hereinafter "the Agency", with expertise and competence in the development and assessment of all aspects of medicinal products to treat paediatric populations. To this end the Committee must be independent of the pharmaceutical industry and be composed of members with recognised and documented international-level experience and knowledge of that industry. The Paediatric Committee should be primarily responsible for the assessment and agreement of scientific and ethical paediatric investigation plans and for the system of waivers and deferrals thereof, and it should also be central to various support measures contained in this Regulation. In all its work the Paediatric Committee should make sure that studies in children have significant potential therapeutic benefits for paediatric patients. The potential benefits must be weighed against the short and long term risks of participating in the clinical studies in order to avoid unnecessary studies. The Paediatric Committee should follow existing Community requirements, including Directive 2001/20/EC, as well as International Conference on Harmonisation (ICH) guideline E11 on the development of medicines for children, and it should avoid any delay in the authorisation of medicines for other populations as a result of the requirements for studies in children.
- (10) Procedures should be established for the Agency to agree and modify a paediatric investigation plan, the document upon which the development and authorisation of medicines for children should be based. The paediatric investigation plan should include details of the timing and the measures proposed to demonstrate the quality, safety and efficacy of the medicinal product in the paediatric population. Because the paediatric population is in fact made up of a number of subpopulations, the paediatric investigation plan should specify which subpopulations need to be studied, by what means and by when.
- (11) The introduction of the paediatric investigation plan in the legal framework concerning medicinal products for human use aims at ensuring that development of medicines that are potentially to be used for children becomes an integral part of the development of medicinal products, integrated into the development programme for adults. Thus, paediatric investigation plans should be submitted early during product development, in time for studies to be conducted in children, wherever possible before marketing authorisation applications are submitted.

- (12) It is necessary to introduce a requirement to present, in the case of new medicinal products and authorised medicinal products covered by a patent or a supplementary protection certificate, the available results of any studies in children carried out in accordance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan that are completed at the time of the filing of the marketing authorisation application or an application for a new indication, new pharmaceutical form or new route of administration. The paediatric investigation plan should be the basis upon which compliance with that requirement is judged. However, that requirement should not apply to generics or similar biological medicinal products and medicinal products authorised through the well-established medicinal use procedure, or to homeopathic medicinal products and traditional herbal medicinal products authorised through the simplified registration procedures of Directive 2001/83/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 6 November 2001 on the Community code relating to medicinal products for human use⁽¹⁾.
- (13) In view of the fact that 50 % of medicinal products for paediatric use have not been tested, provision should be made for funding for research on medicines for paediatric use which are not patent-protected or do not have supplementary protection certification to be financed under Community research programmes. It is necessary to establish a Community programme for research into medicinal products for children (Medicines Investigation for the Children of Europe — MICE).
- (14) In order to ensure that research in children is only conducted to meet their therapeutic needs, there is a need to establish procedures for the Agency to waive the requirement to present the results of studies in children in the case of specific products or classes or part of classes of medicinal products, to be then published by the Agency. As knowledge on science and medicine evolves over time, provision should be made for the lists of waivers to be amended. However, if a waiver is revoked, the requirement should not apply for a given period in order to allow time for at least a paediatric investigation plan to be agreed and studies in children to be initiated prior to marketing authorisation application.
- (15) In certain cases, the Agency should defer the initiation or completion of some or all of the measures contained in a paediatric investigation plan, with a view to ensuring that research is done only when it is safe and ethical to do so and that the requirement for study data in children does not block or delay the authorisation of medicines for other populations.
- (16) Free scientific advice should be provided by the Agency as an incentive to sponsors developing medicines for children. To ensure scientific consistency, the Agency should manage the interface between the Paediatric Committee and the Scientific Advice Working Group of the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use, as well as the interaction between the Paediatric Committee and the other Community committees and working groups concerned with medicinal products.
- (17) The existing procedures for the marketing authorisation of medicinal products for human use should not be changed. However, it follows from the requirement for the results of studies in children to be presented in accordance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan that competent authorities should check compliance with the agreed paediatric investigation plan and any waivers and deferrals at the existing validation step for marketing authorisation applications. The assessment of safety, quality and efficacy of medicines for children and the granting of marketing authorisations should remain the remit of the competent authorities. Provision should be made for the Paediatric Committee to be asked for an opinion on compliance and for an opinion on the safety, quality and efficacy of a medicine in children.
- (18) To provide healthcare professionals and patients with information on the safe and effective use of medicines in children, and in the interests of transparency, information regarding the results of studies in children, as well as on the status of the paediatric investigation plans, waivers and deferrals, should be included in product information. When all the measures in the paediatric investigation plan have been complied with, that fact should be recorded in the marketing authorisation, and should then be the basis upon which companies can obtain the rewards for compliance.

- (19) To distinguish medicines authorised for use in children following completion of an agreed paediatric investigation plan and enable their prescription, provision should be made for a specially designed European logo to be displayed below the name of medicinal products granted an indication for use in children following an agreed paediatric investigation plan.
- (20) In order to establish incentives for authorised products no longer covered by intellectual property rights, it is necessary to establish a new type of marketing authorisation, the Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation. A Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation should be granted through existing marketing authorisation procedures but should apply specifically for medicinal products developed exclusively for use in children. It should be possible for the name of the medicinal product granted a Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation to utilise the existing brand name of the corresponding product authorised for adults, in order to capitalise on existing brand recognition while benefiting from the data exclusivity associated with a new marketing authorisation.
- (21) An application for a Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation should include the submission of data concerning use of the product in the paediatric population, collected in accordance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan. These data may be derived from the published literature or from new studies. An application for a Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation should also be able to refer to data contained in the dossier of a medicinal product which is or has been authorised in the Community. That is intended to provide an additional incentive to attract small and medium-sized enterprises, including generic companies, to develop off-patent medicines for children.
- (22) This Regulation should include measures to maximise access of the Community population to new medicinal products tested and adapted for paediatric use, and minimise the chance of Community-wide rewards and incentives being granted without sections of the Community paediatric population benefiting from the availability of a newly authorised medicine. An application for a marketing authorisation, including an application for a Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation, which contains the results of studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan should be eligible for the Community centralised procedure set out in Articles 5 to 15 of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004.
- (23) When an agreed paediatric investigation plan has led to the authorisation of a paediatric indication for a product already marketed for other indications, the marketing authorisation holder should be obliged to place the product on the market taking into account the paediatric information within two years following the date of approval of the indication. The competent authorities should be able, in specific cases affected by administrative delays, or in exceptional circumstances, to grant derogations from this provision. Any such derogations should be justified on duly substantiated grounds. The marketing obligation should relate only to products already authorised, but not to medicines authorised via a Paediatric Use Marketing Authorisation.
- (24) An optional procedure should be established to make it possible to obtain a single Community-wide opinion for a nationally authorised medicinal product when data on children following an agreed paediatric investigation plan form part of the marketing authorisation application. To achieve this, the procedure set out in Articles 32 to 34 of Directive 2001/83/EC may be used. This will allow the adoption of a Community harmonised Decision on use of the medicinal product in children and its introduction in all national product information. In the meantime, it would be desirable for a European paediatric form to be drawn up to serve as a reference for the collection of all the data available in the various Member States on a pharmaceutical product desired to be marketed in the Union but at that moment placed on the market only at national level.
- (25) It is essential to ensure that pharmacovigilance mechanisms are adapted to meet the specific challenges of collecting safety data in children, including data on possible long-term effects. Efficacy in children may also need additional study following authorisation. Therefore, an additional requirement for applying for a marketing authorisation that includes the results of studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan should be an obligation for the applicant to indicate how he proposes to ensure the long-term follow-up of possible adverse reactions to the use of the medinal product and efficacy in the paediatric population. Additionally, where there is a particular cause for concern, it is necessary, under the responsibility of the Paediatric Committee, to require the applicant to submit and implement a risk management system and/or perform specific post-marketing studies as a condition of the marketing authorisation.

- (26) For products falling within the scope of the requirement to submit paediatric data, if all the measures included in the agreed paediatric investigation plan are complied with, if marketing procedures are in progress in accordance with the provisions of Directive 2004/27/EC and if relevant information on the results of studies is included in product information, a reward should be granted in the form of a 6-month extension of the Supplementary Protection Certificate created by Council Regulation (EEC) No 1768/92⁽¹⁾.
- (27) Because the reward is for conducting studies in children and not for demonstrating that a product is safe and effective in children, the reward should be granted even when a paediatric indication is not authorised. However, to improve the information available on the use of medicines in the paediatric population, relevant information on use in paediatric populations should be included in authorised product information.
- (28) Under Regulation (EC) No 141/2000 of the European Parliament and of the Council of 16 December 1999 on orphan medicinal products⁽²⁾, medicinal products designated as orphan medicinal products gain ten years of market exclusivity on the granting of a marketing authorisation for the orphan indication. As such products are frequently not patent-protected, the reward of Supplementary Protection Certificate extension cannot be applied and when they are patent-protected, such an extension would provide a double incentive. Therefore, for orphan medicinal products, instead of extension of the Supplementary Protection Certificate, the ten-year period of orphan market exclusivity should be extended to twelve years if the requirement for data on use in children is fully met.
- (29) The measures provided for in this Regulation should not preclude the operation of other incentives or rewards. To ensure transparency on the different measures available at Community and Member State levels, the Commission should draw up a detailed list of all the incentives available, on the basis of information provided by the Member States. The measures set out in this Regulation, including the agreement of paediatric investigation plans, should not be grounds for obtaining any other Community incentives to support research, such as the funding of research projects under the multi-annual Community Framework Programmes for Research, Technological Development and Demonstration Activities.
- (30) In order to increase the availability of information on the use of medicines in children, and to avoid the repetition of studies in children which do not add to the collective knowledge, the European database provided for in Article 11 of Directive 2001/20/EC should include a European register of clinical trials of medicinal products for paediatric use comprising all ongoing, prematurely terminated, and completed paediatric studies conducted both in the Community and in third countries. Such studies should also be entered in the databases of clinical investigations currently in operation at national level. Studies in children already performed in third countries should not be repeated. However, if unavoidable, control studies should be possible.
- (31) Clinical trials in the paediatric population may require specific expertise, specific methodology and, in some cases, specific facilities and should be carried out by appropriately trained investigators. A network linking together existing national and European initiatives and study centres and taking account of international data in order to build up the necessary competences at a European level, would help facilitating co-operation and avoiding duplication of studies. This network should contribute to the work of strengthening the foundations of the European Research Area in the context of Community Framework Programmes for Research, Technological Development and Demonstration Activities, benefit the paediatric population and provide a source of information and expertise for industry.

- (32) For certain authorised products, pharmaceutical companies may already hold data on safety or efficacy in children. To improve the information available on the use of medicines in the paediatric populations, companies holding such data should be required to submit them to all competent authorities where the product is authorised. In this way the data can be assessed and, if appropriate, information should be included in the authorised product information aimed at healthcare professionals and patients.
- (33) Community funding should be envisaged to cover the work of the Paediatric Committee and of the Agency resulting from the implementation of this Regulation, such as the assessment of paediatric investigation plans, fee waivers for scientific advice, and information and transparency measures, including the database of paediatric studies and the network.
- (34) The measures necessary for the implementation of this Regulation should be adopted in accordance with Council Decision 1999/468/EC of 28 June 1999 laying down the procedures for the exercise of implementing powers conferred on the Commission⁽¹⁾.
- (35) Regulation (EEC) No 1768/92, Directive 2001/83/EC and Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 should therefore be amended accordingly,

INTRODUCTORY PROVISIONS

Chapter 1

Subject-matter and definitions

Article 1

This Regulation lays down rules concerning the development of medicinal products for human use in order to meet the specific therapeutic needs of the paediatric population, without subjecting children to unnecessary clinical or other trials (particularly in the case of medicinal products which are already used by children suffering from rare congenital conditions) and in compliance with Directive 2001/20/EC.

Article 2

In addition to the definitions laid down in Article 1 of Directive 2001/83/EC, the following definitions shall apply for the purposes of this Regulation:

1. “paediatric population” means that part of the population aged between birth and 18 years;
2. “paediatric investigation plan” means a research and development programme aimed at ensuring that the necessary data are generated determining the conditions in which a medicinal product may be authorised to treat the paediatric population.
3. “medicinal product authorised for a paediatric indication” means a medicinal product which is authorised for use in part or all of the paediatric population and in respect of which the details of the authorised indication are specified in the summary of the product characteristics drawn up in accordance with Article 11 of Directive 2001/83/EC.

Chapter 2

Identification of needs

Article 3

The Member States shall collect all available data on all existing and necessary uses of medicinal products and shall draw up an inventory of the needs which are not covered in the paediatric population. They shall forward those data to the Agency in the course of the year following the entry into force of this Regulation.

The Paediatric Committee set up under Article 7 shall provide guidance on the content and the format of the data to be collected.

Article 4

On the basis of the information referred to in Article 3 and after consulting the Commission, the Member States and the interested parties, the Paediatric Committee shall draw up a specific inventory of paediatric medicinal product needs.

In establishing the inventory of therapeutic needs, account shall be taken of the prevalence of the conditions in the paediatric population, the seriousness of the conditions to be treated, the availability and suitability of alternative treatments for the conditions in the paediatric population, including the efficacy and the adverse reaction profile of those treatments, and any unique paediatric safety issues.

The Agency shall publish the inventory within two years of the entry into force of this Regulation and shall update it regularly, including the data from trials carried out in third countries. This inventory shall also be aimed at establishing research priorities.

Article 5

The Agency shall, with the scientific support of the Paediatric Committee, develop a European network of existing national and European networks, investigators and centres with specific expertise in the performance of studies in the paediatric population.

The objectives of the European network shall be, inter alia, to coordinate studies relating to paediatric medicinal products, to build up the necessary scientific and administrative competences at European level, and to avoid duplication of studies and testing in children.

Within one year of the entry into force of this Regulation, the Management Board of the Agency shall, on a proposal from the Executive Director and following consultation with the Commission, the Member States and interested parties, adopt an implementing strategy for the launching and operation of the European network. This network must, where appropriate, be compatible with the work of strengthening the foundations of the European Research Area in the context of the Community Framework Programmes for Research, Technological Development and Demonstration Activities.

Article 6

Within one year of the entry into force of this Regulation, the Commission and the Member States shall establish a European paediatrics research programme under which studies into the use of medicinal products (in particular ones which are not covered by patents or supplementary certificates) shall be financed.

The programme shall take into account the priorities referred to in the third paragraph of Article 4.

Chapter 3

Paediatric Committee

Article 7

1. Not later than 6 months after the entry into force of this Regulation, a Paediatric Committee shall be established within the Agency.

The Agency shall act as the secretariat of the Paediatric Committee and shall provide it with technical and scientific support.

2. Save where otherwise provided in this Regulation, Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 shall apply to the Paediatric Committee.

3. The Executive Director of the Agency shall ensure appropriate co-ordination between the Paediatric Committee and the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use, the Committee for Orphan Medicinal Products, their working parties and any other scientific advisory groups.

The Agency shall draw up specific procedures for possible consultations between them.

Article 8

1. The Paediatric Committee shall be composed of the following members:

- (a) five members of the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use, appointed by the latter;
- (b) one person appointed by each Member State whose national competent authority is not represented through the members appointed by the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use;
- (c) ten persons appointed by the Commission, after consulting the European Parliament, on the basis of a public call for expressions of interest, in order to represent paediatricians, other physicians specialising in the treatment of children, general practitioners, pharmacists, pharmacovigilance and public-health specialists and parents' associations.

For the purposes of point (b), the Member States shall cooperate, under the coordination of the Executive Director of the Agency, in order to ensure that the final composition of the Paediatric Committee covers the scientific areas relevant to paediatric medicinal products, and including at least: pharmaceutical development, paediatric medicine, paediatric pharmacy, paediatric pharmacology, paediatric research, pharmacovigilance and ethics.

2. The members of the Paediatric Committee shall be appointed for a renewable period of three years. At meetings of the Paediatric Committee, they may be accompanied by experts.

3. The Paediatric Committee shall elect its Chairman from among its members for a term of three years renewable once.

4. The names and scientific qualifications of the members shall be published by the Agency.

Article 9

1. When preparing its opinions, the Paediatric Committee shall use its best endeavours to reach a scientific consensus. If such a consensus cannot be reached, the opinion shall be the one adopted by the majority of members. The opinion shall mention the divergent positions, with the grounds on which they are based.

The opinion shall be made public immediately.

2. The Paediatric Committee shall draw up its own rules of procedure for the implementation of its tasks. The rules of procedure shall enter into force after receiving a favourable opinion from the Management Board of the Agency and, subsequently, from the Commission.

3. All meetings of the Paediatric Committee may be attended by two representatives of the Commission, the Executive Director of the Agency or his representative.

Article 10

Members of the Paediatric Committee and its experts shall undertake to act in the public interest and in an independent manner. They shall not have financial or other interests in the pharmaceutical industry that could affect their impartiality.

All direct or indirect interests that could relate to the pharmaceutical industry shall be entered in a register held by the Agency which the public may consult. The register shall be updated annually.

Members of the Paediatric Committee and its experts shall declare at each meeting any specific interests which could be considered to be prejudicial to their independence with respect to the points on the agenda.

Members of the Paediatric Committee and its experts shall be required, even after their duties have ceased, not to disclose any information of the kind covered by the obligation of professional secrecy.

Article 11

1. The tasks of the Paediatric Committee shall include the following:

- (a) the results of all studies performed and details of all information collected in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan;
- (b) a decision of the Agency granting a product-specific waiver;
- (c) a decision of the Agency granting a class waiver;
- (d) a decision of the Agency granting a deferral;
- (e) ongoing paediatric studies on the product, the scheduled date for completion of the studies and the Agency's opinion on these points.

For the purposes of point (a), the decision of the Agency agreeing the paediatric investigation plan concerned shall also be included in the application.

2. The documents submitted pursuant to paragraph 1 shall, cumulatively, cover all subsets of the paediatric population.

Article 13

In the case of authorised medicinal products which are protected either by a supplementary protection certificate under Regulation (EEC) No 1768/92, or by a patent which qualifies for the granting of the supplementary protection certificate, Article 12 of this Regulation shall apply to applications for authorisation of new indications, including paediatric indications, new pharmaceutical forms and new routes of administration.

Where appropriate, Commission Regulation (EC) No 1085/2003 of 3 June 2003 concerning the examination of variations to the terms of a marketing authorisation for medicinal products for human use and veterinary medicinal products falling within the scope of Council Regulation (EEC) No 2309/93 ⁽¹⁾ shall apply.

The first paragraph shall also apply where the applicant shows that the medicinal product constitutes a significant therapeutic, scientific or technical innovation in accordance with the provisions of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 and, in particular, Article 3(2)(b) thereof.

Articles 12 and 13 shall not apply to products authorised under Articles 10, 10a, 13 to 16 or 16a to 16i of Directive 2001/83/EC.

In consultation with the Member States, the Agency and other interested parties, the Commission shall draw up the modalities concerning the format and content which applications for agreement or modification of a paediatric investigation plan and requests for waivers or deferrals must follow in order to be considered valid.

Chapter 2

Waivers

Article 16

1. Production of the information referred to in point (a) of Article 12(1) shall be waived for specific medicinal products or for classes of medicinal products, if there is evidence showing any of the following:
 - (a) that the specific medicinal product or class of medicinal products is likely to be ineffective or unsafe in part or all of the paediatric population;
 - (b) that the disease or condition for which the specific medicinal product or class is intended occurs only in adult populations;
 - (c) that the specific medicinal product does not represent a significant therapeutic benefit over existing treatments for paediatric patients.
2. The waiver provided for in paragraph 1 may be issued with reference only to one or more specified subsets of the paediatric population, with reference only to one or more specified therapeutic indications, or with reference to a combination of both.

Article 17

The Paediatric Committee may of its own motion adopt an opinion, on the grounds set out in Article 16(1), to the effect that a class or a product-specific waiver, as referred to in Article 16(1), should be granted.

As soon as the Paediatric Committee adopts an opinion, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply. In the case of a class waiver, only Article 30(4) shall apply.

Article 18

1. The applicant may, on the grounds set out in Article 16(1), apply to the Agency for a product-specific waiver.
2. Following receipt of the application, the Paediatric Committee shall appoint a rapporteur and shall within a maximum period of 60 days adopt an opinion as to whether or not a product-specific waiver should be granted.

Either the applicant or the Paediatric Committee may request a meeting during that 60-day period.

Whenever appropriate, the Paediatric Committee may request the applicant to supplement the particulars and documents submitted. Where the Paediatric Committee avails itself of this option, the 60-day time-limit shall be suspended until such time as the supplementary information requested has been provided.

3. As soon as the Paediatric Committee adopts an opinion, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply. The Agency shall inform the applicant accordingly within no more than seven working days. The applicant shall be informed of the reasons for the conclusion reached.

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

1. The Agency shall maintain a list of all waivers. The list shall be updated regularly (at least every six months) and made available to the public.
2. The Paediatric Committee may, at any time, adopt an opinion advocating the review of a granted waiver.

In the case of a change affecting a product-specific waiver, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply.

In the case of a change affecting a class waiver, Article 30(5) shall apply.
3. If a particular product-specific or class waiver is revoked, the requirement set out in Articles 12 and 13 shall not apply for 36 months from the date of its removal from the list of waivers.

Chapter 3

Paediatric investigation plan

Section 1

Requests for agreement

1. Where the intention is to apply in accordance with points (a) or (d) of Article 12(1), a paediatric investigation plan shall be drawn up and submitted to the Agency with a request for agreement.
2. The paediatric investigation plan shall specify the timing and the measures proposed to assess the quality, safety and efficacy of the medicinal product in all subsets of the paediatric population that may be concerned. In addition, it shall describe any measures to adapt the formulation of the medicinal product so as to make its use more acceptable, easier, safer or more effective for different subsets of the paediatric population.

Article 21

1. In the case of applications as referred to in Articles 12 and 13, the paediatric investigation plan including a summary report may be submitted with a request for agreement, at the earliest after completion of phase II of the human pharmaco-kinetic studies in adults, so as to ensure that investigation plans can be formulated in specific terms and hence meet requirements in the field of clinical studies involving children.

Should an application not be submitted upon completion of the human pharmaco-kinetic studies, the applicant shall supply the ongoing paediatric studies and the scheduled date for their completion. The competent authority shall follow up these points with the applicant.

2. Within 10 days of receiving the request referred to in paragraph 1, the Agency shall verify the validity of the request.
3. Whenever appropriate, the Agency may ask the applicant to submit additional particulars and documents, in which case the time-limit of 10 days shall be suspended until such time as the supplementary information requested has been provided.

Article 22

1. Following receipt of a proposed paediatric investigation plan which is valid, the Paediatric Committee shall appoint a rapporteur and shall within a maximum period of 60 days adopt an opinion as to whether or not the proposed studies will ensure the generation of the necessary data determining the conditions in which the medicinal product may be used to treat the paediatric population or subsets thereof, and as to whether or not the expected therapeutic benefits justify the studies proposed.

Within the same period, either the applicant or the Paediatric Committee may request a meeting.

2. Within the 60-day period referred to in paragraph 1, the Paediatric Committee may request the applicant to propose modifications to the plan, in which case the time-limit referred to in paragraph 1 for the adoption of the final opinion shall be extended for a maximum of 60 days. In such cases, the applicant or the Paediatric Committee may request an additional meeting during this period. The time-limit shall be suspended until such time as the modifications requested have been made.

Article 23

As soon as the Paediatric Committee adopts an opinion, whether positive or negative, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply.

Article 24

If, having considered a paediatric investigation plan, the Paediatric Committee concludes that Article 16(1)(a), (b) or (c) applies to the medicinal product concerned, it shall adopt a negative opinion under Article 22(1).

In such cases, the Paediatric Committee shall adopt an opinion in favour of a waiver under Article 17, whereupon the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply.

Section 2

Deferrals

Article 25

1. At the same time as the paediatric investigation plan is submitted under Article 21(1), a request may be made for deferral of the initiation or completion of some or all of the measures set out in that plan. Such deferral shall be justified on scientific and technical grounds or on grounds related to public health.

In any case, a deferral shall be granted when it is appropriate to conduct studies in adults prior to initiating studies in the paediatric population or when studies in the paediatric population will take longer to conduct than studies in adults.

2. On the basis of the experience acquired as a result of the operation of this Article, the Commission may adopt provisions in accordance with the procedure referred to in Article 54(2) to define further the grounds for granting a deferral.

Article 26

1. At the same time as the Paediatric Committee adopts a positive opinion under Article 22(1), it shall, of its own motion or following a request submitted by the applicant under Article 25, adopt an opinion, if the conditions specified in Article 25 are met, in favour of deferring the initiation or completion of some or all of the measures in the paediatric investigation plan.

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

An opinion in favour of a deferral shall specify the time-limits for initiating or completing the measures concerned.

2. As soon as the Paediatric Committee adopts an opinion in favour of deferral, as referred to in paragraph 1, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply.

Section 3

Modification of a paediatric investigation plan

Article 27

If, after the decision agreeing the paediatric investigation plan, the applicant encounters difficulties with its implementation such as to render the plan unworkable or no longer appropriate, the applicant may propose changes or request a deferral or a waiver, based on detailed grounds, to the Paediatric Committee. Within 60 days, the Paediatric Committee shall review these changes or the request for a deferral or a waiver and adopt an opinion proposing their refusal or acceptance and, wherever possible, propose a deadline for submission by the applicant of an amended paediatric investigation plan. As soon as the Paediatric Committee adopts an opinion, whether positive or negative, the procedure laid down in Chapter 4 shall apply.

Section 4

Compliance with the paediatric investigation plan

Article 28

The Paediatric Committee may, in the following cases, be requested to give its opinion as to whether studies conducted by the applicant are in compliance with the agreed paediatric investigation plan:

- (a) by the applicant, prior to submitting an application for marketing authorisation or variation as referred to in Articles 12 and 13, respectively;
- (b) by the Agency, or the competent authority, when validating an application, as referred to in point (a), which does not include an opinion concerning compliance adopted following a request under point (a);
- (c) by the Committee for Medicinal Products for Human Use, or the competent authority, when assessing an application, as referred to in point (a), where there is doubt concerning compliance and an opinion has not been given already following a request under points (a) or (b).

Member States shall take account of such an opinion.

If the Paediatric Committee is asked to give an opinion under the first paragraph, it must do so within 60 days of receiving the request.

Article 29

If, when conducting the scientific assessment of a valid application, the competent authority concludes that the studies are not compliant with the agreed paediatric investigation plan, the product shall not be eligible for the rewards provided for in Articles 40 and 41.

Chapter 4

Procedure

Article 30

1. Within 30 days of receiving the opinion of the Paediatric Committee, the applicant may submit to the Agency a written request, on detailed grounds, for a re-examination of the opinion.

L-Erbgħa, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

2. Within 30 days of receiving a request for re-examination pursuant to paragraph 1, the Paediatric Committee, having appointed a new rapporteur, who shall be able to question the applicant directly, shall issue a new opinion confirming or revising its previous opinion. The applicant may also offer to be questioned. The rapporteur shall inform the Paediatric Committee without delay in writing about the details of contacts with the applicant. The opinion shall be duly reasoned and a statement of reasons for the conclusion reached shall be annexed to the new opinion, which shall become definitive.
3. If, within the 30-day period referred to in paragraph 1, the applicant does not request re-examination, the opinion of the Paediatric Committee shall become definitive.
4. The Agency shall adopt a decision within a period not exceeding 15 days following receipt of the Paediatric Committee's definitive opinion. This decision shall be communicated to the applicant in writing, with detailed grounds.
5. In the case of a class waiver as referred to in Article 17, the Agency shall adopt a decision, which shall be published.

Chapter 5

Miscellaneous provisions

Article 31

The sponsor of a medicinal product intended for paediatric use may, prior to the submission of a paediatric investigation plan and during its implementation, request advice from the Agency on the design and conduct of the various tests and studies necessary to demonstrate the quality, safety and efficacy of the medicinal product in the paediatric population in accordance with Article 57(1)(n) of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004.

In addition, the sponsor may request advice on the design and conduct of pharmacovigilance and risk management systems as referred to in Article 39.

The Agency shall provide advice under this Article free of charge.

MARKETING AUTHORISATION PROCEDURES

Article 32

Save where otherwise provided in this Title, marketing authorisation procedures for the marketing authorisations covered by this Title shall be governed by the provisions laid down in Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 or in Directive 2001/83/EC.

Chapter 1

Marketing authorisation procedures for applications falling within the scope of Articles 12 and 13

Article 33

1. Applications may be submitted in accordance with the procedure laid down in Articles 5 to 15 of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 for a marketing authorisation as referred to in Article 12(1) of this Regulation which includes one or more paediatric indications selected on the basis of studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan.

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

Where authorisation is granted, all the results of those studies shall be included in the summary of product characteristics and, if appropriate, in the package leaflet of the medicinal product, provided that the competent authority deems the information to be of use to patients, whether or not all the paediatric indications concerned were approved. In such cases, the information shall be set out in such a way as to distinguish clearly between the paediatric indications that have been approved and those that have not.

2. Where a marketing authorisation is granted or varied, any waiver or deferral which has been granted pursuant to this Regulation shall be recorded in the summary of product characteristics and, if appropriate, in the package leaflet of the medicinal product concerned.

3. If the application complies with all the measures contained in the agreed completed paediatric investigation plan and if the summary of product characteristics reflects the results of studies conducted in compliance with that agreed paediatric investigation plan, the competent authority shall include within the marketing authorisation a statement indicating compliance of the application with the agreed completed paediatric investigation plan.

Article 34

In the case of medicinal products authorised under Directive 2001/83/EC, an application as referred to in Article 13 of this Regulation may be submitted, in accordance with the procedure laid down in Articles 32, 33 and 34 of Directive 2001/83/EC, for authorisation of a new indication, including the extension of an authorisation for use in the paediatric population, a new pharmaceutical form or a new route of administration.

That application shall comply with the requirement laid down in point (a) of Article 12(1).

The procedure shall be limited to the assessment of the specific sections of the summary of product characteristics to be varied.

Chapter 2

Paediatric use marketing authorisation

Article 35

1. For the purposes of this Regulation, a paediatric use marketing authorisation shall mean a marketing authorisation granted in respect of a medicinal product for human use which is not protected by a supplementary protection certificate under Regulation (EEC) No 1768/92 or by a patent which qualifies for the granting of the supplementary protection certificate, covering exclusively therapeutic indications which are relevant for use in the paediatric population, or subsets thereof, including the appropriate strength, pharmaceutical form or route of administration for that product.

2. Submission of an application for a paediatric use marketing authorisation shall in no way preclude the right to apply for a marketing authorisation for other indications.

3. An application for a paediatric use marketing authorisation shall be accompanied by the particulars and documents necessary to establish safety, quality and efficacy in children, including any specific data needed to support an appropriate strength, pharmaceutical form or route of administration of the product, in accordance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan.

The application shall also include the decision of the Agency agreeing the paediatric investigation plan concerned.

4. Where a medicinal product is or has been authorised in a Member State or in the Community, data contained in the dossier on that product may, where appropriate, be referred to, in accordance with Article 14(11) of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004 or Article 10 of Directive 2001/83/EC, in an application for a paediatric use marketing authorisation.

5. The medicinal product in respect of which a paediatric use marketing authorisation is granted may retain the name of any medicinal product which contains the same active substance and in respect of which the same holder has been granted authorisation for use in adults.

Article 36

Without prejudice to Article 3(2) of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004, an application for a paediatric use marketing authorisation may be made in accordance with the procedure laid down in Articles 5 to 15 of that Regulation.

Chapter 3

Identification

Article 37

Where a medicinal product is granted a marketing authorisation for a paediatric indication based on the results of studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan, the label shall display the name of the medicinal product and, below it, the European logo for any paediatric presentation.

That logo shall be selected following a design competition for children. The logo shall symbolically represent the contribution by the medicinal product to health.

The organisational arrangements for the competition shall be a matter for the Agency.

The first paragraph shall apply whether the name of the medicinal product is an invented name or a common name as referred to in Article 1(20) and (21), respectively, of Directive 2001/83/EC.

The provisions of this Article shall also apply to medicinal products authorised prior to the entry into force of this Regulation and covering paediatric indications only.

TITLE IV

POST-AUTHORISATION REQUIREMENTS

Article 38

Where medicinal products are authorised for a paediatric indication following completion of an agreed paediatric investigation plan and those products have already been marketed with other indications, the marketing authorisation holder shall, wherever possible within one year and no later than within two years of the date on which the paediatric indication is authorised, place the product on the market taking into account the paediatric indication. A publicly accessible register shall be set up by the competent authorities in order to indicate these deadlines.

The competent authorities may, in specific cases affected by administrative delays, grant derogations from this provision. Any such derogations shall be justified on duly substantiated grounds...

Article 39

1. In the following cases, the applicant shall detail, in addition to the normal requirements for post-marketing monitoring, the measures to ensure the follow-up of efficacy and of possible adverse reactions to the paediatric use of the medicinal product:

- (a) applications for a marketing authorisation that includes a paediatric indication;
- (b) applications to include a paediatric indication in an existing marketing authorisation;
- (c) applications for a paediatric use marketing authorisation.

2. Granting marketing authorisation for a paediatric indication shall be subject to the setting up of a risk management system by the firm concerned. If necessary, the competent authority may also require specific studies to be performed. The risk management system shall comprise a set of activities and interventions designed to prevent or minimise risks relating to medicinal products, including the assessment of the effectiveness of those interventions.

Assessment of the effectiveness of any risk management system and the results of any studies performed shall be included in the periodic safety update reports referred to in Article 104(6) of Directive 2001/83/EC and Article 24(3) of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004.

In addition, the competent authority may request submission of additional reports assessing the effectiveness of any risk minimisation system and the results of any such studies performed.

The holder of the marketing authorisation may not communicate information on pharmacovigilance matters to the public without the Agency's consent.

3. Pharmacovigilance data on adverse reactions reported before and after marketing shall be collated in a register that is made publicly available.

4. In the case of a deferral, the marketing authorisation holder shall submit an annual report to the Agency providing an update on progress with paediatric studies in accordance with the decision of the Agency agreeing the paediatric investigation plan and granting a deferral.

The Agency shall inform the competent authority if it is found that the marketing authorisation holder has failed to comply with the decision of Agency agreeing the paediatric investigation plan and granting a deferral.

5. The Agency shall draw up detailed guidelines relating to the application of this Article.

6. With a view to ensuring total independence, public funding commensurate with the tasks assigned to competent authorities shall be provided for pharmacovigilance activities.

7. If, in cases where a medicinal product is authorised for a paediatric indication and the marketing authorisation holder has benefited from the provisions of Articles 40, 41 or 42, the marketing authorisation holder ceases to market the medicinal product, the marketing authorisation holder shall allow a third party to use the pharmaceutical, pre-clinical and clinical documentation contained in the file on the medicinal product on the basis of Article 10c of Directive 2001/83/EC. The marketing authorisation holder shall inform the Agency of its intention to cease marketing the product and the Agency will make this fact public.

Where an application under Articles 12 or 13 includes the results of all studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan, the holder of the patent or supplementary protection certificate shall be entitled to a six-month extension of the period referred to in Article 13(1) and (2) of Regulation (EEC) No 1768/92.

The first subparagraph shall also apply where completion of the agreed paediatric investigation plan fails to lead to the authorisation of a paediatric indication, but the results of the studies conducted are reflected in the summary of product characteristics and, if appropriate, in the package leaflet of the medicinal product concerned.

2. The inclusion in a marketing authorisation of the statement referred to in Article 33(3) shall be used for the purposes of applying paragraph 1 of this Article.

3. Where the procedures laid down in Directive 2001/83/EC have been used, the six-month extension of the period referred to in paragraph 1 shall be granted in the Member States in which the product is authorised, or in which marketing procedures are in progress in accordance with the provisions of Directive 2004/27/EC.

They shall not apply to medicinal products designated as orphan medicinal products pursuant to Regulation (EC) No 141/2000 or to products whose active substance has already benefited from a patent covering the same paediatric use or formulation or has received any other form of data exclusivity or market exclusivity for the same paediatric use in the European Union.

5. The extension referred to in paragraph 1 shall be admissible only once per medicinal product.

Article 41

Where an application for a marketing authorisation is submitted in respect of a medicinal product designated as an orphan medicinal product pursuant to Regulation (EC) No 141/2000 and that application includes the results of all studies conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan, and the statement referred to in Article 33(3) of this Regulation is subsequently included in the marketing authorisation granted, the ten-year period referred to in Article 8(1) of Regulation (EC) No 141/2000 shall be extended to twelve years.

The first paragraph shall also apply where completion of the agreed paediatric investigation plan fails to lead to the authorisation of a paediatric indication, but the results of the studies conducted are reflected in the summary of product characteristics and, if appropriate, in the package leaflet of the medicinal product concerned. Where it is ascertained that, in a specific paediatric subpopulation identified in accordance with criteria and modalities defined by the Paediatric Committee, the conditions for recourse to the procedure laid down for orphan medicinal products are fulfilled, the authorisation holder may have recourse to whichever of the two procedures he chooses.

Article 42

1. Where a paediatric use marketing authorisation is granted in accordance with Articles 5 to 15 of Regulation (EC) No 726/2004, the data and marketing protection periods referred to in Article 14(11) of that Regulation shall apply.

2. Where a paediatric use marketing authorisation is granted in accordance with the procedures laid down in Directive 2001/83/EC, the data and marketing protection periods referred to in Article 10(1) of that Directive shall apply.

1. In addition to the rewards and incentives provided for in Articles 40, 41 and 42, medicinal products for paediatric use may be eligible for incentives provided by the Community or by the Member States to support research into, and the development and availability of, medicinal products for paediatric use.

2. Within one year of the entry into force of this Regulation, the Member States shall communicate to the Commission detailed information concerning any measures they have enacted to support research into, and the development and availability of, medicinal products for paediatric use. This information shall be updated regularly at the request of the Commission.

3. Within 18 months of the entry into force of this Regulation, the Commission shall publish a detailed inventory of all incentives provided by the Community and Member States to support research into, and the development and availability of, medicinal products for paediatric use. This inventory shall be updated regularly and shall be accessible to the public.

Article 44

1. Within one year of the adoption of this Regulation, a specific European programme for research into medicinal products for children shall be established to provide support for studies relating to existing pharmaceutical products or existing active substances not covered by a patent or a supplementary protection certificate.

L-Erbgha, 7 ta' Settembru 2005

2. This Community programme shall be called MICE (Medicines Investigation for the Children of Europe).
3. On a proposal from the Commission, the European Parliament and the Council shall, acting under the conditions laid down in the Treaty, adopt financial rules governing the establishment and operation of the programme.
4. The programme shall be administered by the Agency which, acting under the authority of the Commission, shall issue specific calls for proposals. Calls for proposals shall, wherever possible, be based on a level of funding that will cover all, or at least a very large part of, the costs generated by the studies requested.

TITLE VI

COMMUNICATION AND COORDINATION

Article 45

1. Appropriate details of trials that are contained within agreed paediatric investigation plans, including those that are carried out in third countries, shall be entered into the European database created by Article 11 of Directive 2001/20/EC. By way of derogation from the latter provision, the Agency shall arrange for part of this information to be accessible to the public.

Details of the results of all completed studies conducted in accordance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan, whether terminated prematurely or not, as well as details of the results of all studies funded by the Community and the Member States to support research into, and the development and availability of, medicinal products for paediatric use, including any studies funded by the MICE programme, shall be published by the Agency with, whenever applicable, all relevant conclusions for medicinal products in the same therapeutic class that cover the same proposed paediatric use.

2. The Commission shall, on a proposal by the Agency and in consultation with Member States and interested parties, draw up guidance on the nature of the information referred to in paragraph 1 to be entered in the European database created by Article 11 of Directive 2001/20/EC, on the content of the information to be made accessible to the public in application of paragraph 1 and on the Agency's responsibilities and tasks in this connection.

All existing paediatric studies, as referred to in paragraph 1, and all paediatric studies initiated prior to the entry into force of this Regulation shall be eligible to be included in a paediatric investigation plan, and shall be taken into consideration by the Paediatric Committee when assessing applications for waivers and deferrals and by competent authorities when assessing applications submitted pursuant to Articles 12, 13 or 35.

3. No paediatric studies, as referred to in paragraph 1, which have at the date of entry into force of this Regulation already been submitted for assessment in a third country, shall be taken into consideration for the rewards and incentives provided for in Articles 40, 41 and 42.

Article 47

Any other studies sponsored by the marketing authorisation holder which involve the use in the paediatric population of a medicinal product covered by a marketing authorisation, whether or not they are conducted in compliance with an agreed paediatric investigation plan, shall be submitted to the competent authority within six months of the completion of the studies concerned.

The first paragraph shall apply whether or not the marketing authorisation holder intends to apply for a paediatric indication.

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- D. whereas some of the fires were linked to this summer's drought and high temperatures, but the abandonment of the rural world, inadequate upkeep of forests, planting of inappropriate tree varieties and a considerable percentage of criminal activity were also contributory factors,
- E. whereas the extreme and severe drought that occurred in southern Europe has contributed to diminishing the soil humidity, thus increasing the threat of forest fires and their aggressiveness; whereas the last few years have been marked by numerous cases of drought and a growing number of forest fires in the regions of southern Europe, accentuating desertification in many regions and affecting agriculture, stockbreeding and forestry resources,
- F. whereas climate change is one of the major challenges of the 21st century, having significant negative global environmental, economic and social consequences, including increases in the incidence and intensity of extreme weather events across the globe; whereas the objectives of the Kyoto Protocol are an essential condition for a global strategy on climate change, but further targets need to be set for the period after 2012,
- G. having regard to the economic and social damage caused by these fires and floods to the local economies, productive activity and tourism,
- H. whereas these fires are a shared and recurrent problem throughout southern Europe and the nature of the forests and climate of this part of Europe makes it one of the Union's most vulnerable areas,
- I. whereas for the second time in four years the countries of central, eastern and northern Europe have been hit by severe floods directly affecting thousands of families, their houses and other types of private property as well as public infrastructure and agriculture,
- J. whereas the Member States, especially the cohesion countries, as well as applicant and neighbouring countries, have difficulty in tackling such huge natural disasters unaided, and it is clear that they require solidarity and assistance,
- K. whereas the impact of the fires and the damage provoked by the flooding in many cases cross internal borders, and it is therefore essential to strengthen the joint resources for combating natural disasters and the Community civil protection mechanisms,
- L. whereas the rural development policy is insufficient for dealing with this problem; noting with surprise that under the new European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development (EAFRD) there will no longer be financing for aid to farmers for creating firebreaks,
- M. whereas the Commission's communication on the European forestry strategy proposes no specific measures to combat fires, even though they are the main factor in the deterioration of Europe's forests,
- N. taking note of the Commission's communication on risk and crisis management in agriculture, as well as the communications on the EU's response capacity in the event of disasters and crises and on improving civil protection operations,
1. Expresses its solidarity with and its deepest sympathy for all the families of those who lost their lives and the inhabitants of the areas affected during this tragic summer; pays tribute to the devotion of the firefighters and civilians who risked their lives putting out the fires;
 2. Considers that the consequences of these disasters are of more than purely national scope and that they call for a genuine commitment at European level;
 3. Welcomes the solidarity shown by the EU and its Member States with the affected regions, in both the Member States and the candidate countries, and the valuable assistance offered to their authorities and emergency services;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

4. Expresses its concern at the increasing number of natural disasters, attributed to a large extent by the experts to climate change, given the aggravation of extreme events;
5. Reiterates its view that the Kyoto Protocol continues to be the central tool of the global strategy to halt climate change; calls on the Commission to take steps to ensure respect for the undertakings made at Kyoto and in its follow-up; interprets these extreme weather conditions as another sign of the need for ambitious world action to halt climate change;
6. Agrees that the Solidarity Fund rules should be amended as a matter of urgency so as to clearly include aid to populations hit by disasters such as drought or forest fires and to oblige national authorities to inform citizens about Community financial assistance and make this assistance visible in individual projects; furthermore, insists on the need to apply such aid immediately to areas and countries affected;
7. Recalls the Solidarity Fund in the EU budget and hopes that the Commission will quickly release the necessary funds once the relevant Member States have submitted their requests for assistance, including pre-accession aid, to help the candidate countries and third countries deal rapidly with the aftermath of the floods;
8. Calls on the Commission to continue its collaboration with the national authorities in order to support the affected population, minimise the environmental impact of fires and floods, provide public aid to restore the productive potential in the affected areas, seek to re-launch job creation and take the appropriate measures to compensate the social costs inherent in the loss of jobs and other income sources; also urges the Commission to expedite all the relevant Community administrative procedures, namely those relating to the need to re-programme structural funds and the Cohesion Fund and to make the overly-rigid processing of these funds more flexible;
9. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to work towards closer cooperation on civil protection measures in the event of natural disasters with a view of preventing and minimising their devastating impact by providing the services concerned with the necessary early warning, coordination and logistical tools, in particular by making available additional civil protection resources for major emergencies and creating a European Civil Protection Corps, taking special account of the vulnerabilities of border zones;
10. Calls on the Council not to disregard the need for long-term investments for policies to prevent such disasters and/or limit the damage caused by them and therefore to abandon its strategy of limiting the future financial perspective to 1 % of EU GNI;
11. Calls on the Commission to undertake a detailed analysis of the causes, consequences and repercussions of this summer's fires, especially for Europe's forests, to submit proposals for the development of a Community policy for bringing forest fires under control, and to draw up a common firefighting protocol; calls for the reforestation of affected areas to be based on respect for their bio-climatic and environmental features, using species and varieties more resistant to fire and drought and adapted to local conditions; emphasises the need for Community support for the replanting of forests;
12. Calls on the Commission to support measures, including measures to raise public awareness, in support of more sustainable use of water, soil and biological resources, in particular in southern Europe;
13. Regrets the Council's decision to eliminate aid to farmers for creating firebreaks, and calls for this funding to be reinstated; stresses the need to develop policies relating to the effective prevention of forest fires, reaffirming that the Commission must encourage monitoring and prevention measures, especially in the framework of the "Forest Focus" Regulation and of the new European Union Forest Strategy, with a view to protecting Community forests from fires and to funding, in particular, appropriate forest fire prevention measures, such as fire separators, forest paths, access points, water points and forest management programmes;
14. Recommends the establishment of a European observatory on drought, desertification, floods and other effects of climate change in order to gather information and ensure a more effective response;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

15. Believes that the damage caused by recent events further emphasises that mitigation will be much less costly than the consequences of global warming; recognises also that many of the policies required to stop dangerous climate change will offer win-win situations in terms of reducing oil dependency, improving air quality and generating savings;
16. Calls for forest policy at Union level to be reinforced by giving it greater weight in the multifunctional role of European agriculture, with a twofold aim: maintenance and employment of the rural population and determined, substantial expansion of forested areas;
17. Calls on the Commission to include as an eligible expense within the appropriate financial instruments the possibility of cofinancing for technical equipment, including aircraft, to prevent and combat forest fires;
18. Calls for more stringent penalties for criminal acts that degrade the environment, particularly those connected with starting forest fires;
19. Calls, over and above town planning measures which prevent speculation on land burned by forest fires, for other types of measures to be adopted to make repopulation of the affected areas and proper upkeep of forests by owners compulsory;
20. Calls on the Commission to step up research resources for flood prevention and coordinate the research already carried out in individual Member States in this area, in order to arrive as soon as possible at a coherent energy and transport policy in the area of risk prevention;
21. Undertakes, for its part, to take all necessary steps to ensure that a medium and long-term, future-oriented, preventive strategy on forest fires is adopted at Community level;
22. Calls on the Conference of Presidents:
 - to authorise the drawing up of an own-initiative report on fires, droughts and floods by the Committee on Regional Development, the Committee on Agriculture and Rural Development and the Committee on the Environment, Public Health and Food Safety on the basis of a cooperation procedure;
 - to organise a joint hearing on fires, droughts, and floods;
 - to authorise an official visit to the areas of central and southern Europe affected by natural disasters this summer;
23. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the governments of the Member States affected by the fires and the local authorities in the affected areas.

Basic guidelines for sustainable European tourism

European Parliament resolution on new prospects and new challenges for sustainable European tourism (2004/2229(INI))

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Commission Communication of 21 November 2003 on basic orientations for the sustainability of European tourism (COM(2003)0716),
- having regard to the Council Resolution of 21 May 2002 on the future of European tourism⁽¹⁾,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- having regard to its resolution of 14 May 2002 on working together for the future of European tourism⁽¹⁾,
 - having regard to Rule 45 of its Rules of Procedure,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Transport and Tourism and the opinion of the Committee on Culture and the Committee on Regional Development (A6-0235/2005),
- A. whereas Europe is the world's leading tourist destination; whereas tourist and travel services contribute directly — at a rate of at least 4 % — to the EU's GDP and account directly for more than seven million jobs; whereas more than two million businesses, a large majority of which are small and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), are directly involved in providing tourist services,
- B. whereas the enlargement of the Union to include new Member States with high tourist potential will further contribute to bolstering the sector's economic weight and its importance to European growth; whereas the expansion of tourism in the new Member States should contribute to their growth at a rate of 3 % of GDP and to the creation of three million jobs,
- C. whereas demographic trends in the EU show a gradual ageing of the population, a fact which will imply in the future a broader tourist market for senior citizens interested in seasonal long stay destinations and in low season travel, particularly in the south, which will have effects on social and health services and on the property market,
- D. whereas intra-European tourism also contributes to an awareness of European cultures and heritages and, on this basis, strengthens EU citizens' sense of sharing a common identity and a common destiny,
- E. whereas tourism does not at present constitute a Community policy and, by virtue of the principle of subsidiarity, primarily comes within the remit of the Member States,
- F. whereas tourism is nevertheless affected by many policies which do come under the Community's remit and that means that it should be given greater consideration at EU level, yet, in spite of the various actions undertaken, it does not receive attention commensurate with its importance,
- G. whereas, while tourism contributes directly to development, it can also affect the sustainability factors of interregional cohesion and balances, which means that the Union's policies must be adequately coordinated by means of coherent and integrated programmes,
- H. whereas tourism is helping to create an internal demand for quality services which could contribute to a sharp upturn in the European economy; whereas tourism at European level and the services provided by European operators should constitute a global reference in terms of quality, safety, enjoyment and consumer rights, thereby increasing the sector's competitiveness,
- I. whereas sustainable tourism is aimed at reducing the impact of tourism on resources and generating material and non-material benefits throughout the Community, as well as stimulating an ongoing process of improvement of the areas concerned and the infrastructure in which tourist development is to take place,

Competitiveness and quality of services

1. Notes that tourism is of vital importance to growth, employment and new communication and information technologies; notes that it is therefore at the heart of the Lisbon process;
2. Points out that tourism is one of the economic sectors with the most potential for growth and for job creation, in particular for young people and women; stresses also that it is made up of activities involving a wide range of labour-intensive types of production, providing jobs for a wide variety of occupational profiles both as regards the type of employment and the level of specialisation;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

3. Notes that, while tourism has reached excessive proportions in certain regions, placing a disproportionate strain on the local populace and environment, other regions have large underdeveloped tourist potential;
4. Observes that, at international level, tourism is extremely competitive, the market shares held by European tourist operators are increasingly vulnerable, and Europe's position at world level is under threat;
5. Points out that the economic growth and development of markets such as Brazil, China, India and Russia will create significant additional demand and European tourism sectors and industry need to be well positioned to meet this demand;
6. Emphasises the importance of ensuring that European regulations on the one hand protect consumers and on the other help to create an environment conducive to the success of the European tourist sector, in particular by promoting quality services;
7. Considers it vitally important to complete the internal market in tourist services and to achieve genuine equality of treatment between tourist operators; proposes, to this end, a Community-wide classification of tourist services, with the cooperation of the industry, to be used in particular for the classification of hotel facilities; also considers that measures should be taken in order to identify clearly and to harmonise professional profiles in the tourist industry in order to avoid unnecessary duplication and guarantee a more transparent service that does not confuse users;
8. Calls on the Council to restart work on the proposed revision of the Council Directive amending Directive 77/388/EEC as regards the special scheme for travel agents (COM(2002)0064); reiterates its support for the objectives of simplifying this special VAT scheme and maintaining the competitive position of operators established in the European Union vis-à-vis operators from third countries; calls on the Council urgently to conclude the decision-making process on the proposal for a Council Directive amending Directive 77/388/EEC as regards reduced rates of value added tax (COM(2003)0397), so as to enable all Member States to apply in a structured way reduced VAT rates for restaurants, as already exist for other tourism-related activities, such as holiday accommodation, plots on campsites, hotels and amusement parks;
9. Undertakes to support any Commission proposal to promote craft industry SMEs, such as one regarding registered designations of origin for non-food craft products;
10. Points out that the development of farm holidays is vitally important to achieving the objectives of the CAP reform wherever farmers wish to promote accommodation and hospitality services to improve farm incomes, ensure that farmers remain in the area, protect the countryside and maintain the cultural identity of the agricultural environment through the promotion of local traditions and regional food and wine products;
11. Recalls the need to work with all types of partnership such as that with the European Centre for the Development of Vocational Training (CEDEFOP) to promote employment, training and occupational skills in tourism in order to offer genuine career prospects to professional operators, reduce the adverse effects of the instability of the seasonal workforce and guarantee a quality of services in tune with new trends and the increasing expectations of consumers; recalls likewise the desirability of strengthening the presence of the tourism sector in the development of European programmes for teacher and student mobility in the field of both vocational training and university study, placing particular emphasis on supporting specific lifelong training programmes adapted to workers' circumstances;
12. Stresses the importance of training in the tourist industry and hence the need to promote the balanced and sustainable development of tourism by means of vocational training and further training leading to qualifications for those employed in this sector, thereby further improving existing services;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

13. Calls on the Commission to assess whether it might be possible to create a specific training network for the tourist sector within Community programmes which are already operating (Erasmus) so as to be able to interact with measures to promote employment and to link up training bodies;

14. Believes that consumer rights in the tourism sector should be defined and better protected and that this should include identifying new forms of protection such as conciliation services for tourists; calls on the Commission and the groups concerned to promote the representativeness at European level of bodies representing tourists as consumers; also calls on the Commission to consider the drafting of a "tourism package" comprising both a review of the existing directives on consumers' rights with regard to tourism⁽¹⁾ and new measures making it possible to improve consumer protection and quality standards in tourist services (particularly in the hotel and touring sectors) while taking account of new trends on the supply side (electronic sales);

15. Insists on the need for better coordination between Member States on the conditions of entry of third country nationals to EU territory so as to ensure a convergent approach towards tourist flows and their movement within the EU;

Safety and security of tourism

16. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to set up a contact group at European level involving the Member States and tour operators in order to coordinate information on the management of health crises, natural disasters or acts of terrorism as well as problems of personal, legal and criminal insecurity (arrest, kidnapping, and so on) and on the basis of recent crisis assessments to put forward measures to ensure a rapid and coordinated response for the protection of European tourists and for the support of operators affected by such events;

17. Calls on the Commission to evaluate the effectiveness of the Council Recommendation on fire safety in hotels⁽²⁾ (Report from the Commission on application of the Council Recommendation of 22 December 1986 on fire safety in existing hotels) (COM(2001)0348) and to promote at EU level voluntary standards concerning measures to improve the safety aspects of tourism services, including those relating to European camp sites and guide services for adventurous or dangerous trips or activities; calls on the Commission, if necessary, to submit a new proposal;

18. Notes the large proportion of women employed in the tourist sector and stresses accordingly the need not only for policies to promote training, opportunities, prospects and appropriate working conditions for female employees, but also positive measures to promote business initiatives by women in this sector;

19. Takes the view that the Commission should coordinate the establishment of a network for good practice exchange between high risk sports and leisure organisations and the provision of information on risk prevention and management, in particular for young people; calls on the Commission, in this context, investigate the desirability of requiring the maximum possible transparency and professionalism from companies managing this type of high risk leisure activity, asking that they take out compulsory care insurance;

20. Calls on the Commission to work with the Member States to improve the operation and awareness of the European emergency number 112 for the benefit of all citizens but in particular for tourists, having regard to the linguistic, technical and rapid response aspects of providing the 112 services;

New sustainable tourism activities

21. Welcomes the Commission's proposals on sustainable tourism in its communication on basic orientations for the sustainability of European tourism (COM(2003)0716);

22. Considers tourism to be a means of promoting environmental resources which can highlight its conservation and protection aspects;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

23. Highlights of the dangers of mass tourism which, in terms of the uncontrolled growth of transport and reception capacities and of seasonal fluxes, represents a threat to local natural and socio-economic balances; calls on the Commission, in this context, to study and report on the effectiveness of certain formulae already being applied (such as moratoria) or of other new formulae to tackle and offset these imbalances; calls on the Commission to put initiatives which can remedy the current imbalance between destinations which have reached maximum congestion levels and others which receive little publicity and yet are of major environmental, or historical and artistic significance, situated in the same tourist region;

24. Notes that, in regions with brief and intensive tourist seasons and slack off-seasons, employment levels in this sector fluctuate sharply, making it difficult to provide services of a consistently high quality; is of the opinion that efforts must therefore be made to provide more sustainable and consistent services; calls on the Commission to consider means of offsetting the under deployment of manpower, capital and services arising from the seasonal nature of work in this sector;

25. Calls on the Commission therefore to endeavour to coordinate national holiday arrangements so as to even out the burden on access routes and tourist infrastructures and achieve a more efficient and sustainable deployment of human resources by reducing seasonal fluctuations in employment levels;

26. Stresses the need for all parties in the sector to take steps to capture new demand outside the high season, to spread visits over the year and to make better use of hotel and accommodation facilities; for that purpose, points to the positive repercussions of conference and business tourism, medical and thermal tourism, commemorative tourism, cultural tourism in every shape and form, gastronomic, naturalist, sports-based, spiritual, historical and language-related tourism, religious tourism, social tourism and so on;

27. Stresses the need to create services for management and redistribution, in terms of time and space of tourist flows, including measures aimed at tourist mobility wherever destinations are congested and near maximum capacity;

28. Also considers that the gradual ageing of the population will lead to an increase in the number of off-season tourists; calls on the Commission to encourage the development of senior citizens' tourism within the European Union as well as cooperation between the Member States in this area, giving priority to exchanges between, and reception of, groups of senior citizens from other countries outside the peak season; considers that this action should be seen as an opportunity to establish greater North-South cooperation; call on the Commission to launch a low-season "third-age" tourism programme, which will help to improve the quality of life of senior citizens, create jobs and generate demand and growth in the European economy; suggests that this programme might be named "Ulysses";

29. Notes that every European citizen has a right to be a tourist and that appropriate action should therefore be taken to ensure that categories of users with special needs can exercise that right; in this connection, invites the Commission to put forward a similar initiative to make tourist and leisure establishments, facilities, services and itineraries accessible to people with reduced mobility, and to ensure that they receive sufficient publicity; stresses also the importance of taking appropriate action to train those employed in the reception of and provision of assistance to elderly and disabled tourists and the need to help to prepare and distribute tourism advertisements to which these various categories of users will have access;

30. Recognises the contribution of itinerant tourism, such as touring caravanning, in mitigating the negative effects of mass tourism by dispersing concentrations of tourists; stresses the need to promote measures aimed at contributing to its development, in particular by remedying the lack of appropriate facilities for parking and providing multifunctional sites and storage facilities for caravans and motor caravans throughout the Community;

31. Welcomes the initiative announced by the Commission on the implementation of an Agenda 21 for European tourism; recommends that this programme be aimed, above all, at guiding and supporting, by means of sustainable tourism indicators, the implementation of local Agenda 21s and coordinating action in Member States with a view to good practice exchange in the field of sustainable tourism;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

32. Welcomes the setting up of the public-private partnership made possible by the Sustainable Tourism Group; wishes to be involved and informed of the group's work and the progress thereof with a view to the elaboration of Agenda 21 with a view to European sustainable tourism; asserts that participation by organisations from this sector in the analysis, planning, monitoring and evaluation of policy at various levels in the tourist sector must be a fundamental and guiding principle;
33. Stresses the fundamental role played by education in promoting responsible tourism; calls on the Commission to ensure that its programmes after 2006 focus even more on educational exchange, apprenticeship and volunteer programmes to make young people aware of the local cultures and heritage of regions in which they are to be holidaying or staying, so as to encourage civic tourism, which respects local people and their communities; recommends that the Commission also encourage the process of acquisition and transfer of knowledge and innovations between tourist undertakings;
34. In the same context of the demand for responsible tourism, reiterates its call to the Commission and the Member States to apply dissuasive penalties to agencies and hotel chains which encourage sexual tourism and child exploitation;
35. Considers that the tourism industry occupies a key place in the economic development of countries in the Mediterranean basin and is a vector for rapprochement in the cultural dialogue; calls for consideration to be given to the possibility of setting up a training exchange programme for people working in tourism in the Mediterranean regions, within the framework of the Barcelona process;
36. Emphasises the need for a well-balanced standard of eco-labelling in the field of sustainable tourism and supports further initiatives that contribute to better inclusion of local social and economic concerns, climate protection, respect for the local natural environment, energy saving, water and waste management, sustainable intermodal mobility chains etc.;
37. Calls on the Commission to encourage measures to ensure that the specific question of sustainability is included in training and further training courses in the tourist sector; supports the initiative "how to set up a tourism learning area" and calls for it to be further developed;
38. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to place tourism high on the agenda of employment strategies and priority measures to assist the underprivileged, given the major impetus it provides for the economy and the employment market in Europe;

Knowledge and promotion of European tourism

39. Welcomes the action taken by the Commission to promote the implementation of reliable, harmonised macroeconomic data (tourism satellite accounts) required to strengthen the identity of Community tourism; calls on the Member States to pursue their efforts on this issue, and on the Commission to propose an amendment of Council Directive 95/57/EC of 23 November 1995 on the collection of statistical information in the field of tourism⁽¹⁾, to include a framework for tourism satellite accounting;
40. Stresses the need to introduce co-ordination of the new Member States' tourism operators and public bodies into the networks and structures which exist at European level, with a particular view to fully associating them, by means of exchanges of experience and good practice, with the tourist destinations of the older Member States;
41. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to assess the possibility of a scheme, along the lines of the European Capital of Culture initiative, to designate outstanding European tourist destinations, to allow one or more regions or micro-regions to be selected yearly on the basis of quality indicators linked to the preservation and upgrading of cultural and natural heritage and the development of sustainable tourist services; accordingly, calls on the Commission and the Member States to study the desirability of proposing an EU tourism mark or destination, characterised by tremendous diversity and high social quality and sustainability, and to promote it both within and outside the EU through a suitable communication campaign;
42. Points out that preserving the cultural heritage (in particular that which is designated world heritage by UNESCO) is of major importance to the sustainable development of tourism in the EU; calls upon the Commission to make more money available for preserving the cultural heritage;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

43. Calls on the Commission and the Member States to create the "Iron Curtain Trail", an initiative analogous to the "Boston Freedom Trail" in remembrance of the American Independence War or to the "Berliner Mauerweg" in remembrance of the construction and fall of the Berlin Wall, in order to promote European identity;
44. Welcomes the Innovating Regions in Europe (IRE) initiative which makes it possible to develop a good practice exchange network in the field of innovative regional initiatives; calls on the Commission specifically to identify tourism within the framework of the IRE network and to promote sustainable tourism pilot projects to be supported by the European Union;
45. Invites the Commission, with a view to boosting the Community's contribution to the sustainability of European tourism, to help to promote and foster pilot projects such as the "Green Card" scheme in the Balearic Islands, since such projects constitute good practice and show that it is possible to create new formulae to achieve a balance between the development of the tourism industry and the protection of the environment;
46. Supports actions to promote Europe as a destination at world level by means of a European Tourism Portal accessible to European tourists and those from the main non-European tourist source countries; urges the Commission, the European Travel Commission (ETC) and the project's other partners to promote the putting online of general information (the practical guide "Travelling in Europe") and data on common tourism resources and subjects (gastronomy, hill walking, island tourism, health cures, church/cultural tourism, conference and business tourism, and so on); proposes likewise that access to national portals from the European portal be facilitated by means of a harmonised thematic link page;
47. Notes that, given the new framework for assessing tourist activities and the challenges of the enlarged Europe, it is even more necessary to achieve effective coordination and cooperation between the public and private sector not only at local or national level but also at European level, this being essential in order to achieve sustainable policies and practices, improved investment and greater competitiveness between the Member States;
48. Welcomes any kind of initiative which brings the people of Europe closer together through tourism, such as European rural, social or cultural tourism networks and itineraries, and calls for them to be made better known through the media;

Tourism and transport

49. Recalls that transport is essential to tourism, especially in the case of island regions and the most remote regions in general, both as a contribution to the quality of the tourist services chain and in terms of the accessibility of destinations;
50. Emphasises the need to promote combined train and bicycle travel and considers the "Eurovelo" network to be a good basis for this; also requests that railway enterprises allow bicycles on trains, including long distance and cross-border trains, as is already the case with the French TGV;
51. Urges national and regional authorities to stimulate inland waterway tourism by seeing to it that recreational waterway networks are provided and maintained in Europe, on the basis of internationally agreed classifications;
52. Welcomes the Commission's initiative to establish state-aid guidelines for regional airports and low-cost companies, so as to improve legal certainty and ensure fair competition in favour of tourist accessibility and regional development; recalls nevertheless that with a view to the goal of sustainability, steps should be taken to ensure that the development of low-cost airlines is supervised, so as to avoid a proliferation of air links to specific regions or neighbouring regions, and on the contrary develop to the full the interconnection of air transport and collective land transport;
53. Welcomes the Commission's proposal in respect of air carriers' identification and the planned extension of passenger information arrangements beyond air transport; furthermore, hopes for a specific Commission initiative laying down safety standards and monitoring procedures applicable to small carriers, minor airlines and secondary airports; considers that, in any case, the activities of the European Aviation Safety Agency must be stepped up and that coordination with the Member States' authorities must be improved;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

54. Stresses likewise the importance of making tourist services attractive of promoting integrated ticketing systems;

55. Welcomes likewise the Commission's initiative on making air transport accessible to people with reduced mobility, whose share of tourist demand is growing; stresses the importance of making provisions for extending such measures to land passenger transport;

Structural intervention co-funded by the Community

56. Recalls that tourism plays a real role in regional development and diversification, particularly in rural and island areas; recalls that projects should be co-funded on the basis of an integrated approach, bringing together all the resources which contribute to the quality of services to users and to the success of the destinations, with a view to the economic viability of these projects, particularly by means of quality public-private partnerships;

57. Welcomes the way in which tourism is taken into account through the convergence objective and the action in rural areas set out in the new proposal for a European Parliament and Council Regulation on the European Regional Development Fund (ERDF) (COM(2004)0495); calls likewise for the proposal's regional competitiveness objective to benefit tourism SMEs; welcomes the goal of encouraging tourist activities found in the Proposal for a Council Regulation on supporting rural development by the European Agricultural Fund for Rural Development (EAFRD) (COM(2004)0490), by diversifying the rural economy;

58. Calls on the Commission and Council, when adopting the new structural policy instruments for 2007-2013, to ensure that the strategic guidelines provide for an integrated approach to tourism, allowing the EAFRD and the ERDF actions to be coordinated in a spirit similar to that of the LEADER programme and the Interreg and Urban programmes. This approach should allow the implementation of a genuine regional strategy for sustainable tourism;

59. Calls on the Member States to establish objectives within their national strategic frameworks and operating programmes which will enable the regions to set up and fund coherent projects for developing sustainable tourism, tailor-made to local conditions and possibilities, including partnerships between different areas and institutions so as to build up appropriate local tourist systems;

60. Calls also on the Member States to cover the tourist issue by means of ex ante, in itinere and ex post assessments of projects financed by Community funds, piloted by national thematic groups for tourism on the basis of criteria and indicators reflecting the economic viability and sustainability of the projects planned;

61. Calls on the Commission to draw up a mid-term global assessment report on the involvement of Community tourism-linked programmes and the total impact thereof on the quality of the tourism products on offer and the sustainable development of European destinations;

62. Calls for the setting up of support mechanisms for the public at large and for SMEs and local authorities in particular which present and analyse the conditions for implementing and using Structural Fund programmes and other Community actions (culture, environment, and so on) that contribute to the quality of tourism;

63. Stresses that, while tourism is a policy which falls within the competence of the Member States, cross-border initiatives which demand social cooperation, and which bind regions together (church/cultural tourism, pilgrimages, water tourism and so on) need support in the context of the INTERREG programme;

64. Calls on the Commission to create a sufficient budget line in the light of the tourist sector's importance for the European economy;

Tourism and coordinating Community legislation

65. Asks that any draft secondary legislation which has an impact on the tourist sector be identified at the outset of the implementation of the Commission's work programme, and be subject to an impact assessment, with the involvement of bodies representing industry, employees and consumers; asks also that there be a report on the implementation of these measures on the tourist sector; asks that these ex ante and ex post assessments be systematically forwarded to Parliament;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

66. Asks likewise that within the framework of the interservices consultations within the Commission, the interests of the sector and the goals of sustainable tourism set out in the Commission's communication be taken into account;

67. Calls on the Commission to consider setting up a network of tourism correspondents/ coordinators in all Commission Directorates whose remit affects tourism activities (Enterprises and Industry, Regional Policy, Environment, Agriculture and Rural Development, Energy and Transport, Internal Market and Services, and so on), which could be coordinated by the department in charge of tourism within the Enterprise and Industry DG;

Tourism in the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe

68. Welcomes the insertion of a specific section on tourism (Section 4, Article III-281) in the Treaty establishing a Constitution for Europe; believes that this legal basis will make more consistent support action possible, and that it will be given extra weight by the full involvement of the European Parliament in the adoption of legislative measures;

69. Calls on the Commission to work together with its main institutional partners and the sector's representative bodies on the various avenues of action to encourage the development of an environment more favourable to business competitiveness and coordination between Member States; calls on the Commission to propose, from 2007, the implementation of a multiannual action plan ("tourism package") to strengthen the consistency of Union action on tourism by bringing together the Member States and their regional local authorities, in accordance with the principles of good governance;

70. Calls on the Commission to include tourism among the principal guidelines and priorities for cooperation with partner countries in the context of European initiatives to promote neighbourly relations, for example the Euro-Mediterranean partnership arrangements;

71. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council and Commission.

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- A. whereas the purpose of the Schools is to educate together children of the staff of the European Communities; whereas besides the children covered by the Agreements provided for in Articles 28 and 29 of the Statute of the European Schools, other children may attend the Schools within the limits set by the Board of Governors; whereas the recruitment and retention of suitably qualified officials is necessary for the smooth functioning of the European institutions, and whereas the provision of mother-tongue education for the children of such officials, the recognition of the equal value of academic years successfully completed in the Member States and at the European Schools, and the European Baccalaureate, all contribute to this,
- B. whereas the European Schools were established with this consideration in mind,
- C. whereas the European Schools system fosters the concept of European citizenship; whereas keeping the present Schools in existence on the one hand, and on the other setting up new schools and expanding the system in other ways, could accordingly help to strengthen European integration;
- D. whereas there are now thirteen European Schools, enrolling more than 19 000 pupils, and whereas one more school will probably be established by 2010,
- E. whereas pupil numbers at some Schools, especially in Brussels, have now risen beyond acceptable levels, and teaching standards are consequently declining,
- F. whereas average costs per pupil at the European Schools compare favourably with those at other schools attended by the children of officials of cognate bodies; whereas, nevertheless, costs per pupil vary widely between the individual schools and correlate strongly with school size,
- G. whereas, while the European Community contributes well over half of the running costs of the European Schools, the Commission is the only European institution represented on the Board of Governors of the European Schools; and whereas the Commission is the only member of the Board of Governors with the right to vote both on the Board of Governors and on the Administrative Board of each school,
- H. whereas the system of governance of the European Schools must combine a capacity for strategic planning and oversight together with a reasonable degree of autonomy for the individual schools,
- I. whereas the administration of the European Schools, including decisions about the admission of pupils and the waiving of fees, should be as clear, consistent and transparent as possible throughout the entire Schools system,
- J. whereas the curriculum leading to the European Baccalaureate is academically demanding and may not be suitable for academically weaker pupils; whereas the Schools at present offer no other school-leaving certificate,
- K. whereas, at present, educational provision for pupils with certified special educational needs varies from one School to another,
- L. whereas the maximum class size (32 pupils) is larger than would be permitted under the relevant legislation in a number of Member States; whereas, moreover, many classes contain pupils whose mother tongue is different from that of the language section to which they have been admitted, as well as pupils with learning difficulties or special teaching needs,
- M. whereas, with the exception of the Brussels I school, the schools in Brussels and in Luxembourg are overcrowded; and whereas, while decisions have been taken on the establishment of two more schools, the buildings will not be ready for use until 2010, with serious implications for the education provided at these schools,
- N. whereas the educational philosophy of the European Schools and the curriculum leading to the European Baccalaureate serve as models of multilingual and multicultural education which the Member States may wish to imitate,
- O. whereas the people of Europe agreed in the EC Treaty (Article 149) that Community action shall be aimed at developing the European dimension in education, particularly through the teaching and dissemination of the languages of the Member States,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

The Convention defining the Statute of the European Schools and the Commission Communication

1. Welcomes the Commission's launch, through its above-mentioned Communication, of a consultative exercise about the future development of the system of European Schools, taking into account the enlargement of the European Union, the interests of the new Member States, the creation of additional EU agencies outside Brussels and Luxembourg and the urgent need to revise and evaluate and, if necessary, to reform a system which was established 50 years ago and which originally catered for only four languages;
2. Recalls that the Convention defining the Statute of the European Schools stipulates that the role of the European Schools is to provide for the joint education of the children of the staff of the European Communities as a way of ensuring the proper operation of the Community institutions, and also stipulates that other children may attend the Schools within the limits set by the Board of Governors;

The decentralised agencies and the new Member States

3. Believes that a solution to the question of all workplaces of decentralized agencies must be found as a matter of urgency; regrets that such solution had not been found at the time when the workplaces of these agencies were decided, with the exception of the European Food Safety Authority in Parma;
4. Believes that Member States hosting one of the new decentralised agencies must take greater financial responsibility for the education of the children of staff, and that appropriate solutions must be found for each of the new places of work; believes that, in these cases, cooperation between the European Schools and regional or local schools able to deliver the curriculum leading to the European Baccalaureate is an option; believes that such cooperation should aim to promote high-quality education and European integration, maintain linguistic diversity and facilitate labour mobility;
5. Insists that, where the necessary criteria are met, language sections for the languages of the new Member States be established as a matter of urgency and that all pupils should be receiving mother-tongue teaching;
6. Calls on the Commission to examine the possibility of establishing European schools in the new Member States;

The future financing of the European Schools system, Category III pupils and the smaller schools

7. Believes that the balancing contribution from the Communities must not develop into an open-ended commitment; considers it self-evident that the European Schools system should operate effectively in terms of budgetary planning and control and should offer demonstrable value for money; endorses the view that the annual projected budget allocation for each school should take account of the size and needs of the individual schools and of evidence of efforts to spend the budget allocation as effectively as possible;
8. Underlines, however, that the nature of the Communities' contribution to the schools' budgets is set out clearly in Article 25.2 of the Convention defining the Statute of the European Schools; rejects, therefore, the imposition by the Commission of a ceiling on the Communities' contribution to the European Schools budget before the Board of Governors has presented its estimate of the revenue and expenditure of the Schools for the following financial year;
9. Considers that the current arrangement, whereby Member States' contributions are directly linked to the number of teachers they second to the European Schools and to the premises they provide for the European Schools, is not equitable and that alternative systems of financing should be explored;
10. Believes nevertheless that the present system, whereby teachers are appointed and paid their national salaries by Member States, ensures access for the European Schools to the teaching expertise of these States and is the means by which the financial contribution of the Member States is secured;
11. Notes that the level of fees payable by the parents of Category III pupils has risen substantially in real terms since 2002 and that this has resulted in increased revenue for the Schools and a smaller increase in the contribution from the Communities' budget than would otherwise have been the case; further notes that such fees do not meet the full cost of educating these pupils; believes, however, that the parents of Category III pupils should not face excessive fee increases during the remainder of their education in the European Schools system;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

12. Calls on the Commission, through its representative on the Board of Governors, to press for the adoption and publication of clear, detailed, and publicly available criteria for the admission of Category III pupils; urges the Administrative Board of each school admitting Category III pupils to report on the application of such criteria in its annual report;
13. Reiterates its call for the Board of Governors to revise the criteria it has adopted for establishing, maintaining and closing individual language sections in individual schools so as to rule out any discrimination against an official language of the European Union;
14. Calls upon the Commission to publish, as soon as practicable, the external study commissioned by it into the long-term future of the four schools in Bergen, Culham, Karlsruhe and Mol);

Better governance and administration

15. Believes that, given the growth in the number of European Schools and in the number of pupils they teach, the tasks of the Board of Governors should essentially be those of setting strategic goals, of oversight and of review; believes that detailed management questions specific to individual schools should, in the first instance, be addressed by the Administrative Boards of the individual schools, and that each school should be considered an autonomous entity as regards operational and financial matters;
16. Believes that, given the above, the Administrative Boards of the individual schools should be given control over the financial and operational aspects of the individual schools within the strategic goals laid down by the Board of Governors;
17. Notes that the Community currently pays a balancing contribution equivalent to some 57% of the annual cost of the European Schools system, whereas the Member States contribute 22%; believes, therefore, that the Commission, as representative of the Communities, should have voting rights on the Board of Governors more in line with the Communities' contribution to the budget, and that the Commission must report to the European Parliament following each meeting of the Board of Governors;
18. Calls on the Commission to press the Board of Governors to draw up a Code of Good Administrative Conduct and to clarify the remit of the Complaints Board;
19. Notes the Commission's suggestion that two new bodies might be established, one "to administer the financial and operational aspects of all the Schools", the other to superintend the curriculum, the examination system and the assessment of teachers; believes that a single governing body, with the authority to take decisions affecting the Schools system as a whole and willing to accept responsibility for balancing sometimes conflicting financial and educational imperatives, must be maintained;
20. Calls for adequate representation of parents and other stakeholders, for example staff and pupils, on both the Board of Governors and the Administrative Boards of individual schools;

21. Believes that nursery, primary and secondary school classes, taught by a single qualified teacher, should not be larger than 30 pupil equivalents; believes also that from 2008 there should be a progressive introduction of a maximum class size in nursery and primary classes of no more than 25 pupil equivalents; calls on the Board of Governors to endorse this principle;
22. Calls on the Commission to encourage the development of coefficients in respect of children with certified special educational needs and of pupils whose mother tongue is different from the language in which they receive most of their instruction (Language I), and to ensure that these coefficients are applied when class sizes are calculated;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

23. Urges the Commission, working together with the Member States concerned, to find solutions as a matter of urgency in order to deal with the excessively high pupil numbers at some Schools, which are undermining teaching standards; urges the Board of Governors to take action without delay to combat the overcrowding of the schools in Brussels and Luxembourg; points to the need for proper planning at the right time to develop the infrastructure and facilities required in order for the European Schools to operate;

(b) Special Educational Needs provision

24. Calls on the Commission to produce reliable statistics about the extent of the requirements for special needs provision in all the European Schools and further urges the Board of Governors to carry out a survey of provision at each of the European Schools for pupils with special educational needs (SEN), including children with physical and/or intellectual disabilities; asks the Board of Governors to draw up a set of minimum standards relating to educational provision, to undertake an accessibility audit of the European Schools so as to ensure that the fabric and design of the buildings are accessible for children with physical disabilities and to take any other steps deemed necessary in order to support all pupils with special educational needs;

25. Calls on the Commission and the Board of Governors of the European Schools to enhance the allocation of resources in terms of finance, staff and expertise with a view to providing first-class education for SEN children and to fully promote the concept of inclusive education, as is the case in other schools across Europe; further calls on the Board of Governors to examine constructive alternatives for those children who are unable to cope with integration in mainstream classes;

26. Believes that, if SEN pupils are to benefit from their education at the European Schools, specialist multidisciplinary teams (such as educational psychologists and speech and language therapists) must be set up in Schools to provide support and advice for the teachers, pupils and parents concerned;

27. Calls for one of the larger European Schools to launch a pilot project for an SEN resource centre, comprising qualified personnel with relevant experience and appropriate teaching materials (books, computer software), the role of which would be to provide expert advice and materials for teachers involved in the education of SEN children in the school; calls for financing to be set aside for this project in the 2006 budget;

(c) The European Baccalaureate

28. Calls on the Commission to do all in its power to ensure that the Board introduces, by the beginning of the school year 2007-2008, an alternative leaving certificate in parallel with the European Baccalaureate, for pupils who choose to follow a more vocational education;

29. Reiterates its conviction that the increasing exchange of students between European universities, the globalisation of the world economy and the high intrinsic value of the European Baccalaureate justify its wider spread and its full recognition without discrimination by universities in Member States and in third countries;

30. Therefore invites the responsible authorities in the Member States to consider the merits of making the European Baccalaureate more widely available as a school leaving certificate outside the European Schools, on the understanding, however, that the necessary guarantees would have to be in place so as to meet the quality standards on which the Baccalaureate is based;

31. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the Court of Auditors, the Court of Justice, the European Economic and Social Committee, the Committee of the Regions, the Board of Governors of the European Schools and the governments of the Member States.

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- A. whereas tourism undeniably constitutes a driving force behind growth in developing countries at all levels; whereas there is therefore a need for regular impact assessments and the Committee on Development of the European Parliament, in view of its competences, is ideally qualified for this task,

Tourism as a factor in economic growth

- B. whereas tourism is one of the fundamental aspects of any consequent developing policy to be implemented in developing countries,
- C. whereas infrastructure projects in the areas of communications, energy, new communication technologies or health and hygiene are essential to boost tourism in developing countries,
- D. whereas it is fundamental that such projects should benefit both local communities and the tourist industry,
- E. whereas forms of tourism seeking to guarantee fair payment for local workers and entrepreneurs merit particular attention from the authorities, especially in the case of "fair tourism",
- F. whereas the World Tourism Organization's project "Eliminating Poverty through Sustainable Tourism" contributes to the Millennium Development Goal of poverty reduction, seeking to create jobs for those living on less than one dollar a day,
- G. having regard to the negotiations under way for the Economic Partnership Agreements (EPAs) which will, as from 1 January 2008, replace the unilateral preferential trade regime for commercial relations between the ACP countries and the EU,
- H. whereas the transverse nature of the tourist industry is evident and, despite the absence of a common tourism policy, the existing tourism unit at the Commission's DG Enterprise and Industry is clearly too small,

Tourism as a factor in environmental protection and heritage conservation

- I. whereas tourism can only develop if it respects natural and cultural conditions and the traditions of the local communities where it evolves,
- J. whereas tourism must not be seen as something hostile to the environment but as, rather, the environment's ally, since its profitability is conditional on the preservation of the environment and the heritage,
- K. whereas special attention needs to be paid by the authorities to environmentally-friendly forms of tourism such as ecotourism, rural tourism and "solidarity tourism",
- L. whereas tourism is sustained by the conservation and improvement of the local heritage, natural and cultural, material and non-material, and of historic buildings,
- M. whereas the safety of tourists and tourist facilities and sites requires special attention on the part of the authorities,
- N. whereas it is legitimate for governments, after consulting representative tourist sector organisations, to lay down strict rules for visitors to very popular sites,
- O. whereas it is necessary to reconcile energy practices with transport policies, with a view to protecting the environment and complying with the targets of the Kyoto Protocol aimed at sustainable development,
- P. whereas the concept of limiting tourist numbers in small island states, mountain areas and coastal areas affected by overwhelming numbers of tourists needs to be integrated and accepted by the national authorities concerned,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

Tourism as a factor in democracy and political equilibrium

- Q. whereas the development of tourism can be a factor in the fight against totalitarianism, dictatorships and over-centralised power,
- R. whereas tourism is associated in some countries with violations of human rights such as child labour, prostitution and the sexual exploitation of children,
- S. whereas global terrorism targeted at democracy and its defenders, acting on a massive scale and indiscriminately leaving civilians the victims of cowardly and murderous attacks, has particularly been aimed at tourism and tourists,
- T. whereas tourism can be a democratic activity which enables the creation, at local, regional and national levels, of representative economic and social civil society organisations,
- U. having regard to the federative role of tourism and its contribution to territorial, social and economic cohesion,
- V. whereas tourists can currently use their freedom of movement to visit several destinations in a single trip, thus contributing to an increase in regional cooperation and to the establishment of closer relations between countries,
- W. whereas governments and, in particular, tour operators in the Member States have a major influence on the choice of tourist destination, and negative publicity regarding countries which do not respect the principles of democracy and human rights is a form of deterrent,
- X. whereas the International Fair Trade in Tourism Network was set up in 1999 as a three- year project with funding from the Commission and the UK Department for International Development to promote ethical trading practices,

Tourism as a factor in public health and education

- Y. whereas a country's public health standards are an element in its attractiveness,
- Z. whereas tourism impacts on public health standards, thanks to such necessary elements as hygiene requirements, healthcare measures, vaccination campaigns and the dissemination of information on disease prevention,
- AA. whereas HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria are now global scourges,
- AB. having regard to the risk arising to both tourists and local people from the spread of highly contagious diseases such as diarrhoeic infections, respiratory infections, fevers of unknown cause and hepatitis,
- AC. whereas tourism impacts on education, allowing local communities access to language learning and the new information and communications technologies and thus enabling them to promote their cultural heritage on a basis of respect for customs and traditions while also requiring a new awareness and adaptation to the evolution of society and modern habits,
- AD. whereas it is nonetheless essential that public authorities should ensure the preservation of local traditions that respect human rights, especially the rights of women and of children,

Tourism as a factor in disturbance and abuse

- AE. whereas all job creation measures must be compliant with International Labour Organization (ILO) standards,
- AF. whereas sex tourism must be dealt with by means of a permanent and concerted campaign on the part of the European and local authorities, in coordination with non-governmental organisations,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- AG. whereas only coordinated measures, the spread of information and the introduction of penalties on the basis of respect for international law can be genuinely effective,
- AH. whereas widespread publicity regarding the penalties for sex tourism should have a deterrent effect, and crimes related to sexual tourism must be prosecuted and it must be possible to bring prosecutions both in the country of origin and in the country where they are committed,
- AI. having regard to the positive impact of the policies and measures implemented by tour operators, travel agencies and airlines, such as the distribution of brochures or screening of videos on journeys to sensitive destinations,
- AJ. having regard to the damaging impact of property speculation on local communities,
- AK. having regard to the risk that foreign investors and the governments of developing countries may have a shared interest in corrupt practices,
- AL. having regard to the child's right to protection from exploitation and to the right to recovery as provided for in the Convention on the Rights of the Child, Articles 32, 34, 35 and 39,

Tourism as a factor in economic growth

1. Calls for the impact of tourism and the principles of sustainable tourism and good governance to be systematically and coherently taken into account in the drawing-up of the EU's development policy;
2. Considers that if tourism is to be sustainable it must improve the lives of local people, protect their environment and health, and support the local economy through the purchase of food and other resources locally;
3. Asks the Commission to consider the reinforcement of the technical structure in charge of tourism at DG Enterprise, in view of tourism's transversal importance and the progressively wider set of initiatives that affect it and originate in other areas of Community policy;
4. Calls for greater importance to be attached to the "tourism" unit in the Commission's DG Enterprise, by making increased funds available so as to contribute to a general increase in policy proposals for the tourism sector;
5. Calls for a debate on the appointment of tourism experts in DG Development and DG Trade;
6. Calls for the promotion of locally controlled tourism initiatives aimed at poverty alleviation, the conservation of biodiversity and the promotion of human rights;

8. Calls on ACP governments to examine policies designed to guarantee "planning gain" benefits for the local communities where tourism projects take place;
9. Insists on the need to reinvest the profits of tourism in local development; calls on tour operators to review their "all-inclusive" packages which prevent spin-off benefits to the local communities, and encourages these operators to source materials/staff locally as far as possible, including managerial staff;

12. Proposes that the issue of tourism, sustainable tourism and their economic impact be included in the negotiations under way on the EPAs, and that the interests of developing countries in relation to the European market be given positive consideration when tourism-related issues are raised by them in the GATS;
13. Notes that in many developing countries the tourism sector is fundamentally a private-sector activity, and that the Community must therefore find ways to ensure that the interested parties and other social partners are fully involved in all discussions regarding development policy affecting the tourism sector;
14. Stresses the urgent need for the Community to aid countries hit by natural disasters that affect their tourist industry;

Tourism as a factor in environmental protection and heritage conservation

15. Calls for the adoption of a joint programme by DG Environment and DG Development in order to export European techniques of waste management and disposal, in the form initially of impact studies and subsequently of pilot projects;
16. Calls for the establishment of sustainable tourism policies and regulations to protect and conserve natural resources, the cultural heritage and traditional land tenure systems;
17. Encourages the optimisation of the existing technical and scientific resources with a view to preventing the degradation and/or destruction of the architectural heritage and environmental deterioration;
18. Calls for all European investments in tourism in developing countries to be subject to the same rules applicable to granting Community funding of investments within the EU; thus, any investment which is manifestly detrimental to the environment, human rights, ILO core labour standards, the way of life of indigenous and autochthonous communities or the historical and cultural heritage of the recipient country must not be supported;
19. Calls on the Community to provide technical support to countries which, under the impact of mass tourism, are obliged to take measures to preserve their tourist sites; calls also for an exchange of best practices in this field;
20. Encourages local authorities which are confronted with an over-rapid tourist boom to take measure to limit numbers where necessary;

Tourism as a factor in democracy and political equilibrium

27. Calls on the Member State governments and the Commission, with the support of tour operators and experienced organisations, to act to promote ethical standards in tourism by introducing a certified European Fair Trade Tourism label;

Tourism as a factor in public health and education

28. Calls on the Union and the Member States to make available to developing countries with tourist potential their experience and know-how with a view to the on-site training of personnel; calls on the Commission to support projects in developing countries requesting such know-how;

29. Calls once more on the Commission to ensure financial support for the vaccination of children, targeted on urgent needs regarding vaccines combining antigens against the following diseases: diphtheria, tetanus, whooping-cough, hepatitis B and Haemophilus Influenzae type B meningitis;

P6_TA(2005)0338Famine in Niger*European Parliament resolution on famine in NigerThe European Parliament,*

- having regard to the UN donor appeals for food aid for Niger, amounting to USD 80,9 million,
 - having regard to Rule 115(5) of its Rules of Procedure,
- A. whereas Niger was the world's second poorest country even before poor rains and locust invasions devastated last year's crops, leading to an estimated third of its close to 12 million people suffering from severe food shortages, among them 800 000 children, who are facing acute malnutrition,
- B. whereas, since 1900, Niger has been afflicted by nine periods of severe drought and famine and eight plagues of locusts,
- C. whereas drought-ridden areas are also known to be conducive to the outbreak of a number of communicable diseases such as malaria, hepatitis, cholera, typhoid fever and diarrhoea,
- D. whereas Niger's food crisis is complex, and weather patterns, food production, markets, technology, sanitation, healthcare, education, child-rearing practices, Niger's large foreign debt and widespread poverty all play their roles,
- E. whereas, until June 2005, the government of Niger refused to distribute food rations free of charge,
- F. whereas this refusal was founded on a desire not to destabilise the market and on a denial of the importance of the crisis,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- G. whereas few moderately priced government-subsidised food products were available and they were too expensive for the poorest,
- H. whereas, at a time when the death rate is startlingly high, there should be no question of subordinating emergency food aid distribution to future food security,
- I. whereas repeated UN appeals, beginning in November 2004, went almost unheeded until the situation had reached crisis proportions,
- J. whereas the humanitarian aid needs are immense, ranging from food, drinking water and drugs to vaccines for children with a view to preventing epidemics,
- K. whereas the urgency of addressing the immediate situation is clear, and ending the cycle of deprivation in Niger and across the Sahel is a long-term challenge requiring massive investment and a genuine commitment to eradicating hunger,
- L. whereas desertification and soil nutrient depletion in the Sahel are the results of the unsustainable use of natural resources, including the destruction of forests and bushland and the effects of climate change,
- M. whereas, according to the UN's coordinator for emergency aid, it is eighty times more expensive to intervene in an emergency than to act preventively; whereas this also applies to the neighbouring countries threatened by famine (Mali, Mauritania, Burkina Faso and Chad),
1. Urges the international community not to turn its back on the continued suffering in Niger as food distribution continues across the worst-affected parts of the country but financial support for emergency operations shows worrying signs of tailing off;
 2. Calls for the hyper-endemic nature of malnutrition in Niger to be recognised, with a view to introducing an overall system for assisting those in need, including access to care for children under five and the provision of therapeutic food products of proven value;
 3. Calls for priority to be given to prevention, by reducing dependence on rainfall owing to its irregularity, developing irrigation-based agriculture (micro-dams), increasing food productivity with the use of manure, fertiliser and tools, and boosting the capacity of local cereal reserves;
 4. Welcomes the Commission's earmarking of EUR 4,6 million in humanitarian aid to Niger, as well as the pledge to "provide additional humanitarian funds should the situation continue to deteriorate", as announced on 1 July 2005;
 5. Deplores the insufficient and slow reaction of the government of Niger to the looming crisis; regrets the failure of the authorities to distribute free food in the early stages of the crisis;
 6. Regrets the absence of sufficient government intervention to prevent speculation and crisis, and calls on the government of Niger to create mechanisms to ensure that such practices do not recur;
 7. Questions the wisdom of the total deregulation of agricultural markets undertaken under the "structural adjustment" policies advocated by the IMF;
 8. Warns, at the same time, against the risk of misguided food aid, and calls on the international community to end food aid as soon as it considers that the situation has improved;
 9. Deplores the late response by international donors to the UN funding appeals first made nine months ago; stresses, in this regard, the difficulty in mobilising international aid just as the rich G8 countries were claiming to make Africa their top priority;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

10. Calls for a substantial increase in the reserves available from the UN aid fund in order to ensure that enough funds are available in advance so as to enable the UN aid bodies to launch relief operations speedily;
 11. Deeply regrets the fact that African catastrophes are met with such laboured mobilisation, whereas the tsunami and its victims, among whom were Western tourists, attracted huge media attention;
 12. Welcomes the coordination of ECHO emergency aid with the longer-term food security operations administered by the Commission, as well as the clear indication of rural development and food security as a priority in the Niger Country Strategy Paper;
 13. Calls on the international donors also to focus on health-related aid, for instance in order to improve access to clean water, distribute rehydration tablets, and support and expand existing health services so as to prevent outbreaks of communicable diseases;
 14. Calls on the international donors to coordinate their aid strategies for Niger with each other, as well as with the African Union, the Economic Community of West African States and other regional and local actors; stresses the importance of making this aid long-term and part of a regional strategy to escape the cycle of poverty and starvation;
 15. Expresses its concern over food availability in the neighbouring countries of Mali and Burkina Faso, and calls for close monitoring of the situation in the wider region;
 16. Calls on the Commission and Council to improve the early warning system in order to monitor sensitive regions where famine may arise, so as to allow earlier action and prevent disasters;
 17. Stresses that the core problem in Niger is chronic and widespread poverty, and that the country has no margin to build contingency stocks to meet the kinds of need created by the crisis;
 18. Calls on the Commission and Council to acknowledge the effects of global warming on sub-Saharan Africa and act in Europe to mitigate those effects by adopting stringent CO₂ reduction strategies at Union level;
 19. Considers that the question of the exploitation of natural resources needs to be taken into account in trade negotiations with African countries;
 20. Calls for action to ensure that the cancellation of Niger's external debt announced at the G8 summit actually takes place;
 21. Calls on the Commission to implement, once the emergency is over, a comprehensive policy for tackling the root causes of the crisis, in order to address the underlying structural causes and improve agricultural productivity in the region;
 22. Calls on the governments of the region to implement a policy of sustainable development in the agricultural sector;
 23. Calls on the UN General Assembly to define, at its September 2005 session, international aid arrangements and instruments, with a view to eradicating poverty and hunger in the world, pursuant to the millennium goals;
 24. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the African Union, the UN Secretary-General, the Co-Presidents of the ACP-EU Joint Parliamentary Assembly, and the Governments of Niger, Mali, Burkina Faso and Mauritania.

Breaches of human rights in China, in particular as regards freedom of religion

European Parliament resolution on breaches of human rights in China, in particular as regards freedom of religion

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Treaty on European Union and its provisions on human rights,
 - having regard to its previous resolutions on violations of human and minority rights and religious freedom in China,
 - having regard to China's long philosophical and religious tradition,
 - having regard to its resolution of 28 April 2005 on the Annual Report on Human Rights in the World 2004 and EU policy in this regard ⁽¹⁾,
 - having regard to its resolution of 24 February 2005 on the EU's priorities and recommendations for the 61st session of the UN Commission on Human Rights in Geneva (14 March to 22 April 2005) ⁽²⁾,
 - having regard to the report and recommendations of the EU-China human rights dialogue seminar of 20-21 June 2005,
 - having regard to the Joint Statement of the EU-China Summit of 5 September 2005,
 - having regard to Rule 115(5) of its Rules of Procedure,
- A. well aware that religious persecution in China is a general problem that hurts many churches and religious communities, including Christians, Tibetan Buddhists and Muslims among others,
- B. whereas respect for human rights is a key priority in EU policies and one of the fundamental principles of the European Union,
- C. whereas the promotion of human rights as established in the Treaties is an objective of the Common Foreign and Security Policy,
- D. whereas the EU-China Summit of 5 September 2005 marked the 30th anniversary of EU-China diplomatic ties with agreement on a new strategic dialogue; whereas the question of human rights is one of the key issues which was placed on the agenda,
- E. whereas the EU-China human rights dialogue makes freedom of religion or belief a matter of priority,
- F. whereas, despite the fact that Article 36 of the Constitution of the People's Republic of China provides for freedom of religious belief, the authorities seek in reality to restrict religious practice to government-sanctioned organisations and registered places of worship, and to control the growth and scope of the activities of religious groups,
- G. whereas China's new Regulations on Religious Affairs, which came into effect on 1 March 2005, have tightened government control on religious activity,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- H. whereas, amongst other Christian denominations, the Catholic Church has endured a long period of persecution in the People's Republic of China and is still forced to act partly underground as a consequence of these practices,
- I. whereas the Chinese authorities have intensified their control of unregistered Protestant house churches and interference in the process of appointing bishops,
- J. whereas many Christian clergy have suffered brutal repression, being prevented not only from practising public worship but also from carrying out their ministry; deeply concerned at the increase in arbitrary arrests, torture, unexplained disappearances, penal servitude, isolation and re-education camps endured by Christian clergy and lay people,
1. Calls on the Chinese Government to put an end to religious repression and to ensure that it respects international standards of human rights as well as religious rights and guarantees democracy, freedom of expression, freedom of association, freedom of the media and political and religious freedom in China;
 2. Urges the Chinese Government to abolish the difference between approved and non-approved worship communities, as has been suggested by the UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religion or Belief since 1994;
 3. Calls on the Commission and the Council to make it clear to the Chinese authorities that a genuine partnership can only develop when shared values are fully respected and put into practice;
 4. Urges the Commission, the Council and the Member States to raise specifically the issue of the persecution of Chinese Christians, and to obtain from the Chinese Government:
 - (a) information about the situation of Catholic bishops Mgr James Su Zhimin (diocese of Baoding, Hebei), 72; Mgr Francis An Shuxin (auxiliary bishop of the diocese of Baoding, Hebei), 54; Mgr Han Dingxian (diocese of Yongnian/Handan, Hebei), 66; Mgr Cosma Shi Enxiang (diocese of Yixian, Hebei), 83; Mgr Philip Zhao Zhendong, (diocese of Xuanhua, Hebei), 84; Fr Paul Huo Junlong, administrator of the diocese of Baoding, 50; Mgr Shi Enxiang (diocese of Yixian Hebei province), 83; news about disappeared and arrested clergy, namely Zhang Zhenquan and Ma Wuyong (diocese of Baoding, Hebei); Fr Li Wenfeng, Fr Liu Heng, and Fr Dou Shengxia (diocese of Shijiazhuang, Hebei); Fr Chi Huitian (diocese of Baoding, Hebei); Fr Kang Fuliang, Chen Guozhen, Pang Guangzhao, Yin Ruose, and Li Shujun (diocese of Baoding, Hebei); Fr Lu Xiaozhou (diocese of Wenzhou, Zhejiang); Fr Lin Daoming (diocese of Fuzhou, Fujian); Fr Zheng Ruipin (diocese of Fuzhou, Fujian); Fr Pang Yongxing, Fr Ma Shunbao, and Fr Wang Limao (diocese of Baoding, Hebei); Fr Li Jianbo (diocese of Baoding, Hebei); and Fr Liu Deli; and demands the unconditional release of all Chinese Catholics incarcerated on account of their religious convictions and the immediate cessation of all kinds of violence towards them;
 - (b) information about the situation of Pastor Zhang Rongliang (53), one of the founders of the China for Christ Church, a group comprising more than 10 million Christians, who was arrested on 1 December 2004, and who is still imprisoned without any legal process; demands the unconditional release of this pastor and of all other Chinese Christians incarcerated on account of their religious convictions and the immediate cessation of all kinds of violence towards them;
 5. Urges the Chinese Government to implement Article 36 of the Constitution of the People's Republic of China and to ratify and implement the International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights and the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights;
 6. Notes that the Chinese Government has finally accepted the request made by the UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religion or Belief and the Special Rapporteur on Torture to visit China before the end of the year; invites the Chinese Government to set an early date for this visit; calls on the Chinese authorities to allow access for the UN Special Rapporteur on Freedom of Religion or Belief to the Panchen Lama as designated by the Dalai Lama;
 7. Welcomes the existence of an EU-China human rights structured dialogue; expresses disappointment at the lack of substantial results coming from this dialogue; invites the Council and the Commission to raise this issue of concern during the forthcoming EU-China human rights session, as part of a thorough assessment of the effectiveness of the structured dialogue;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

8. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the Governments and Parliaments of the Member States and the accession and candidate countries, the member countries of the UN Commission on Human Rights and the Government of the People's Republic of China.

The European Parliament,

- having regard to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of 1948,
 - having regard to Article 11(1) of the Treaty of the European Union and Article 177 of the EC Treaty, which establish the promotion of human rights as an objective of the common foreign and security policy,
 - having regard to the Barcelona declaration of 28 November 1995,

 - having regard to its previous resolutions on Syria,
 - having regard to Rule 115(5) of its Rules of Procedure,
- A. whereas the accession to power of the current President, Bachar Al Assad, gave rise to some hope in Syria and went some way towards opening up the Syrian political system, which had been dominated by the Baath party for many years,
- B. whereas the European Parliament and its President have already intervened several times in favour of the release of the two parliamentarians Riad Seif and Mamun al-Humsi, who are in an alarming condition and have already served three quarters of their prison sentence,
- C. whereas civil activists Hasan Zeino, Yassin al-Hamwi and Muhammad Ali al-Abdullah will appear before military courts in Homs and Damascus charged with “possession of publications of a prohibited organisation”, “the establishment a secret society”, “the defamation of the public administration”, etc.,
- D. whereas Haytham al-Hamwi, Yassin al-Hamwi's son, was arrested in 2003, ill-treated and sentenced after an allegedly unfair trial (according to authoritative sources) to four years' imprisonment,
- E. whereas Riad al-Hamood, a Kurdish civil society activist, Arab language teacher and active member of the Committees for Revival of Civil Society, who was arrested on 4 June 2005 after a speech at the funeral of an Islamic scholar who had died in custody under mysterious circumstances whilst in solitary confinement, is at serious risk of ill-treatment,
- F. whereas in July 2005 the UN Human Rights Committee expressed its concern “at the obstacles imposed on the registration and free operation of non-governmental human rights organisations” in Syria and “intimidation and harassment of human rights defenders”,
- G. whereas respect for human rights is an essential element in the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

5. Calls on the Commission and the Council and the individual Member States to make clear to the Syrian authorities that the agreement which is currently under negotiation includes human rights clauses which are a fundamental element of the Euro-Mediterranean Partnership, and expects concrete improvements in this field on the part of the Syrian authorities;
6. Calls for the setting up of a subcommittee on human rights with Syria in the framework of the Association Agreement, as has been done with Jordan and Morocco, so as to develop a structured dialogue on human rights and democracy; believes that such a subcommittee would constitute a key element in the Action Plan; emphasises the importance of civil society being consulted on and involved in the work of this subcommittee in order better to monitor the human rights situation; stresses also the necessity for the European Parliament to be closely associated in the work and follow-up of this subcommittee;
7. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission and the Government and Parliament of Syria.

 - having regard to Rule 45 of its Rules of Procedure,
 - having regard to the report of the Committee on Development (A6-0215/2005),
- A. whereas the interconnection of the world, global warming and emerging health threats such as avian flu, Ebola and Marburg, the resurgence of old infectious diseases such as TB, the increased prevalence of vaccine-preventable diseases in developed countries and the growing problem of multi-drug resistance all show the need for a comprehensive approach to be taken to all diseases,
- B. whereas as there is a lack of sense of urgency in the European Union (EU), as migration and the increase in travel represent a growing risk of spreading these diseases,

- C. whereas the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria aims to reduce the burden of disease and poverty, and coordination between projects and players is crucial, including the procurement, distribution and evaluation of medicines and coherence with national protocols,
- D. whereas HIV/AIDS cases continue to grow globally, with women and children particularly affected, and with more new infections in 2004 than in any previous year; and whereas antiretroviral (ARV) prices are an "increasingly serious public health hazard" ⁽¹⁾ with second-line medicines up to twelve times more expensive than the most affordable first-line generics,
- E. whereas both HIV/AIDS and maternal and reproductive ill-health are driven by many common root causes, including gender inequality, poverty and social marginalisation, and whereas the presence of sexually transmitted diseases dramatically increases vulnerability to HIV infection, yet separate donor policy translates into divided programme delivery,
- F. whereas prevention is the most effective way to fight sexually transmitted diseases (STDs), including HIV/AIDS, and there is a clear link between sexual and reproductive health and the fight against HIV/AIDS,
- G. whereas access to maternal and reproductive health information and services plays an important role in poverty reduction and should be integral to the fight against HIV/AIDS,
- H. whereas the prevention of malaria requires the use of insecticide-treated mosquito nets (especially by young children, pregnant women and those living with HIV/AIDS), anti-malarial drugs for pregnant women and indoor residual spraying,
- I. whereas TB affects one-third of the world's people, and in 2002 caused some two million deaths, many linked to HIV/AIDS, and new diagnostic tests and drugs could tackle this enormous global scourge,
- J. whereas schistosomiasis can be treated by the drug praziquantel, but the associated cost of chemotherapy is an additional burden on health systems and there are concerns about the emergence of drug-resistant parasites, so there is a need to develop other effective remedies,
- K. whereas severe visceral leishmaniasis and AIDS reinforce one another but the treatment pentavalent antimony has serious side effects, requires a lengthy treatment and is losing efficacy due to parasite resistance,
- L. whereas the diagnosis and treatment of human African trypanosomiasis (HAT) or sleeping sickness is difficult,
- M. whereas the acute phase of Chagas' disease can be treated by only two drugs, nifurtimox and benznidazole, while for the chronic phase there is no treatment,
- N. whereas dengue is a global health concern and Aedes albopictus, a secondary dengue vector in Asia, is now established in Europe and other regions, due to the international used tyre trade; and there is no specific treatment but progress is being made in integrated vector management while the development of vaccines is slow,
- O. whereas Buruli ulcer is an emerging health threat and can only be treated by surgery to remove the lesion, causing loss of tissue or permanent disability,
- P. whereas the burden of mental illnesses and epilepsy is growing and neglected,

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

- Q. whereas there is a grave shortage of health workers in many parts of the developing world, with migration both from and within poorer regions,
- R. whereas re-used medical devices led to an estimated 260,000 new cases of HIV/AIDS, 2 million hepatitis C infections and 21 million hepatitis B infections in 2000,
- S. whereas 5 million deaths worldwide are caused annually by tobacco use and this could double by 2020, with the majority occurring in developing countries,
- T. whereas there is a chronic lack of investment in international and regional research in drugs for poverty-related diseases,
- U. whereas it is estimated that less than 10 % of the world's biomedical research funds are dedicated to addressing problems that are responsible for 90 % of the world's burden of disease and that, of all drugs in development for all neglected diseases in 1999-2000, 18 R&D projects were in clinical development, compared with 2,100 compounds for all other diseases, and the mean time for clinical development for neglected diseases is about three and a half years more than for other conditions,
- V. whereas scientific advances have been made, including the genome sequencing of parasites causing malaria, leishmaniasis and HAT, but these are not being translated into new products,
- W. whereas the WHO Prequalification Project is an important network for assessing and procuring new essential medicines,
- X. whereas yearly an estimated one and a half million children under five die from vaccine-preventable diseases,
- Y. whereas only one pharmaceutical company has registered medicines available at reduced prices under Council Regulation (EC) No 953/2003 of 26 May 2003 to avoid trade diversion into the EU of certain key medicines⁽¹⁾; whereas new medicines necessary today, but available only at high prices, are not included in this list,
- Z. whereas all World Trade Organization (WTO) Member States should have integrated the Trade-Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights (TRIPS) Agreement into their national legislation, particularly States which produce generic medicines,

1. Welcomes the Commission's above-mentioned communications, but calls for its approach to be broadened to include other neglected diseases; highlights the fact that the Commission's actions can all be applied to other diseases beyond HIV/AIDS, malaria and TB;

2. Urges the Commission to translate the policy proposals of the new Programme for Action to confront HIV/AIDS, TB and Malaria into concrete action by ensuring appropriate programming decisions and sufficient budget allocations;

3. Stresses the critical importance of securing increased and adequate financial resources from Member States and in the funding of the EU's External Actions and development aid given that the resource gap for HIV/AIDS, malaria and TB alone is projected to reach EUR 11 500 million by 2007;

4. Calls on the Commission to address HIV/AIDS, TB, malaria and other diseases as cross-cutting issues in the external assistance instruments of the next financial perspectives;

5. Supports the establishment of the European Union Solidarity Fund (COM(2005)0108) in order to provide a common response to emergency situations of different origin in an efficient and coordinated way;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

6. Recalls that health services in the ACP countries suffered greatly in the 1990s, particularly as a result of the emphasis placed on macro-economic reforms which led to drastic budget cuts in social sectors such as health;
7. Recalls also that repayment and servicing of the debt accounts for almost 40 % of GDP per annum in the least developed countries, while education and health budgets are still derisory;
8. Urges ACP countries to meet Parliament's target of allocating 20 % to health;
9. Believes that Poverty Reduction Strategy Papers must ensure that the poverty analysis that informs them influence the focus of work in the health sector and provide the opportunity to reorientate health plans and strategies to those health actions most likely to impact on poverty;
10. Stresses that access to drinking water and food is an essential condition for healthy populations; insists therefore on the cross dimension of health and the improvement of living conditions which contributes to increasing life expectancy;
11. Calls on developing countries to restore their public and basic health care systems and services and for the EU to support this process through aid for the emergence and reinforcement of human and institutional capacities and infrastructures;
12. Believes that investment in water supply, sanitation and infrastructure as well as raising awareness of the links between health, clean water, sanitation and hygiene are critical to combating waterborne diseases (including pneumonia, diarrhoea, malaria) and to the delivery of healthcare systems;
13. Calls for the policy document on human resources provided for in the Commission's Programme for Action also to include proposals for urgent action to reverse the loss of health workers from developing countries, such as better training, career opportunities, remuneration, retention incentives, safe working conditions, cooperation with disease-specific initiatives, twinning arrangements, voluntary support and the spread of best practice and technical support;
14. Stresses the need for coordination within the EU and between the EU and other global and local donors, to pool expertise and share technical assistance in order to improve outcomes;
15. Welcomes the Commission's commitment to strengthening the capacity of developing countries to conduct research, but calls for this to extend beyond clinical trials to a broader concept of research that includes operational and health systems research so important in developing more effective, efficient and sustainable implementation of interventions;
16. Emphasises that best practice in scientific research and implementation are needed to ensure effective interventions, projects and programmes;
17. Notes that care should be taken in the way that medicines are dispensed and used in order to limit resistance;
18. Notes that, as a result of the Asian tsunami, the interruption of malaria, TB or ARV treatment there could cause many deaths;
19. Welcomes the Eurobarometer results showing that the EU public believes that EU aid can be most effective in the fight against AIDS and other diseases⁽¹⁾;
20. Stresses the urgency of access to medicines and for pharmaceutical producers to make drugs available and affordable in low income countries;
21. Stresses the importance of country leadership and accountability and calls on the Commission to ensure that affected communities and civil society are meaningfully involved in this process to ensure that Action Frameworks reflect the concerns and experiences of marginalised communities;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

22. Calls on the Commission to assess the real impact of the measures implemented under Regulation (EC) No 953/2003 and on the pharmaceutical industry to make products available to the people of developing countries at tiered prices for improving access to essential medicines, and to propose complementary measures to enable access specifically to essential medicines if shortages exist;
23. Calls on the Commission to use the EC Stakeholder Forum as a systematic and regular mechanism of consultation with civil society, people affected by HIV/AIDS, malaria and TB and representatives of community-based organisations from developing countries;
24. Reminds the Commission of the importance of women in primary health care and that women, children and people with disabilities need to be mainstreamed into health policies and related statistics and research;
25. Welcomes the Commission's support in its Programme for Action for comprehensive and evidence-based prevention programmes, and urges the Commission to support HIV/AIDS prevention programmes which include political leadership, education to support behavioural change, harm reduction programmes, commodity distribution, voluntary counselling and testing, secure blood supply, vulnerability reduction measures for groups at higher risk of infection as well as social and behavioural research;
26. Stresses the need for increased investment in R&D into new technologies for HIV prevention such as vaccines and microbicides and calls for the development of adapted and affordable paediatric formulations of ARV for the 2,2 million children living with HIV, alongside diagnostic and monitoring tools suited to their needs and to developing country settings;
27. Urges the Commission to acknowledge that distinct HIV epidemics require distinct approaches, whether this be for countries with generalised or with concentrated epidemics; and that greater attention must be given to understanding transmission patterns in each different context and acting in accordance with this evidence;
28. Calls for older people, orphans and other vulnerable children to be taken into account in policies for poverty reduction and support for families affected by HIV/AIDS and other diseases, and for their involvement and participation in the design and implementation of programmes;
29. Calls for a stronger linkage between sexual and reproductive health and HIV/AIDS programmes, and adequate, accessible and affordable HIV/AIDS and sexual and reproductive health related supplies, including male and female condoms and STD diagnostics and drugs;
30. Is very concerned at reports that some African governments are charging a sales or import tax on ARV and other drugs, which then make the drugs unaffordable to poor communities; urges the Commission to investigate this and to encourage governments to abolish such taxes;
31. Calls for countries affected by malaria to commit to and accelerate the introduction of Artemisinin-based Combination Therapy (ACT), recognised as the most effective treatment, calls on donors to finance ACT and support the purchase, prequalification and manufacture of artemisinin-based drugs;
32. Calls for industry to manufacture insecticide-treated nets (ITNs), especially long lasting insecticidal nets, calls for programmes to rapidly scale up coverage of ITNs, to provide training in malaria symptoms, to remove sources of stagnant water and to equip primary health services with drugs and reliable rapid diagnostic tests, and to strengthen country-led partnerships to coordinate the scale up and to eliminate implementation bottlenecks;
33. Considers that simple effective diagnostic tests are needed for leishmaniasis, suited to conditions in resource-poor countries; notes that R&D of new treatments is under-funded and that alternative drugs exist but are expensive and difficult to administer; calls for the speedy registration of promising drugs such as paromomycin and miltefosine;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

34. Notes the work of DNDi and TDR on a treatment for HAT, and stresses the urgent need to assess the safety and efficacy of nifurtimox, and to develop new, easy-to-use and accurate diagnostic tests;
35. Calls for increased efforts in the prevention of Chagas' disease by involving target populations in transmission control, by separating living accommodation of animals and people and by combating vectors with insecticide;
36. Welcomes the WHO Global Programme to identify districts where lymphatic filariasis is endemic and treat the at-risk population with a yearly single-dose treatment, for at least five years;
37. Believes that there are great benefits from delivering safe and effective drugs; that controlling or eliminating infections by annual or biannual administration of donated drug interventions costs approximately EUR 0,20 per person treated;
38. Calls for the implementation of the "Quick Wins" identified in the report of the UN Millennium Project 2005 including regular annual deworming;
39. Calls on the EU to take concrete steps to counter poverty and ensure consistency between its policies in the fields of trade, development cooperation and agriculture, with a view to preventing any direct or indirect negative impact on the economies of developing countries;
40. Calls for a new emphasis on support for mental and neurological diseases and disorders, especially unipolar depression and epilepsy;
41. Believes that health services able to diagnose, manage and treat conditions such as diabetes would save many lives and reduce disability and amputations; in particular access to insulin and Type 2 drugs needs to be expanded and made affordable;
42. Calls on the Commission to support programmes to prevent and cure obstetric fistula and care for the women and girls affected;
43. Calls for initiatives to provide accelerated local access to appropriate diagnostics and safe blood collection methods, with associated training and infrastructure, to monitor key health parameters, and stresses the importance of ensuring that all immunisation programmes mandate the use of medical technology that prevents re-use;
44. Invites the Commission to provide support for strengthening national and international tobacco control programmes;
45. Believes that public-private partnerships such as the RBM Partnership, TB Alliance, IAVI, IPM, GAVI/ The Vaccine Fund, MMV, DNDi and the Institute for One World Health together with TDR are key to innovation and capacity-building;
46. Regrets the lack of R&D into diseases which almost exclusively affect poor people in developing countries, due to a lack of viable markets, and stresses that this must be corrected by international efforts;
47. Calls for the Seventh Framework Programme to include specific reference to and funding for research on illnesses that affect citizens of developing countries;
48. Encourages the Commission to examine as of now ways of implementing the concrete steps to be taken with regard to the flexibility of current and planned thematic budget lines and also to simplify procedures in order to improve the synergy and consistency of Community policies, services and programmes in the fight against the three diseases;
49. Calls on the Commission to work with WHO, including through the TDR and the Initiative for Vaccine Research, to draw up an essential R&D agenda to define needs and priorities for the developing world;

Il-Hamis, 8 ta' Settembru 2005

50. Believes that the review and registration of drugs should be relevant to the priorities of disease-endemic countries with specific procedures for better assessment of the risk-benefit ratio of drugs for neglected diseases;
 51. Calls for the improvement of working conditions for medical staff practising in developing countries, the provision of suitable medical equipment and transfer of technology; calls for an increase in exchange programmes of doctors from Europe to developing countries and vice versa;

 55. Calls for collaboration with the pharmaceutical industry on poverty diseases, with a new framework proposal for R&D in such diseases, to provide incentives for investment, including protocol assistance, fee waivers, tax credits, subsidies, innovation prizes, assistance for prequalification, advance purchase commitments and partial transfer of patent rights to drugs; and calls also for a "needs based approach";
 56. Stresses that education and family planning are as important as the provision of effective drugs;
 57. Calls for an obligation on or incentive to the pharmaceutical industry to reinvest a percentage of profits into neglected disease R&D, either directly or through public programmes;
 58. Urges, in the context of the WHO Commission on Intellectual Property, Innovation and Health, a new global medical R&D treaty, including minimum obligations to support R&D, priority setting mechanisms and consideration of a system of tradeable credits for investments in particular projects;
 59. Believes that building of local R&D and production capacity through technology transfer and sharing should be promoted through development policies;

Calls on the Commission and the Member States to give active support to the implementation of the Doha Declaration and to oppose any action taken by WTO Member States that undermines the unanimous commitments made in the declaration on intellectual property and public health, in particular through the negotiation of "TRIPS plus" clauses in the framework of regional free trade agreements;
 62. Instructs its President to forward this resolution to the Council, the Commission, the World Health Organization and the ACP-EU Joint Parliamentary Assembly.
